Communists Request Korea Talks Resume

Charge That Led To Dean Walkout Isn't Mentioned

PANMUNJOM, Tuesday, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Communists yesterday formally asked for resumption of talks to set up a Korean peace conference — their first official move here since negotiations broke up Dec. 12.

The brief note was handed over in Panmunjom to a U. S. State Department representative who relayed it to Washington and said he was awaiting instructions.

Wednesday Meeting Proposed

The Reds' action came amidst a swift series of developments, including a bid by India to reconvene the U.N. General Assembly over the Korean question.

The Reds' note was handed to the U. S. State Department representative, Kenneth Young, under unusual circumstances. Young had not been advised to expect such a message but went to the area strictly on a "hunch."

"I have sent the request on to Washington and am waiting official reaction," he said. "Any decision will have to come through the State Department."

The note proposed that liaison officers meet at 11 a.m. Wednesday (9 p.m. Tuesday EST) and discuss a time for resuming the talks.

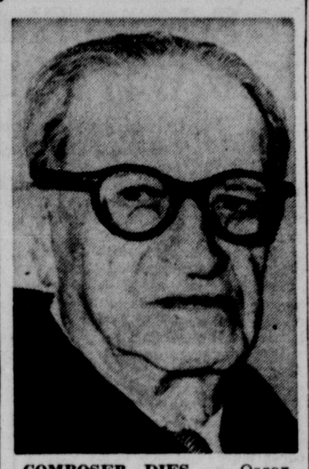

The request from the Chinese and North Korean negotiators made no reference to their charge of perfidy against the U. S. government which figured in the Dec. 12 breakup of the talks.

Envoy Dean Walked Out

U. S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean called the charge an insult, walked out and said he would not be back until the charge was withdrawn. Then he left Young, his aide, behind just in case.

There have been hints since that the United States might not insist on a formal apology if the Reds took the initiative in resuming the talks and showed willingness to negotiate.

There was little chance that a peace conference could be set up in time to pass on the fate of 22,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners before Jan. 23. That is the date on which the Allies insist that the prisoners, now held in an anti-Red camp, must be allowed to go free to South Korea and Formosa. The Reds want the prisoners held until a peace conference deals with them.

President Sends Korean Defense Pact To Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked the Senate to ratify a defense pact with South Korea designed to head off future attacks against that war-ravaged far Pacific country.

The language of the treaty made it clear that the pact would not require the United States to go to the aid of South Korea in the event that country attacks North Korea in an attempt to achieve unification by force.

Eisenhower described the treaty as a move "to deter aggression by giving evidence of our common determination to meet the common danger."

Dulles Negotiated Pact

The President further declared it "reaffirms our belief that the security of an individual nation in the free world depends upon the security of its partners, and constitutes another link in the collective security of the free nations of the Pacific."

The treaty was negotiated by Secretary of State Dulles on a visit to Korea last August. It was signed in Washington last Oct. 1 but still requires Senate ratification.

The White House made public a letter Dulles wrote to Eisenhower last Dec. 30 in which Dulles described the pact as "a defense treaty firmly dedicated to peace."

Defense Treaty Only

Dulles emphasized that the promise of the two parties—the United States and South Korea—to aid the other would be operative only in the event one of the countries is the victim of an armed attack from outside its borders.

Dulles wrote the President "an armed attack by either party does not obligate the other to come to its assistance."

Dulles said the treaty is another step in the creation of a Pacific defense setup and complements earlier treaties with Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and Japan.

Big Four Parley Site Deadlock Continues

BERLIN, Tuesday, Jan. 12 (AP)—Representatives of the three Western Powers and the Russians ended a marathon third meeting early today still deadlocked over a Berlin meeting place for the Big Four foreign ministers conference scheduled for Jan. 25.

The dispute, should it extend much longer, could force postponement of the conference.

After meeting in secret for nearly 12 hours — with two short breaks for refreshments — the Soviet commandants broke up at 1:20 this morning. They scheduled a fourth meeting at French headquarters for Wednesday.

Trieste Talks Continue

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Jan. 11 (AP)—For the second time in three days, Yugoslav Foreign Secretary Koca Popovic met tonight with American and British envoys in a highly secretive conference on Trieste.

Doolittle Predicts Atomic Aircraft Within 25 Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Gen. James H. Doolittle predicted today atomic-powered aircraft will fly "probably within 25 years."

He added that it is "entirely probable" that an earth satellite will be built within the next 50 years, and that attempts will be made to send missiles to the moon. By an earth satellite, Doolittle meant a platform suspended just outside the gravitational pull of the earth, to be used for various scientific purposes.

The famed aviator and World War II leader of the first carrier-based bomb attack upon Japan looked into the future in an article in "Planes," official publication of the Aircraft Industries Assn.

Doolittle, now retired, said high-speed, long-range jet transports should be flying on U. S. scheduled airlines by the end of this decade, probably will be in wide use in the mid-1960s, and within 25 years should attain speeds of 1,000 miles an hour under certain conditions.

He anticipated the development of lighter, more heat-resistant materials and advanced techniques which would enable planes to fly several times as fast as they do now.

Doolittle predicted that in the next half century most military aircraft would be substantially automatic in operation, from takeoff to touchdown, and that similar equipment would contribute to the safety and reliability of commercial air transportation.

"As guidance equipment is improved, missiles without human pilots should be able to carry transcontinental and intercontinental mail and express at from five to 10 times the speed of sound," he said.

Sliding Farm Price Props Asked By Ike

President's Program Offering Little That's New, Will Face Fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — President Eisenhower proposed today to build a new farm program on flexible price supports, aiming at a goal of agricultural equality with the rest of the economy and a minimum of controls.

In a lengthy special message to Congress outlining plans for future government aid to farmers, the chief executive said present programs—by creating surpluses and pricing crops out of markets—are "hurtful" to those whom they are intended to help.

The Eisenhower program is the result of nearly a year's study by farm organizations, agricultural educators, and farm officials. It offered little that was new and it proposed to keep much that already is in operation.

House Fight Certain

In Congress it got a somewhat mixed reception. Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said it "forms an excellent basis to work out the soundest farm program we ever had."

But there is bound to be a fight over the program in the House, and Rep. Hope (R-Kan), chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, was noncommital for the time being.

The major change proposed by Eisenhower relates to government price guarantees for farm products. Where now they are set at a fixed high level by Congress, the President would give the secretary of agriculture discretionary authority to raise and lower them.

Would Set Up Reserve

As a cushion against an abrupt decline in prices, the President would set aside up to 2½ billion dollars worth of surplus agricultural products now held by the government. They would be barred from regular commercial channels and reserved for special uses such as disaster relief.

Eisenhower said price supports should be used in a dual capacity —(1) to provide price and income protection to producers, and (2) to help guide production, thereby reducing the need for rigid acreage allotments and marketing quota control measures. The latter would be retained, however, for all basic crops except corn.

Sen. McCarthy Sidesteps Fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today sidestepped a new fight over the activities of his Investigations subcommittee by shelving his request for a 50 per cent increase in funds.

McCarthy said he will ask permission to spend $200,000 during the year starting Feb. 1, the same as the current year's budget. His plan to seek a $100,000 increase is being dropped for the present, he said, because it might "clutter up" the battle already brewing about the subcommittee.

Several senators, mostly Democrats, have said they will try to confine McCarthy's subcommittee to investigating corruption in government and leave communism to other committees. There also is a move afoot to prevent McCarthy from holding one-man hearings, as he has done frequently since Democratic members quit the subcommittee in a huff last year.

McCarthy told newsmen after a closed door meeting of the Senate Government Operations Committee, parent of the subcommittee, that his $200,000 request would include $191,111.02 in new funds plus the right to spend a cash balance of $8,888.98.

Owner's Family Pickets Factory In Pay Dispute

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—The son and wife of George V. Harrison picketed his venetian blind factory today in a wage dispute — and astounded labor officials by asking for union membership.

The son, 19-year-old George Jr., carrying a union umbrella in bitter cold, said his father had refused to increase his pay of 75 cents an hour. The son explained he wants to get married in May.

Mrs. Harrison, who relieved her son on picket duty, complained she received no pay at all for assembly and cutting work.

Since then he was deputy sheriff of Breathitt County, Ky., for 15 years, and for the past 29 years he has been a Christian Church minister. Married three times, he has fathered 18 children — 12 boys and six girls.

14 Changes Asked Including Strike Polls Of Workers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today proposed that the government give workers a secret-ballot chance to veto union strike plans. It was part of a 14-point program sent to Congress for amending the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act.

Eisenhower's program brought praise from Republicans generally and criticism from union leaders and some Democrats.

The President's key proposal was that the government hold elections among workers to determine whether they approve of a walkout. Going out on strike with loss of pay is so important to the individual worker, Eisenhower said, that he should have an opportunity to "express his choice by secret ballot held under government auspices."

Bill Provides Poll After Strike

Eisenhower's message to Congress did not specify at what point the strike-approval poll should be held. However, actual legislation introduced in Congress by Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) of the Senate Labor Committee to carry out the administration plan called for polling by the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) only after, not before, a walkout began.

This provision of Smith's bill seemed to surprise Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell. He told newsmen he had read Smith's bill earlier and hadn't understood that the striker poll was to be conducted after a strike was in progress.

Smith's bill provides that "unless a majority of employes eligible to vote casts their ballots in favor of a continuance, such strike . . . shall cease to be a protected concerted activity within the meaning of this act."

John L. Lewis Critical

Where employes failed to supply the required approving majority for continuing the strike, those workers who failed to go back to work could be fired by the employer. Normally, striking workers are protected from being discharged, unless permanent replacements are hired.

Eisenhower said the T-H Act had proved to be "sound legislation" in the more than six years it has been in effect, but experience had dictated the need for a number of changes.

John L. Lewis, whose United Mine Workers Union has conducted many economy-shattering strikes, said "a few piddling amendments won't make a slave law palatable to free-born citizens." He called anew for the T-H law's full repeal.

Besides proposing that workers must approve a strike in a government-sponsored vote, the President suggested a new final step for handling national emergency strikes. He said employers should file non-Communist affidavits. These are now required only of union leaders.

The new step proposed for handling national emergency strikes is that the President could, if he deemed it necessary, appoint a special board to recommend settlement terms. This has long been recommended by many labor relations experts.

Dulles, Russian Envoy Launch Atom Pool Talks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The United States and Russia today launched "private-as-can-be" talks on how to go about discussing President Eisenhower's plan to put atomic power to work for peace.

Secretary of State Dulles received Soviet Ambassador Georgi M. Zarubin at his office this morning. They talked, through an interpretor, for half an hour. But what they said or what written memos they exchanged, if any, was their secret.

This was in accord with the President's Dec. 8 proposal and with a Nov. 18 resolution of the United Nations General Assembly, stressing privacy.

Both sides, while evincing mutual cordiality not always evident in East-West talks, were keeping their own counsel as far as the public is concerned. It resembles a two-handed poker game, played close to the chest.

The Russian Embassy said it had "no statement at this time," and that was that.

The State Department issued a statement saying simply that the Dulles-Zarubin talks had been held and would be held again soon. One department spokesman, asked if the secrecy rule will continue, said the conversations will be "as private as can be."

Colombian Plane Crash Presumably Kills 23 Persons

MEDELLIN, Colombia, Jan. 11 (AP)—A Colombian airlines (Avianca) passenger plane trying to reach Manizales airport in bad weather crashed and burned six miles away today, presumably killing all 23 aboard.

The plane left Medellin for Armenia, about an hour's flight away, at 6 a.m. Avianca said it reached Armenia, a city of about 100,000 population in midwestern Colombia, on schedule, but was unable to land there because of heavy weather. It headed for Manizales. The cause of the accident has not been determined. Rescue parties were sent from Manizales and Medellin.

Truman Declares Ike Has "Man-Killing Job"

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Harry Truman, who as a former President knows how tough that job can be, said today "You will never hear me attack the man who holds that office.

"He has troubles enough without a former President criticizing him," Truman told a luncheon meeting of the Radio and Television Executives Society. It's a man-killing job."

4,456 New Freight Cars

NEW YORK, Jan. 11, (AP)—Deliveries of new freight cars in this country in December totaled 4,456, compared with 7,845 in December, 1952, the American Railway Car Institute and the Association of American Railroads announced today. Deliveries for all of 1953 totaled 81,021.

U. S. To 'Go Slow' On India's Move For U. N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP) — The United States took a "go slow" attitude today to an Indian call for the U.N. Assembly to reconvene and debate the entire Korean problem.

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, president of the Assembly and sister of Indian Prime Minister Nehru, suggested the delegates reconvene Feb. 9. She transmitted to the U.N. this morning an official request from India for the Assembly to reconvene sometime before Feb. 23, the date on which, under the armistice agreement, India's responsibility as a member of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission ends.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold ordered the request sent to all U.N. members and asked for a reply within 10 days.

Mrs. Pandit informed the delegates that if she did not hear from them by Jan. 22, she would assume they had concurred in her suggestion for the Assembly to meet Feb. 9.

She indicated she was confident the delegates would agree with her in view of the continuing impasse on the Korea situation.

The 10-day deadline means the U.N. members will have taken a stand on reconvening the Assembly at the time the crisis will be reached in Korea on release of thousands of anti-Communist prisoners of war held by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

The Americans are especially anxious that nothing interfere with the release of these prisoners, scheduled to begin in Korea at 12:01 a.m., Jan. 23.

Part Of Reward Given Hunted Witness In Reuther Shooting

DETROIT, Jan. 11 (AP)—The missing key witness in the Walter Reuther shooting, named today as a defendant in the strange, tangled case, was given $5,000 of the $220,000 reward money, it was disclosed tonight.

The CIO United Auto Workers Union, which Reuther heads, said it paid the money to Elizabeth Ritchie, wife of the missing witness, Donald Joseph Ritchie, after he had told authorities a story implicating four men in the attempted assassination.

The four have been charged with assault with intent to kill and with conspiracy.

After telling his story, however, Ritchie slipped from the protective custody of two policemen in a downtown hotel suite and fled to Canada. That was last Friday and he hasn't been found since.

Convinced that Ritchie would not return on his own, Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien today obtained an assault-with-intent-to-kill warrant against the 33-year-old Canadian.

This, he explained, would bring Canadian police more actively into the search for Ritchie. Also, he said, it would enable Michigan authorities to bring him back if the elusive witness is found.

Conviction on the assault charge could bring a life sentence.

O'Brien has said, however, that the case probably would collapse unless Ritchie can be put on the witness stand. He had announced a "solution" of the six-year-old case after Ritchie had told his story.

Today Police Commissioner Donald Leonard asked the two policemen from whom Ritchie escaped to undergo lie detector tests "to clear the air."

"Ritchie escaped either through neglectful carelessness or purposeful neglect," Leonard said. "I believe it was the first. It would be tragic if it were the second. But we need to know. There are too many sinister rumors floating about."

Beall Says Sobeloff To Be Nominated Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the Maryland Court of Appeals is expected to be nominated soon by President Eisenhower to be solicitor general, Sen. Beall (R-Md) said today.

Both Beall and Sen. Butler (R-Md) have indicated they will have no objection to the nomination of Sobeloff.

Beall also said the way is clear so far as he knows for the nomination of Rep. Miller (R-Md) for a federal judgeship.

"Well," answered Ezra, "It's a lot cheaper than renting a safe deposit box."

Roads Clogged As Winds Pile Up Huge Drifts

Worst Storm In Five Years Closes Down Schools And Airlines

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A raging snowstorm, the worst in five years, buried the northeast today, and high winds piled up road-blocking, man-killing drifts. Freezing rain and sleet moved in behind.

Temperatures hit new lows for the winter—a blood-chilling 27 below zero in Maine, for instance.

At least 33 persons died in the storm from New England to Maryland. Many toppled with heart attacks as they bucked the snow afoot or tried to shovel it. Auto accidents and sledding mishaps also took lives.

The storm, the Weather Bureau said, will continue into tomorrow. Snow up to a foot or more was in prospect in some areas. Others faced the hazard of icy rain freezing atop the snow blanket.

Planes Grounded, Schools Close

The great arterial highways that snake along the coast from New England south lay lonesome beneath a restless sea of drifting snow.

Airlines fought a stubborn but losing battle against the storm as their planes were delayed or grounded.

Schools closed tight in many areas.

At Farmingdale and Port Washington, N. Y., Republic Aviation Corp. shut down, affecting 29,000 employes. General Motors Corp. shut its Linden, N. J., plant when few of the 2,000 employes showed up.

Telephone systems along the coast bowed under record burdens, as housewives and school children, marooned in their homes, turned to phones for shopping and gossip. Eleven million calls were anticipated in New Jersey alone—half a million above the previous record.

Philadelphia Hard Hit

Philadelphia was hardest hit of the major cities with some 10 inches of snow—heaviest in seven years. All city schools closed and many offices and factories limped along with skeleton work forces.

New York took on a strange small-town look as the storm dumped 8.8 inches on the city in the first 24 hours—the worst since the 15-inch fall of 1949. Then rain and sleet punched the city anew.

In the nation's capital, Washington police evoked an emergency embargo and fined motorists who ventured out without chains or snow tires and then stalled.

CAA Will Question Godfrey Regarding Tower "Buzzing"

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Arthur Godfrey is due to be questioned on whether he intentionally swooped his plane near the control tower at Teterboro, N. J., airport.

Ora W. Young, regional director for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said today he didn't think "Mr. Godfrey would do a thing like that," but that the television star is due for questioning about it.

The CAA check was ordered as a result of the way Godfrey's private plane veered toward the control tower, frightening the crew in the tower, after a takeoff at Teterboro Airport last Thursday.

Godfrey himself, on his television broadcast Friday, referred to the incident and said a cross-wind had forced the plane toward the tower.

Grim-Faced Posse Stalks Crazed Mississippi Killer

LEXINGTON, Miss., Jan. 11 (AP)—A grim-faced army of 150 officers and 35 farmers swarmed through wild back country of central Mississippi tonight stalking a crazed Negro slayer of three white men.

Sheriff Richard Byrd, of Holmes County, estimated that since the search began a total of 500 men, armed with weapons ranging from machine guns to .22 caliber rifles, beat through the sodden, cutover fields and marches "to get Ed Noel."

The posse was warned to take no chances with the 28-year-old prey because he is a star marksman dangerously able "to make his bolt action rifle spit like an automatic," the sheriff said.

Noel started a shooting spree Saturday night when he killed a white country storekeeper, Willie Raymond Dickard.

The shooting took place during an argument between the 30-year-old merchant and another Negro. Witnesses said Noel, who was not involved in the controversy, drew a rifle without a word and calmly shot Dickard to death.

From there Noel went to another country store and "bought out the supply of ammunition," the sheriff said.

The next victim was Deputy Sheriff Pat Malone, 65, who was attempting to arrest Noel for Dickard's death. The third victim was Joe Stewart, 33, a member of a citizen's posse who hunted the man Sunday. Two other posse members, Andrew Smith and S. E. Hoccutt, were seriously wounded in a gun battle with the Negro last night in a swampy area six miles south of Lexington.

There also is a move afoot to prevent McCarthy from holding one-man hearings, as he has done frequently since Democratic members quit the subcommittee in a huff last year.

McCarthy told newsmen after a closed door meeting of the Senate Government Operations Committee, parent of the subcommittee, that his $200,000 request would include $191,111.02 in new funds plus the right to spend a cash balance of $8,888.98.

Owner's Family Pickets Factory In Pay Dispute

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—The son and wife of George V. Harrison picketed his venetian blind factory today in a wage dispute — and astounded labor officials by asking for union membership.

The son, 19-year-old George Jr., carrying a union umbrella in bitter cold, said his father had refused to increase his pay of 75 cents an hour. The son explained he wants to get married in May.

Mrs. Harrison, who relieved her son on picket duty, complained she received no pay at all for assembly and cutting work.

Prodigal Father Returns

John Bolin (center), 64, was reunited in Evansville, Ind., with his sons, Roscoe (left), 45, and Oral (right), 47, who had thought he was dead for nearly 43 years. John left the boys and their mother in Tell City, Ind., in 1911. Since then he was deputy sheriff of Breathitt County, Ky., for 15 years, and for the past 29 years he has been a Christian Church minister. Married three times, he has fathered 18 children — 12 boys and six girls.

14 Changes Asked Including Strike Polls Of Workers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today proposed that the government give workers a secret-ballot chance to veto union strike plans. It was part of a 14-point program sent to Congress for amending the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act.

Eisenhower's program brought praise from Republicans generally and criticism from union leaders and some Democrats.

The President's key proposal was that the government hold elections among workers to determine whether they approve of a walkout. Going out on strike with loss of pay is so important to the individual worker, Eisenhower said, that he should have an opportunity to "express his choice by secret ballot held under government auspices."

Bill Provides Poll After Strike

Eisenhower's message to Congress did not specify at what point the strike-approval poll should be held. However, actual legislation introduced in Congress by Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) of the Senate Labor Committee to carry out the administration plan called for polling by the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) only after, not before, a walkout began.

This provision of Smith's bill seemed to surprise Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell. He told newsmen he had read Smith's bill earlier and hadn't understood that the striker poll was to be conducted after a strike was in progress.

Smith's bill provides that "unless a majority of employes eligible to vote casts their ballots in favor of a continuance, such strike . . . shall cease to be a protected concerted activity within the meaning of this act."

John L. Lewis Critical

Where employes failed to supply the required approving majority for continuing the strike, those workers who failed to go back to work could be fired by the employer. Normally, striking workers are protected from being discharged, unless permanent replacements are hired.

Eisenhower said the T-H Act had proved to be "sound legislation" in the more than six years it has been in effect, but experience had dictated the need for a number of changes.

John L. Lewis, whose United Mine Workers Union has conducted many economy-shattering strikes, said "a few piddling amendments won't make a slave law palatable to free-born citizens." He called anew for the T-H law's full repeal.

Besides proposing that workers must approve a strike in a government-sponsored vote, the President suggested a new final step for handling national emergency strikes. He said employers should file non-Communist affidavits. These are now required only of union leaders.

The new step proposed for handling national emergency strikes is that the President could, if he deemed it necessary, appoint a special board to recommend settlement terms. This has long been recommended by many labor relations experts.

Dulles, Russian Envoy Launch Atom Pool Talks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The United States and Russia today launched "private-as-can-be" talks on how to go about discussing President Eisenhower's plan to put atomic power to work for peace.

Secretary of State Dulles received Soviet Ambassador Georgi M. Zarubin at his office this morning. They talked, through an interpretor, for half an hour. But what they said or what written memos they exchanged, if any, was their secret.

This was in accord with the President's Dec. 8 proposal and with a Nov. 18 resolution of the United Nations General Assembly, stressing privacy.

Both sides, while evincing mutual cordiality not always evident in East-West talks, were keeping their own counsel as far as the public is concerned. It resembles a two-handed poker game, played close to the chest.

The Russian Embassy said it had "no statement at this time," and that was that.

The State Department issued a statement saying simply that the Dulles-Zarubin talks had been held and would be held again soon. One department spokesman, asked if the secrecy rule will continue, said the conversations will be "as private as can be."

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 11 (AP)—Harvard University announced tonight a gift of one million dollars in securities from John D. Rockefeller Jr. for the endowment fund of its divinity school.

Colombian Plane Crash Presumably Kills 23 Persons

MEDELLIN, Colombia, Jan. 11 (AP)—A Colombian airlines (Avianca) passenger plane trying to reach Manizales airport in bad weather crashed and burned six miles away today, presumably killing all 23 aboard.

The plane left Medellin for Armenia, about an hour's flight away, at 6 a.m. Avianca said it reached Armenia, a city of about 100,000 population in midwestern Colombia, on schedule, but was unable to land there because of heavy weather. It headed for Manizales. The cause of the accident has not been determined. Rescue parties were sent from Manizales and Medellin.

Truman Declares Ike Has "Man-Killing Job"

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Harry Truman, who as a former President knows how tough that job can be, said today "You will never hear me attack the man who holds that office.

"He has troubles enough without a former President criticizing him," Truman told a luncheon meeting of the Radio and Television Executives Society. It's a man-killing job."

4,456 New Freight Cars

NEW YORK, Jan. 11, (AP)—Deliveries of new freight cars in this country in December totaled 4,456, compared with 7,845 in December, 1952, the American Railway Car Institute and the Association of American Railroads announced today. Deliveries for all of 1953 totaled 81,021.

U. S. To 'Go Slow' On India's Move For U. N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP) — The United States took a "go slow" attitude today to an Indian call for the U.N. Assembly to reconvene and debate the entire Korean problem.

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, president of the Assembly and sister of Indian Prime Minister Nehru, suggested the delegates reconvene Feb. 9. She transmitted to the U.N. this morning an official request from India for the Assembly to reconvene sometime before Feb. 23, the date on which, under the armistice agreement, India's responsibility as a member of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission ends.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold ordered the request sent to all U.N. members and asked for a reply within 10 days.

Mrs. Pandit informed the delegates that if she did not hear from them by Jan. 22, she would assume they had concurred in her suggestion for the Assembly to meet Feb. 9.

She indicated she was confident the delegates would agree with her in view of the continuing impasse on the Korea situation.

The 10-day deadline means the U.N. members will have taken a stand on reconvening the Assembly at the time the crisis will be reached in Korea on release of thousands of anti-Communist prisoners of war held by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

The Americans are especially anxious that nothing interfere with the release of these prisoners, scheduled to begin in Korea at 12:01 a.m., Jan. 23.

Beall Says Sobeloff To Be Nominated Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the Maryland Court of Appeals is expected to be nominated soon by President Eisenhower to be solicitor general, Sen. Beall (R-Md) said today.

Both Beall and Sen. Butler (R-Md) have indicated they will have no objection to the nomination of Sobeloff.

Beall also said the way is clear so far as he knows for the nomination of Rep. Miller (R-Md) for a federal judgeship.

Today's Chuckle

Ezra went to the bank and asked for the loan of $1. He paid the six per cent interest for a year in advance and, to the banker's surprise, gave him a $5,000 government bond as security. Each year Ezra renewed the loan. After three years the perplexed banker asked him just what the big idea was.

"Well," answered Ezra, "It's a lot cheaper than renting a safe deposit box."

Part Of Reward Given Hunted Witness In Reuther Shooting

DETROIT, Jan. 11 (AP)—The missing key witness in the Walter Reuther shooting, named today as a defendant in the strange, tangled case, was given $5,000 of the $220,000 reward money, it was disclosed tonight.

The CIO United Auto Workers Union, which Reuther heads, said it paid the money to Elizabeth Ritchie, wife of the missing witness, Donald Joseph Ritchie, after he had told authorities a story implicating four men in the attempted assassination.

The four have been charged with assault with intent to kill and with conspiracy.

After telling his story, however, Ritchie slipped from the protective custody of two policemen in a downtown hotel suite and fled to Canada. That was last Friday and he hasn't been found since.

Convinced that Ritchie would not return on his own, Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien today obtained an assault-with-intent-to-kill warrant against the 33-year-old Canadian.

This, he explained, would bring Canadian police more actively into the search for Ritchie. Also, he said, it would enable Michigan authorities to bring him back if the elusive witness is found.

Conviction on the assault charge could bring a life sentence.

O'Brien has said, however, that the case probably would collapse unless Ritchie can be put on the witness stand. He had announced a "solution" of the six-year-old case after Ritchie had told his story.

Today Police Commissioner Donald Leonard asked the two policemen from whom Ritchie escaped to undergo lie detector tests "to clear the air."

"Ritchie escaped either through neglectful carelessness or purposeful neglect," Leonard said. "I believe it was the first. It would be tragic if it were the second. But we need to know. There are too many sinister rumors floating about."

Roads Clogged As Winds Pile Up Huge Drifts

Worst Storm In Five Years Closes Down Schools And Airlines

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A raging snowstorm, the worst in five years, buried the northeast today, and high winds piled up road-blocking, man-killing drifts. Freezing rain and sleet moved in behind.

Temperatures hit new lows for the winter—a blood-chilling 27 below zero in Maine, for instance.

At least 33 persons died in the storm from New England to Maryland. Many toppled with heart attacks as they bucked the snow afoot or tried to shovel it. Auto accidents and sledding mishaps also took lives.

The storm, the Weather Bureau said, will continue into tomorrow. Snow up to a foot or more was in prospect in some areas. Others faced the hazard of icy rain freezing atop the snow blanket.

Planes Grounded, Schools Close

The great arterial highways that snake along the coast from New England south lay lonesome beneath a restless sea of drifting snow.

Airlines fought a stubborn but losing battle against the storm as their planes were delayed or grounded.

Schools closed tight in many areas.

At Farmingdale and Port Washington, N. Y., Republic Aviation Corp. shut down, affecting 29,000 employes. General Motors Corp. shut its Linden, N. J., plant when few of the 2,000 employes showed up.

Telephone systems along the coast bowed under record burdens, as housewives and school children, marooned in their homes, turned to phones for shopping and gossip. Eleven million calls were anticipated in New Jersey alone—half a million above the previous record.

Philadelphia Hard Hit

Philadelphia was hardest hit of the major cities with some 10 inches of snow—heaviest in seven years. All city schools closed and many offices and factories limped along with skeleton work forces.

New York took on a strange small-town look as the storm dumped 8.8 inches on the city in the first 24 hours—the worst since the 15-inch fall of 1949. Then rain and sleet punched the city anew.

In the nation's capital, Washington police evoked an emergency embargo and fined motorists who ventured out without chains or snow tires and then stalled.

CAA Will Question Godfrey Regarding Tower "Buzzing"

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Arthur Godfrey is due to be questioned on whether he intentionally swooped his plane near the control tower at Teterboro, N. J., airport.

Ora W. Young, regional director for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said today he didn't think "Mr. Godfrey would do a thing like that," but that the television star is due for questioning about it.

The CAA check was ordered as a result of the way Godfrey's private plane veered toward the control tower, frightening the crew in the tower, after a takeoff at Teterboro Airport last Thursday.

Godfrey himself, on his television broadcast Friday, referred to the incident and said a cross-wind had forced the plane toward the tower.

Grim-Faced Posse Stalks Crazed Mississippi Killer

LEXINGTON, Miss., Jan. 11 (AP)—A grim-faced army of 150 officers and 35 farmers swarmed through wild back country of central Mississippi tonight stalking a crazed Negro slayer of three white men.

Sheriff Richard Byrd, of Holmes County, estimated that since the search began a total of 500 men, armed with weapons ranging from machine guns to .22 caliber rifles, beat through the sodden, cutover fields and marches "to get Ed Noel."

The posse was warned to take no chances with the 28-year-old prey because he is a star marksman dangerously able "to make his bolt action rifle spit like an automatic," the sheriff said.

Noel started a shooting spree Saturday night when he killed a white country storekeeper, Willie Raymond Dickard.

The shooting took place during an argument between the 30-year-old merchant and another Negro. Witnesses said Noel, who was not involved in the controversy, drew a rifle without a word and calmly shot Dickard to death.

From there Noel went to another country store and "bought out the supply of ammunition," the sheriff said.

The next victim was Deputy Sheriff Pat Malone, 65, who was attempting to arrest Noel for Dickard's death. The third victim was Joe Stewart, 33, a member of a citizen's posse who hunted the man Sunday. Two other posse members, Andrew Smith and S. E. Hoccutt, were seriously wounded in a gun battle with the Negro last night in a swampy area six miles south of Lexington.

Britain Grounds Comet Jetliners After Crash In Which 35 Perished

Aircraft Taken Out Of Service For Inspection

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Britain grounded all her world-famed Comet jet airliners for a searching inspection tonight, after the third fatal Comet crash in 10 months.

Thirty-five persons, including two Americans, were killed in yesterday's crash off Elba. High-ranking British airline and civil aviation officials pushed a probe into the tragedy.

BOAC said it had taken its seven four-jet, 500-mile-an-hour plus Comets out of service for "a minute and unhurried technical examination." It called the action "a measure of prudence."

It was not an official government grounding such as can be ordered by the Air Registration Board when the airworthiness of an aircraft is in doubt.

BOAC said the Ministry of Transport and Civil Aviation concurred in the grounding decision. Canada and France were informed of the action so they could make their own decisions regarding their Comets.

Three Comets are operated by Air France, three by the French Union Aeromaritime Transport (UAT) Co., and two by the Royal Canadian Air Force. An Air France spokesman in London said his company has no intention of grounding its Comets.

Sir Miles Thomas, BOAC chairman, decided to throw himself "almost exclusively into probing the Comet mishap."

An on the spot probe was opened of yesterday's disaster at Porto Azzurro, Elba, where bodies of the victims and remnants of the wreckage were taken. A baby shoe, diapers, a souvenir dagger, a baby sweater, a sodden children's book—these were some of the victims' possessions studied for what clues they might hold. Also studied were a wheel, parts of a fuel tank, wing splinters, torn cushions, and a life preserver — all ripped from the Comet as it plummeted into the Tyrrhenian Sea.

SUICIDE BY TRAIN COLLISION — Police and ambulance attendants pry loose the body of a prominent Los Angeles attorney who, they said, deliberately killed himself yesterday by driving his Cadillac convertible in front of a passenger train speeding 70 miles an hour. He was George E. Acret, 67, of Sun Valley. Police listed the death as a suicide after hearing reports from witnesses. The car was carried nearly a mile after the impact. Witnesses said Acret parked near the track for some time, then drove on the tracks and stopped as the train approached.

State Evidence Law Is Upheld

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld the right of a state to single out counties in which evidence obtained by illegal search and seizure may be used in criminal trials.

Uniformity within a state "is not a constitutional requisite," the court said.

The 7-1 decision upheld the conviction in Maryland's Anne Arundel County of Julius Salsburg on charges of bookmaking. The state conceded that police had no warrant when on May 21, 1952 they used an ax to break into a room and seize racing forms used as evidence against him.

Salsburg was convicted and got six months, plus a $1,000 fine. His appeal to the Supreme Court contended that a Maryland law which permitted use of illegally obtained evidence in gambling cases in three counties violates the Constitution.

Justice Burton wrote today's majority opinion. Justice Douglas dissented and Justice Reed took no part in the case.

U. S. Diplomat's Wife Plunges To Her Death

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Mrs. John Wesley Morrison, Australian-born wife of a former American embassy official in London, fell 60 feet to her death today from a downtown hotel.

She was about 36 and the mother of a small son, Mrs. Morrison entered the hotel, where she and her husband were former residents, only a few minutes before her body fell to the sidewalk along busy Oxford Street, police said.

Notice of the death has been relayed from the American embassy through the State Department in Washington to Morrison, whose home address is listed as 516 Second Street, Charleston, W. Va.

Newspaper Complains Farouk Stingy Tipper

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 11 (AP)—A German newspaper complained today that ex-King Farouk of Egypt is a stingy tipper.

During the weekend he had coffee, cognac and apple cake in a Berchtesgaden cafe. The bill came to $3.51, the Frankfurter Nachtausgabe said, and he left only a five cent tip. The paper commented:

"Very stingy. One would expect more."

New Stretch Of Pike To Be Opened Monday

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The State Roads Commission said today it plans to open next Monday another five-mile stretch of the Washington National Pike which will ultimately extend from Frederick to the nation's capital.

The newest stretch of the dual lane highway extends from Hyattstown to Clarksburg in Montgomery County and will mark completion of nearly half the project.

Mother And Son Stage Classroom Sitdown Protest

HALF DAY, Ill., Jan. 11 (AP)—A mother and her son staged a sitdown protest in a classroom today against his expulsion from the 7th-8th grade of the Half Day elementary school.

While other students preformed routine classroom work, Mrs. Marie Dawson and her son, Frank, 13, sat in a corner on folding chairs, writing in notebooks.

"I'm going to continue coming here until my son is reinstated," Mrs. Dawson commented on the fourth day of her classroom protest.

Charles F. Kerry, teacher and principal of the school, said:

"She's disturbing the class, but it's out of my hands."

It all started about 2½ months ago when Frank was sick and out of school a week, Mrs. Dawson said. When he returned, she said, Kerry refused to accept the excuse, saying the boy had been running around town and going hunting.

The boy was demoted from the 8th to the 7th grade. He walked out, but his mother sent him back.

Mrs. Dawson said she kept the boy from school six weeks, "hoping Mr. Kerry would change his mind." She said the boy was then expelled.

Serum Flown To Him Helps Austrian Boy

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Jan. 11 (AP)—An 8-year-old Austrian boy critically ill with hemophilia was reported better tonight after injection with a special serum rushed to him by plane and car from the United States.

Doctors treating little Gottfried Eder at Innsbruck's childrens clinic said the serum had stopped the bleeding which threatened to take his life.

The doctors said Gottfried began to improve within hours after a supply of anti-hemophil globulin reached him from Lansing, Mich., this morning.

Gottfried had been bleeding almost continuously for nine days since he had an infected tooth extracted. Doctors had despaired for his life, despite repeated transfusions of plasma and whole blood.

1954 Packards Due January 15

DETROIT, Jan. 11 (AP)—Packard will introduce its 1954 models Jan. 15, with list prices generally unchanged where models are comparable.

Some models have been given additional equipment and in some instances accessories that were optional have been made standard. In these instances the new equipment is included in the price.

Packard said dealers' authorized handling charge will be increased $3 on four models, to make the charge uniform on all models.

For the first time in the industry, tubeless tires are being offered as optional equipment.

As in 1953 Packard's new line consists of the Clipper and Packard series. A new Clipper, the super model, is added, between the Clipper and Packard series. A luxury hardtop, called the Pacific, is new to the Packard series.

New in the Packard series is a 212 horsepower engine. It is a straight eight. Three other basic engines are the Clipper Special with 150 horsepower; a Clipper Deluxe, with 165 horsepower and the Cavalier with 185 horsepower.

The new 212 horsepower engine is Packard's leading mechanical innovation for 1954.

All models have advanced styling, with new interior and exterior color combinations. Upholstery fabrics also are offered in a wider variety.

Byrd Wants Lane As His Campaign Committee Head

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Dr. H. C. Byrd said tonight his campaign for Democratic nomination for governor will be directed by a 100-member executive committee which he is asking former Gov. William Preston Lane to head.

Byrd said the committee will function in the place of a campaign manager and will represent all counties and city districts of the state and "all factions within the party."

His vice chairman, he said, will be Richard W. Case, Baltimore lawyer and former member of the State School Board and once chairman of the Tax Survey Commission. The treasurer will be Presley D. Bowen, Baltimore Insurance man.

General administrative work of the campaign is to be directed from the newly opened Byrd headquarters here by Case and E. Brooke Lee, veteran Montgomery County Democratic leader.

Byrd said other committee appointments would be announced later. He added that he and advisers had been working on the list for several days.

Dr. Byrd, who retired as president of the University of Maryland to make a bid for governor, said that in addition to the central committee he hopes to have local organizations in every county and every city district with committees extending down to the precinct level.

He predicted that before the primary rolls around next June he will have an organization unique in Maryland's political history.

Dr. Byrd and George P. Mahoney, Baltimore contractor, are both seeking the Democratic nomination. Mahoney organizations have been springing up in various sections of the state, but this is the first organizational step Byrd has announced so far.

'Nightshirt Sleeper' Newest Garment For Air Travelers

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Claire McCardell, perennial advocate of casual comfort in women's fashions, adds another term to the U.S. fashion vocabulary.

The author of such descriptions as "leotard," "diaper swim suit" and "the tent" comes up now with "nightshirt sleeper" — a versatile garment designed for plane travelers.

Unbelted, the "sleeper" provides utmost comfort for snoozing in an airplane seat. Belted and accessorized, it is smartly ready for happy landings. Miss McCardell shows it in lightweight checked washable flannel, and it's slated to become a classic in the American wardrobe.

Miss McCardell's preview of spring fashions was the opening gun in a crowded week of style showings attended by some 150 fashion editors of newspapers throughout this country and abroad.

The "balloon top" is another innovation in the McCardell collection, being a brief but very full blouse with an elastic drawstring just below the bust, over a high-riding skirt with skin-tight midriff. Sleeves also are fully shirred and pushed up. This is shown in various fabrics and combinations, one being a plaid cotton honan top over a slim skirt of navy linen, with a matching box jacket lined and collared in the plaid.

Full balloon sleeves also are used in one-piece dresses with the moulded midriff caught in from bustline to waistline with tucks, and released into semi-full skirts.

The high empire waistline is a predominant feature of the McCardell line, many dresses being so designed that they may be belted in just under the bust or worn unbelted. Predominant colors in the collection are avocado green, khaki, brilliant orange and cobalt blue.

At Least 11 Die In Avalanches

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Eleven persons were killed and 22 others were missing in avalanches in Switzerland and Austria today. Blizzards roared over western and central Europe, isolating hundreds of towns and paralyzing transportation.

Six feet of snow fell in the Swiss Bernese Oberland and the northern foothills of the Alps in less than 48 hours. The downfall cut road, rail and telephone communications.

In Switzerland nine persons were known dead and six others were missing and feared dead in great masses of snow. Volunteers worked through the night to dig into houses buried by avalanches.

Austria reported two dead and 16 missing.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

Also studied were a wheel, parts of a fuel tank, wing splinters, torn cushions, and a life preserver — all ripped from the Comet as it plummeted into the Tyrrhenian Sea.

SUICIDE BY TRAIN COLLISION — Police and ambulance attendants pry loose the body of a prominent Los Angeles attorney who, they said, deliberately killed himself yesterday by driving his Cadillac convertible in front of a passenger train speeding 70 miles an hour. He was George E. Acret, 67, of Sun Valley. Police listed the death as a suicide after hearing reports from witnesses. The car was carried nearly a mile after the impact. Witnesses said Acret parked near the track for some time, then drove on the tracks and stopped as the train approached.

State Evidence Law Is Upheld

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld the right of a state to single out counties in which evidence obtained by illegal search and seizure may be used in criminal trials.

Uniformity within a state "is not a constitutional requisite," the court said.

The 7-1 decision upheld the conviction in Maryland's Anne Arundel County of Julius Salsburg on charges of bookmaking. The state conceded that police had no warrant when on May 21, 1952 they used an ax to break into a room and seize racing forms used as evidence against him.

Salsburg was convicted and got six months, plus a $1,000 fine. His appeal to the Supreme Court contended that a Maryland law which permitted use of illegally obtained evidence in gambling cases in three counties violates the Constitution.

Justice Burton wrote today's majority opinion. Justice Douglas dissented and Justice Reed took no part in the case.

U. S. Diplomat's Wife Plunges To Her Death

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Mrs. John Wesley Morrison, Australian-born wife of a former American embassy official in London, fell 60 feet to her death today from a downtown hotel.

She was about 36 and the mother of a small son, Mrs. Morrison entered the hotel, where she and her husband were former residents, only a few minutes before her body fell to the sidewalk along busy Oxford Street, police said.

Notice of the death has been relayed from the American embassy through the State Department in Washington to Morrison, whose home address is listed as 516 Second Street, Charleston, W. Va.

Newspaper Complains Farouk Stingy Tipper

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 11 (AP)—A German newspaper complained today that ex-King Farouk of Egypt is a stingy tipper.

During the weekend he had coffee, cognac and apple cake in a Berchtesgaden cafe. The bill came to $3.51, the Frankfurter Nachtausgabe said, and he left only a five cent tip. The paper commented:

"Very stingy. One would expect more."

New Stretch Of Pike To Be Opened Monday

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The State Roads Commission said today it plans to open next Monday another five-mile stretch of the Washington National Pike which will ultimately extend from Frederick to the nation's capital.

The newest stretch of the dual lane highway extends from Hyattstown to Clarksburg in Montgomery County and will mark completion of nearly half the project.

Mother And Son Stage Classroom Sitdown Protest

HALF DAY, Ill., Jan. 11 (AP)—A mother and her son staged a sitdown protest in a classroom today against his expulsion from the 7th-8th grade of the Half Day elementary school.

While other students preformed routine classroom work, Mrs. Marie Dawson and her son, Frank, 13, sat in a corner on folding chairs, writing in notebooks.

"I'm going to continue coming here until my son is reinstated," Mrs. Dawson commented on the fourth day of her classroom protest.

Charles F. Kerry, teacher and principal of the school, said:

"She's disturbing the class, but it's out of my hands."

It all started about 2½ months ago when Frank was sick and out of school a week, Mrs. Dawson said. When he returned, she said, Kerry refused to accept the excuse, saying the boy had been running around town and going hunting.

The boy was demoted from the 8th to the 7th grade. He walked out, but his mother sent him back.

Mrs. Dawson said she kept the boy from school six weeks, "hoping Mr. Kerry would change his mind." She said the boy was then expelled.

Serum Flown To Him Helps Austrian Boy

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Jan. 11 (AP)—An 8-year-old Austrian boy critically ill with hemophilia was reported better tonight after injection with a special serum rushed to him by plane and car from the United States.

Doctors treating little Gottfried Eder at Innsbruck's childrens clinic said the serum had stopped the bleeding which threatened to take his life.

The doctors said Gottfried began to improve within hours after a supply of anti-hemophil globulin reached him from Lansing, Mich., this morning.

Gottfried had been bleeding almost continuously for nine days since he had an infected tooth extracted. Doctors had despaired for his life, despite repeated transfusions of plasma and whole blood.

STROMBOLI, Italy, Jan. 11 (AP)—A slight earthquake shook this volcanic Mediterranean island today. Inhabitants panicked momentarily but there were no casualties or damage.

1954 Packards Due January 15

DETROIT, Jan. 11 (AP)—Packard will introduce its 1954 models Jan. 15, with list prices generally unchanged where models are comparable.

Some models have been given additional equipment and in some instances accessories that were optional have been made standard. In these instances the new equipment is included in the price.

Packard said dealers' authorized handling charge will be increased $3 on four models, to make the charge uniform on all models.

For the first time in the industry, tubeless tires are being offered as optional equipment.

As in 1953 Packard's new line consists of the Clipper and Packard series. A new Clipper, the super model, is added, between the Clipper and Packard series. A luxury hardtop, called the Pacific, is new to the Packard series.

New in the Packard series is a 212 horsepower engine. It is a straight eight. Three other basic engines are the Clipper Special with 150 horsepower; a Clipper Deluxe, with 165 horsepower and the Cavalier with 185 horsepower.

The new 212 horsepower engine is Packard's leading mechanical innovation for 1954.

All models have advanced styling, with new interior and exterior color combinations. Upholstery fabrics also are offered in a wider variety.

Byrd Wants Lane As His Campaign Committee Head

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Dr. H. C. Byrd said tonight his campaign for Democratic nomination for governor will be directed by a 100-member executive committee which he is asking former Gov. William Preston Lane to head.

Byrd said the committee will function in the place of a campaign manager and will represent all counties and city districts of the state and "all factions within the party."

His vice chairman, he said, will be Richard W. Case, Baltimore lawyer and former member of the State School Board and once chairman of the Tax Survey Commission. The treasurer will be Presley D. Bowen, Baltimore Insurance man.

General administrative work of the campaign is to be directed from the newly opened Byrd headquarters here by Case and E. Brooke Lee, veteran Montgomery County Democratic leader.

Byrd said other committee appointments would be announced later. He added that he and advisers had been working on the list for several days.

Dr. Byrd, who retired as president of the University of Maryland to make a bid for governor, said that in addition to the central committee he hopes to have local organizations in every county and every city district with committees extending down to the precinct level.

He predicted that before the primary rolls around next June he will have an organization unique in Maryland's political history.

Dr. Byrd and George P. Mahoney, Baltimore contractor, are both seeking the Democratic nomination. Mahoney organizations have been springing up in various sections of the state, but this is the first organizational step Byrd has announced so far.

'Nightshirt Sleeper' Newest Garment For Air Travelers

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Claire McCardell, perennial advocate of casual comfort in women's fashions, adds another term to the U.S. fashion vocabulary.

The author of such descriptions as "leotard," "diaper swim suit" and "the tent" comes up now with "nightshirt sleeper" — a versatile garment designed for plane travelers.

Unbelted, the "sleeper" provides utmost comfort for snoozing in an airplane seat. Belted and accessorized, it is smartly ready for happy landings. Miss McCardell shows it in lightweight checked washable flannel, and it's slated to become a classic in the American wardrobe.

Miss McCardell's preview of spring fashions was the opening gun in a crowded week of style showings attended by some 150 fashion editors of newspapers throughout this country and abroad.

The "balloon top" is another innovation in the McCardell collection, being a brief but very full blouse with an elastic drawstring just below the bust, over a high-riding skirt with skin-tight midriff. Sleeves also are fully shirred and pushed up. This is shown in various fabrics and combinations, one being a plaid cotton honan top over a slim skirt of navy linen, with a matching box jacket lined and collared in the plaid.

Full balloon sleeves also are used in one-piece dresses with the moulded midriff caught in from bustline to waistline with tucks, and released into semi-full skirts.

The high empire waistline is a predominant feature of the McCardell line, many dresses being so designed that they may be belted in just under the bust or worn unbelted. Predominant colors in the collection are avocado green, khaki, brilliant orange and cobalt blue.

At Least 11 Die In Avalanches

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Eleven persons were killed and 22 others were missing in avalanches in Switzerland and Austria today. Blizzards roared over western and central Europe, isolating hundreds of towns and paralyzing transportation.

Six feet of snow fell in the Swiss Bernese Oberland and the northern foothills of the Alps in less than 48 hours. The downfall cut road, rail and telephone communications.

In Switzerland nine persons were known dead and six others were missing and feared dead in great masses of snow. Volunteers worked through the night to dig into houses buried by avalanches.

Austria reported two dead and 16 missing.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark. Adv.

State's Winter Storm Has Its Lighter Side

Baby Born In Car Stalled By Snow

[By The Associated Press]

The snow storm that hit Maryland Sunday night and Monday brought some laughs. And it saw at least one birth and two deaths.

In Frederick County, Mr. and Mrs. John Clements of Mountaindale were heading for a hospital early Monday when their car stalled in a snow drift. The baby—a daughter—arrived before the tractor that pulled out the car. At Emergency Hospital in Frederick, mother and baby were doing fine.

In Baltimore James B. Crawford, 42, trudged up a snow-covered hill, collapsed and was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Agnes Hospital.

A 74-year-old Mt. Rainier man collapsed and died after shoveling snow.

A traffic court bailiff in Baltimore, Patrolman William Hawkins, faced with the prospect of a snowy hike to work, finally got a lift—in a hearse.

Five Baltimore Transit Co. busses were stalled behind a skidding auto. Although the car was equipped with chains, the driver couldn't get going. He finally solved the problem. He opened the door, put one foot on the ground and pushed. That did it.

Even Gov. McKeldin got into the auto-pushing act. He had a part in helping unsnarl jams on Ritchie highway Sunday night. On his way back from speaking engagements, he, alongwith a state trooper, spent an hour helping motorists until a police car arrived.

Some crazy-mixed up robins flocked into the Baltimore area Monday and a bird enthusiast put out an emergency call urging that they be fed before they perish in the snow.

State Police at Waterloo got cold shivers — but not from wintry blasts. Even in good weather, the Baltimore-Washington Boulevard is called "Death Highway." When police learned youngsters were sledding on icy stretches of the highway near Laurel they were promptly ordered off.

Icy blasts high above the Chesapeake Bay helped the State Roads Commission clear the bay bridge of snow. Special crews pushed snow off the lower parts of the bridge. But wind did most of the job on the 190-foot high suspension spans.

Ex-Bank Teller's Retrial Set Feb. 15

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 11 (AP) — Victor H. McSherry, 27-year-old former teller at a Hagerstown bank, will go on trial again Feb. 15 in Federal court in Baltimore on an embezzlement charge, authorities here have been advised.

McSherry was tried on the charge in Baltimore last October but the jury could not agree on a verdict. His second trial had been set for the first week in December but it was postponed.

McSherry is accused of embezzling $28,000 from the Nicodemus National Bank. At his first trial he repudiated a signed confession attributed to him by FBI agents.

The defendant told the jury at his first trial the money he spent represented his winnings on horse racing. He estimated he won between $4,000 and $5,000 in 1952.

Md. Farm Price Drop Continues

COLLEGE PARK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Farm statisticians reported today the price squeeze on Maryland farmers grew a little tighter between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15.

A spectacular drop in broiler prices was the main reason, but prices of milk products and eggs also eased off.

Somewhat better grain prices and a strong gain in hogs helped offset these.

The net result was that the index the statisticians keep on prices received by Maryland farmers dropped 5 points. It was only 266 on Dec. 15, as compared with 271 in the middle of November and 301 on Dec. 15 of 1952.

At the same time, the index of what the farmer has to pay for what he needs rose one point.

This left Marylanders on the short end of the prices received-to-prices paid ratio, at 96 points. A month earlier it was 98 and back on Dec. 15 and 1952 they were on the long end at 107.

The average price for Maryland broilers dropped from 25.1 cents to 18 cents a pound between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15. Milk prices came down 35 cents a hundred pounds and eggs dropped from an average of almost 59 cents a dozen to a little below 57.

Grand Jury Session Delayed Due To Snow

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Tuesday's weekly session of the Federal Grand Jury for Maryland was called off today because of the snow storm.

George Cochran Doub, U.S. district attorney, directed jury officials to postpone the session until next week because of travel difficulties.

Pair Of Changes In Grand Jury System Urged

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Two ideas for basic changes in Maryland's grand jury system were put forward in Criminal Court today.

One suggestion was for the appointment of special grand juries from time to time.

They would not handle the routine work which now comes before grand juries—criminal cases, inspections at jails and other public institutions, and the like. They would be assigned specific problems and their terms might run longer than the limits now provided.

The other idea was for a kind of permanent grand jury, with new members appointed from time to time. No one would have to serve too long, but there would always be some experienced members on the panel to fill the new comers in on what had gone before.

Both ideas particularly concern Baltimore, but any changes would have to be made by the General Assembly and probably would apply to the whole state.

Judge Emory H. Niles suggested the special grand jury and rotating membership ideas as he and two associate judges organized a new Baltimore grand jury in circuit court today.

He suggested the new jurors study the problem and submit their suggestions to the Legislative Council and the General Assembly.

There have been complaints in recent months that grand juries are reluctant to tackle complicated problems because they can no more than get started before their four-month term runs out.

Real Estate Board Head Sees Good Year

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards predicted today 1954 will be "another banner year" in the real estate business.

Ronald J. Chinnock of Chicago made the prediction in a speech to the annual convention of the Maryland Real Estate Association.

The country's estimated population growth of three million in 1953 was cited by Chinnock as the basic reason for his optimism.

Assistant To B. And O. Freight Manager Dies

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Edwin H. Gardner, assistant to the freight manager of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, died early today after collapsing at his home.

He would have been 54 on Jan. 29 and apparently was in good health.

Gardner was born in Belleville, Ill., and started his career with the B. & O. in 1916 at Vincennes, Ind. He had held posts in the railroad's freight service at St. Louis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis and Dayton and came to the Baltimore headquarters as assistant to the freight manager in 1947.

Bank Director Loses Will Fight

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP) — The director of the Germantown Bank today lost his bid for reversal of a Frederick County Court decision which revoked his administration of the will of a first cousin who was shot to death 13 months ago.

The Frederick Court had made Philip C. Watkins administrator of the will of Mrs. Adele Kreh, who was found dead with her husband Dec. 7, 1952, in their apartment in (20 W. Third St.) Frederick in what was presumed a murder and suicide.

Col. Theodore Barnes Jr. of Miami Beach, Fla., Bessie A. Barnes and Beulah B. Weaver of Washington and Gen. Julian F. Barnes of Southern Pines, N. C., had Watkins' papers revoked, since they were next of kin.

The high court ruled the lower court "was not in accordance with the law" in first granting Watkins the letters, and that it had the right to revoke the action made "improperly upon misrepresentation, however innocently made." Watkins said he knew of no other cousins.

Pair Of Changes In Grand Jury System Urged

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Two ideas for basic changes in Maryland's grand jury system were put forward in Criminal Court today.

One suggestion was for the appointment of special grand juries from time to time.

They would not handle the routine work which now comes before grand juries—criminal cases, inspections at jails and other public institutions, and the like. They would be assigned specific problems and their terms might run longer than the limits now provided.

The other idea was for a kind of permanent grand jury, with new members appointed from time to time. No one would have to serve too long, but there would always be some experienced members on the panel to fill the new comers in on what had gone before.

Both ideas particularly concern Baltimore, but any changes would have to be made by the General Assembly and probably would apply to the whole state.

Judge Emory H. Niles suggested the special grand jury and rotating membership ideas as he and two associate judges organized a new Baltimore grand jury in circuit court today.

He suggested the new jurors study the problem and submit their suggestions to the Legislative Council and the General Assembly.

There have been complaints in recent months that grand juries are reluctant to tackle complicated problems because they can no more than get started before their four-month term runs out.

Real Estate Board Head Sees Good Year

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards predicted today 1954 will be "another banner year" in the real estate business.

Ronald J. Chinnock of Chicago made the prediction in a speech to the annual convention of the Maryland Real Estate Association.

The country's estimated population growth of three million in 1953 was cited by Chinnock as the basic reason for his optimism.

SEARCHING WRECKAGE WHERE 12 DIED—Searchers work around the burned engine nacelle and wing parts of an amphibian plane that crashed 10 miles south of Shreveport, killing 12 men, including Tom C. Braniff, Dallas, Tex., head of Braniff International Airways. The private plane was returning 10 prominent businessmen from a duck hunting trip in the salt marshes south of Lake Charles, La. All aboard were killed when the two pilots failed in attempting an emergency landing on a small lake.

Assistant To B. And O. Freight Manager Dies

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Edwin H. Gardner, assistant to the freight manager of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, died early today after collapsing at his home.

He would have been 54 on Jan. 29 and apparently was in good health.

Gardner was born in Belleville, Ill., and started his career with the B. & O. in 1916 at Vincennes, Ind. He had held posts in the railroad's freight service at St. Louis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis and Dayton and came to the Baltimore headquarters as assistant to the freight manager in 1947.

Opens Headquarters

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Dr. H. C. Byrd opened a campaign headquarters here today and set in motion the machinery he hopes will land him in the governor's chair in Annapolis.

Bank Director Loses Will Fight

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP) — The director of the Germantown Bank today lost his bid for reversal of a Frederick County Court decision which revoked his administration of the will of a first cousin who was shot to death 13 months ago.

The Frederick Court had made Philip C. Watkins administrator of the will of Mrs. Adele Kreh, who was found dead with her husband Dec. 7, 1952, in their apartment in (20 W. Third St.) Frederick in what was presumed a murder and suicide.

Col. Theodore Barnes Jr. of Miami Beach, Fla., Bessie A. Barnes and Beulah B. Weaver of Washington and Gen. Julian F. Barnes of Southern Pines, N. C., had Watkins' papers revoked, since they were next of kin.

The high court ruled the lower court "was not in accordance with the law" in first granting Watkins the letters, and that it had the right to revoke the action made "improperly upon misrepresentation, however innocently made." Watkins said he knew of no other cousins.

YOU CAN AFFORD THIS FAMILY INCOME INSURANCE

PLANNED FOR YOUNG FAMILY NEEDS
PRICED FOR YOUNG FAMILY BUDGETS

This is the remarkable big-value policy that good friends tell each other about. Realistically priced—comfortably scheduled for modest incomes—this unusual policy gives your family the "big-insurance" protection you want now, right now, when children are young and the need is greatest. With surprisingly small investment, you assure your family an income whether you are here or not. At the same time, this policy builds up a cash value for you . . . for emergency loans or retirement!

NEARLY 2 MILLION American families now enjoy the security of sound, thrifty Farm Bureau insurance. This company, founded on the principle of "more protection to more people at less cost," has grown into one of the nation's soundest, most progressive insurance organizations.

NO REASON TO WAIT, no reason to postpone. Call the friendly Farm Bureau man today and find out why so many of your friends and neighbors enjoy this low-cost broad protection. You'll be a much happier man when you get this remarkable Family Income Plan working for you!

FACTS FOR "YOUNG MARRIEDS"—
Here's one way this policy works:
Suppose you have a wife and two children, aged 3 and 1. If your family is protected under this plan with a $10,000 20-year Family Income Policy—and if your death should occur even in the first year after the policy is issued—your family would receive:

AN EMERGENCY FUND OF $2,000 (to meet doctors' bills, hospital bills, etc.)	$2,000.00
A READJUSTMENT INCOME OF $200 per month for 12 months	2,400.00
A STEADY INCOME OF $100 per month beginning the 13th month following death and continuing for 19 full years	22,800.00
A LUMP SUM OF $8,000 in cash (or its equivalent in a monthly income) at the end of the 20 year period	8,000.00
TOTAL PAYMENTS TO FAMILY..	$35,200.00

More Talk At Panmunjom

Negotiations are reported progressing on the resumption of talks at Panmunjom between the United Nations and the Chinese Communists. The preliminaries, conducted through intermediaries, could accurately be described as "talks about getting ready to talk about getting ready to talk about peace."

What was broken off when special envoy Arthur H. Dean of the U. S. walked out of the conference hut on December 12 was not the "political conference" that was to bring about a formal peace in Korea, but only a conference to discuss plans for the political conference.

The U. N. and the Communist negotiators had met on October 26. Almost immediately the talks were deadlocked over the Red demand that "neutral nations" be invited to the eventual political conference. The same issue was plaguing the discussions when they were broken off, but some progress had been made.

The immediate cause of Dean's walk-out had been a prepared statement by Chinese Communist delegate Huang Ha accusing the United States of "perfidy" in "conniving" with South Korea in the release of 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean POW's in June. The Reds also had complained of U. S. treatment of their negotiators as "Russian stooges."

The U. N. representatives had wanted to begin the preliminary talks by setting a time and place for the political conference. By November 6 the Chinese had agreed to a series of meetings of deputies to discuss time and place. These talks were described as "businesslike." The U. S. State Department representative was Kenneth T. Young, who is now negotiating for a resumption of the discussions.

The main delegates on November 14 began a series of talks on composition of the conference. The U. N. would accept Russia as a member of the Communist side, the Chinese wanted for Russia the status of a neutral with full discussion rights. The U. N. made the concession of accepting neutrals as non-talking observers. This concession failed to satisfy the Chinese, and here was the crux of the impasse as talks were broken off.

The armistice agreement signed July 26 had recommended that:

"Within three months after the agreement is signed and becomes effective, a political conference of a higher level of both sides be held by representatives appointed respectively to settle through negotiation the questions of the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea, the peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc."

The main truce teams had met for exactly four months to reach this agreement. They had resumed talks on April 26, after an "indefinite" secession of conversations that dated back to October 8, 1952. The preliminaries of the initial talks had begun on July 8, 1951, as the outgrowth of overtures made by the United Nations in January of that year.

The way was paved for the resumption of formal negotiations this year by a letter from U. N. Commander Mark Clark to the Reds suggesting negotiations looking to exchange of sick and wounded prisoners. The Chinese Reds accepted Clark's proposal on March 28, and on April 11 an agreement for exchange of sick and wounded was signed.

Exchange began on April 20, and was completed on May 3. The ceasefire came on July 26, U. S. time. President Eisenhower told the nation, "We have won an armistice on a single battleground, not peace in the world. We may not now relax our guard or cease our quest."

Where Sheiks Roam

Saudi Arabia is not well known to Americans in general, and with reason. Its hot deserts offer little to attract tourists, and only after World War I did it even begin to shape up as a nation.

Before that it was a neglected, almost ungoverned corner of the Ottoman Empire, the size of Montana, inhabited by scattered nomadic tribes with their sheep and camels and horses. The late King Ibn Saud organized the scattered tribes into something loosely resembling a nation, which he ruled from 1926 until his recent death, reveling in luxury as royalties poured in from American oil companies.

Even today Saudi Arabia isn't much, but the late king's son, 51-year-old King Saud Ibn Abdul Aziz, has big ideas. His country includes Mecca, the lodestar of all Moslems. With proper management it might become the head of an Arab federation or a united Pan-Arabia.

It has been making progress since the American Oil Company raised its royalties in 1947, but a great deal remains to be done. The new king wants to rebuild the abandoned Damascus-Medina Railroad, expand education, build roads, establish modern telephone and radio communications, start fertilizer plants, iron mines and irrigation projects.

First, he must reorganize his government and curb profligate spending. His own retinue, including members of the royal family, wives, concubines and servants, numbers almost 10,000 and has been spending $26,000,000 a year, or approximately 15 per cent of annual government revenue.

If his reform efforts raise a storm, he will add to the turmoil of the Middle East. American oil interests may be expropriated. If he is more successful, Saudi Arabia will stay out of the headlines (no news is good news, and vice versa), and most Americans will hardly know it exists.

Strange Inertia

Washington has long watched the incursion of Communist activity in the Caribbean area, but it has been strangely passive in framing counter measures.

Whatever the reason, the report is that the period of inertia is past. State Department officials are at last getting together with a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee to map policy to thwart further Red infiltration. A resolution condemning Communist influences in Guatemala and British Guiana is being drawn up for presentation to the Organization of American States at Caracas in March.

But it is reported that U. S. diplomats are reluctant to introduce the motion and may ask a friendly Latin nation to do so.

Something seems to be seriously amiss when in the face of the spreading cancer of communism Washington is content to debate the niceties of conference protocol. The day of the "big stick" may have passed, but couldn't there be a new era symbolized at least by the warning finger?

How To Keep Well

Painful Shoulder And Hand

The shoulder-hand syndrome follows in the wake of a heart attack, apoplexy, or an injury to the upper extremity. It is not a frequent complication but occasionally is more troublesome and disabling than the original disturbance.

The condition is recognized easily four weeks after a heart attack. The victim develops an aching sensation in the shoulder and hand. Pain increases and the involved parts become stiff, swollen, and tender to the touch. The distress varies from mild pain to complete inability to move the shoulder and arm (frozen shoulder). This part of the syndrome resembles bursitis. The shoulder is difficult to raise and the arm to rotate because of stiffness and discomfort. The hand becomes puffy, smooth, taut, and glossy. At first the skin is dusty pink or red but in time the color fades and the tissues become pale and pasty looking. Finger movement is limited because of rigidity and pain; the grip is weak.

What relationship does this condition have to the heart? No one knows. The left shoulder is involved so often that there may be a casual relation between the nerve distribution and heart pain. In angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis the distress in the chest radiates to the left shoulder and down the arm to the hand. In shoulder-hand syndrome the same areas are affected. The few times that aching and stiffness develop in the right extremity, the individual recalls that the heart pain also was on that side. These observations have led many authorities to attribute the complication to a reflex nerve spasm of the ligaments and muscles around the shoulder. It is initiated by the pain impulses coming from the heart.

There also is a possibility that the syndrome comes from disuse. Following the heart attack it is natural to avoid movements of the shoulder for fear of aggravating the heart pain. While the arm is favored or not used, the muscles and ligaments undergo the changes that lead ultimately to the complication.

When untreated, the disturbance may last from six months to two years. Gradual relief is the rule. The pain and stiffness in the shoulder subside more rapidly than the distress in the hand. The puffiness and tenderness of the hand may give way to numbness, tingling, and burning sensations. The fingers may become overly sensitive and are cold to the touch. Should the disorder progress, contractures develop especially in the ring and little fingers. The digits draw up like claws and cannot be straightened (Dupuytren's contracture).

The injection treatment is based upon the belief that the nervous system is at fault. An anesthetic solution is injected into a nerve center in the neck and many instances complete or partial relief in the shoulder and hand have been recorded. ACTH and cortisone are rival remedies. Use of these hormones stems from their value in a variety of rheumatic conditions. A group of New York physicians who compared the effects of the two methods on 91 persons concluded: "Spectacular successes and unaccountable failures occurred with all methods." They believed, however, that the nerve injection gave somewhat better results.

TOMORROW: Dr. Van Dellen discusses false teeth.

Mamie Monitored Ike's Speech From Congressional Gallery; Nixon Still Has Great Confidence In Chiang Kai-Shek; Vice President Gives Travelogue

WASHINGTON — Right after President Eisenhower finished his State of the Union speech to the joint session of Congress he was greeted by Mamie, who had watched him from the House gallery.

"What have you got there?" queried Ike, pointing to some papers in Mamie's hand.

"Oh, it's just a copy of your speech. Everyone in the gallery was given a copy," she replied.

"Golly," said the President, "If I'd known that they already had my speech up here on the hill, I wouldn't have bothered to come up here to read it."

"Burton Holmes" Nixon

Vice President Nixon assured Democratic senators in an off-the-record meeting the other evening that South Korean President Syngman Rhee will not start war again in Korea.

"I am not worried about Rhee using aggressive tactics," the vice president said, commenting upon Rhee's threat to renew the Korean War on January 27. "He will make a lot of fuss, but he will cooperate with the United States."

Nixon spoke affectionately of the wrinkled, little South Korean leader with the apple-seed eyes, and poohpoohed the notion that Rhee isn't strong in his own country.

"Syngman Rhee is South Korea," he declared. "Don't think for a moment that Rhee doesn't have those people behind him."

The vice president was the only Republican at a private Democratic gathering held at the home of his neighbor, Senator Estes Kefauver. The get-together was arranged, explained the Tennessee crimebuster, as the outgrowth of a neighborly chat about a Christmas motor bike that the Kefauver kids had let the Nixon youngsters ride.

"Kefauver is the most popular papa in the neighborhood," acknowledged Nixon, "because he bought his kids a bike with a motor on it.

Standing in front of the Kefauver fireplace, Nixon pointed out his travels on a map of Asia and gave a detailed, country-by-country report. He warned in advance, however, that he would present no conclusions.

"If I express any conclusions," he explained, "it is always attributed to the President."

Strong For Chiang

At one point, when he was giving a flattering report on another Asiatic strong man, Chiang Kai-shek, the vice president was challenged by Senator Russ Long of Louisiana.

"A miracle has been performed in Formosa," Nixon claimed. "Chiang Kai-shek has 600,000 well-equipped, ready-to-go troops."

"Are you sure of that 600,000 figure?" interrupted Long. "I am a member of the Armed Services Committee. At the last briefing I attended, the figure was given as less than 300,000 troops, and some of them didn't even have shoes."

"That's the figure that is batted around. I didn't count them," Nixon replied impatiently.

He acknowledged that Chiang Kai-shek could not invade the Chinese mainland without U. S. sea and air support. However, he claimed that Formosa has been transformed into a model government, which he described as "sort of a world capital to the millions of Chinese outside of China."

Nixon was slightly less flattering in his opinion of India's leader, Pandit Nehru, though the vice president acknowledged he was impressed with Nehru's ability and "satisfied" Nehru is anti-Communist.

"The trouble," observed Nixon, "is that Nehru isn't realistic in his policy of neutralism. There isn't anything in India that can stop communism from taking over."

Nixon's most optimistic report was on Turkey, which he described as the "strongest link" in our Eastern defense chain.

However, big Ed Johnson of Colorado blurted out: "Mr. Vice President, which ones of all those countries are potential Turkeys?"

Crucial Indo-China

Nixon replied that the other countries "don't have the resources," and acknowledged that they are a long way from measuring up to Turkey in strength. Probably the biggest drawback, he suggested, was the lack of native leaders. For example, he praised Prime Minister Sastroamidjojo of Indonesia as a "great leader," but complained that he stood alone.

"After my conference with him," reported Nixon, "I asked, 'who else should I talk to?' He said, 'Just me.'"

Nixon blamed the Dutch and French for not training native leaders in their former colonies.

"The British trained natives for civil leadership, but unfortunately, the Dutch and the French did not," he said.

Of all the Far Eastern countries, the vice president laid most stress on Indo-China and indicated that the Eisenhower administration considers Indo-China the key to our Asiatic policy, because of its strategic rubber and tin.

This led West Virginia's Senator Harley Kilgore to suggest that we bring pressure on the European nations to curb the international cartels and fix a fair policy, so Indo-China will get some of the profit and benefit from its rubber and tin production.

"I am not qualified to go into that," Nixon brushed aside the suggestion.

On the whole, the Democrats came away favorably impressed with the vice president's mission. One senator described him as a "mental blotter" who sopped up everything he saw and heard.

Washington Pipeline

The most powerful U. S. senator, Democrat Dick Russell of Georgia, told friends last week: "I didn't like Attorney General Brownell's remarks about President Truman, though I knew he was just playing politics. But Governor Dewey's speech in Hartford really got under my skin. Why, that little —— —— isn't even fit to shine the shoes of a Democrat."... Idaho's Republican Senator Herman Welker has never spoken to Montana's Democratic Senator Mike Mansfield since he came to Washington. From Mansfield's viewpoint the feeling is mutual..... Democrat Sam Rayburn's only regret during his 72nd birthday party was that he couldn't find room for an old-fashioned dance, with his shoes off.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Treadmill Of Politics

I listened to the President's enormous speech, unrelieved by humor, as state papers usually are. It was not quite as stilted as a speech from the Throne is in England, when the king or queen, whichever it may be at the moment, reads what a prime minister hands up for the purpose.

These state documents are really very important and all the chancelleries in Europe and Asia must read every word of the Eisenhower speech to determine how their own interests are affected. The Kremlin must have noticed the tough accent on everything that related to Russia and Russian intercourse with the world. In former years, such a speech would have been tantampunt to a declaration of war, but the world has become so accustomed to strong language that no country will any longer go to war over words. Maybe that is all to the good. Maybe it is a product of maturity or even senility.

The American Communists and their numerous protectors and defenders did not expect the "Wild Bill Hickok" stab in the front that they got from President Eisenhower. Actually, the President was tougher than Joe McCarthy. He would deprive them of citizenship. He would, in effect, outlaw them, not as a party but as individuals. That seems to be an excellent idea because these fellows act as American citizens and claim the protection of the Constitution, which they despise and which they seek, not only to violate, but to destroy.

We have in Ike Eisenhower a phenomenon heretofore non-existent in the presidency and should his administration prove to be successful for him and advantageous to the American people, it may do much to bring a new element into American political life. Here is a man who consciously and by decision miffed all his opportunities in the first year of his administration and at the peak of his popularity. He admitted by word and deed that he was unfamiliar with the task he had undertaken and for which he had been chosen by the people.

After the glamorous Roosevelt and the omniscient Truman, this came as a shock even to Republicans. They wondered how long it would take Eisenhower to learn how to be a President of the United States. Then they watched him appoint committees and commissions to work on all sorts of problems and they wondered what confusion would be brewed out of this mass-meeting of cooks.

Then his press-agents tried to "humanize" him. It was like getting publicity for an actress by bathing her in milk. The result was that the people got the impression of a golf-player rather than a hard-working executive. There is no crime in playing golf if you like it, although I always have thought it was a device for staying away from church on Sunday.

After the businesslike, straight-to-the-point State of the Union speech, the country is going to take a new look at Ike. It recited what can be done, what might be done, what cannot possibly be done this year. There were no apologies and no evidences of fear. The man actually has a program.

There will, I understand, be seven more messages to implement this speech. Congress has a clear program of legislation for debate and decision. There may be an advantage in the thumbnail briefing method, after all. The Army has won wars that way; maybe, it will work in the presidency.

Eisenhower is not an orator and his speech-writers must be simple men who do not go in for the telling phrases that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Robert Sherwood, and Sam Rosenman revelled in. Eisenhower apparently likes the plain and simple statement unlarded by cleverness. He prefers to make himself understood rather than to amuse his listeners. He does not end with a peroration that lifts an audience out of their seats, only to wonder what the speaker said. This State of the Union speech was so simple in thought and phrase that it was possible to mark off the sections for reference without interfering wordage.

It is refreshing to have it that way in these days when all of us are so weary of so much talk about great affairs. Maybe, Eisenhower will return us to the simple life for which we all yearn.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

A Strange Phenomenon

WASHINGTON

If the signs are being read aright by some of the shrewdest observers on Capitol Hill, the country is now witnessing an extraordinary political phenomenon. The Republican President is rapidly gaining in prestige and popularity. But so is the Democratic party.

On the first point there is virtually no dispute. There was a time, as the polls indicated and the politicians reported, when the public image of the President was beginning to fade badly. But this fading process was sharply reversed by the President's speech to the United Nations. Everything that has happened since, culminating in the State of the Union message, has helped to give the country the welcome impression that Eisenhower has finally made up his mind what he wants, and that he is determined to get it.

The second point will certainly be disputed by many Republicans. For the Democrats, while freely acknowledging that the President has lately been gaining ground, claim that the Democratic party has been gaining ground just as rapidly—or more so. And although this is certainly a partisan claim, there is a good deal of evidence to support it.

For example, the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, after a careful analysis of each close district, has informally estimated that the Democrats would gain more than 40 seats in the House if the elections were now. This estimate might be dismissed as mere partisan wishful thinking, if it had been made for publicity purposes. But it was made, instead, for the private information of the committee, and the estimate almost leans over backwards in allowing for Democratic losses in Chicago, Philadelphia, and other places where Democratic prospects are shaky.

See Democratic Trend

What is more, after the committee estimate had been made, the Crossley poll for the "Boston Post" indicated almost precisely the same Democratic gain — and this close on the heels of another national poll showing a heavy gain in President Eisenhower's popularity. Moreover, this curious phenomenon — the simultaneous strengthening of the Republican President and his opposition party —is further confirmed by politicians who have returned from the hustings.

The case of Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois is perhaps the most striking. His term ends this year. He spent a long time wrestling with his soul (rather after the manner of his fellow Illinoisian, Adlai Stevenson) trying to decide whether to run again. He is in many ways not a natural-born politician—he is more sensitive than most to the slings and arrows of outrageous political fortune. Moreover, there were troublesome questions of finance.

Yet Douglas decided to run again. The basic reason for this decision was very simple. He thought he could win.

Before coming to this conclusion, he traveled by car for almost 13,000 miles in Illinois. He made 290 speeches in 150 towns, visited 88 counties and talked to literally thousands of people. As a result of all this he concluded that a very strong Democratic trend — stronger than he remembered since he entered politics—had set in.

Even allowing for party spirit, this conclusion is interesting, coming from the highly intelligent and normally rather pessimistic Douglas. Others from the same area—like Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who claims to have shaken 250,000 hands this autumn —have come to this same conclusion, and for the same reasons.

Cites Farmers' Complaints

The reasons, of course, are essentially economic. Douglas was in the down-state Illinois farm area during the Wisconsin election, and the upset came as no surprise at all to him. Because of lack of storage space, the farmers are not getting anything like parity prices even for price-supported commodities. Many of them blame the lack of storage space on Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson in particular and the Republicans in general—and one recalls that many observers believed that this same issue defeated Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

Nor are only the farmers discontented. In Western Illinois, heart of the country's farm implement industry, Douglas found near-depression conditions, coupled with a strong swing to the Democrats. According to Douglas and others, the Democrats have even made real inroads in the new suburban districts, the great strongholds of Republicanism in the 1952 election. Yet even among the embittered farmers and industrial workers, the President himself, all agree, is still remarkably popular.

The explanation of this phenomenon seems to be that most voters simply do not think of Eisenhower as a Republican. Thus Eisenhower's great personal popularity, which logically should be the Republican party's most important asset, is nothing of the sort. Nor is the Republican party likely to realize this asset, as long as the loudest and bitterest opposition to Eisenhower comes from within its ranks.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — In President Eisenhower's "something-for-everybody" message to Congress, there's one proposal which certainly on second thought will not look as good to some people as it did at first. That's the recommendation for a constitutional amendment which will permit 18 year olds to vote.

Few people who read it probably realized that it meant the vote for 18-year-old girls as well as boys. Also if the controlling argument is that a boy 18 years old is not too young to fight for his country he ought to be considered old enough to vote, the reverse is also true—an 18-year-old girl would likewise be eligible for military service.

Women have never been drafted for war but many of them have volunteered in the last two wars. It is obvious that many millions of young men could be used in the front lines and in the heavier duties of supply units if girls could be used for the clerical and desk jobs and even for the domestic service in the kitchens for which able-bodied men now are utilized.

But the whole subject of voting age has not been thought through by those who for political or sentimental reasons want to lower the voting age to 18. What exactly should be the criterion for voting in a democracy? Is calendar age the only real basis for measurement? Or is it mental age?

Thus if girls are to vote it may well be argued that the voting age should be reduced to 16 because experts say the girl of 16 is as matured if not more so than the boy of 18. Judging from the letters on public affairs received by this correspondent there are many girls and boys aged 16 and even lower who seem to know more about what's happening to their country and the problems of the day than those who are far above the present voting age. Former President Truman gave a hint on the latter point when he said that instead of reducing the voting age to 18, it might better be considered whether the voting age should be advanced to 24. Many politicians will disagree with him but anybody who has studied the interest in campaigns taken by persons below 30 will discover that it doesn't begin to compare with the interest manifested by those above 30 Not that there aren't many in the lower age groups who don't take an interest in public affairs and reading above the issues But the proportion is much smaller as the age bracket moves down.

While on the subject of amending the Constitution to fix the proper voting age it might be worth while to consider adding a section on compulsory voting. Other countries such as Australia have adopted that practice. It might be stipulated that anyone who other than because of illness or disability didn't vote might lose his vote for three successive elections.

Provisions have been made nowadays for absentee voting so that this is no longer an excuse when business or other urgent reasons for travel take the citizen away from his home on election day.

But nothwithstanding all this the proportion of citizens who vote as related to the total number of citizens over 21 now eligible to vote has been steadily going down in the last 50 years. One reason advanced is that women do not vote in as big numbers as men and that this brings the total percentage down. Whatever the reason the fact is that a little more than half of those eligible to vote do so in presidential elections and as for congressional and local elections the percentages are even smaller.

Reasons for not voting have never been accurately measured though some research has been done along that line. It would seem logical that many persons who do not vote frankly do not know what the shouting is all about and have never related public questions directly to their own lives. Others are well aware of the meaning of the issues but see little choice between present day parties or candidates and hence do not bother to vote—they don't think it makes much difference anyhow.

By adding several more million voters in the teen-age bracket the percentage of those who go to the polls probably would go down still further. But in answer to this it might be argued that a substantial amount of intelligence would nevertheless be added to the total judgment of the electorate—and that is always worth while

Negotiations are reported progressing on the resumption of talks at Panmunjom between the United Nations and the Chinese Communists. The preliminaries, conducted through intermediaries, could accurately be described as "talks about getting ready to talk about getting ready to talk about peace."

What was broken off when special envoy Arthur H. Dean of the U. S. walked out of the conference hut on December 12 was not the "political conference" that was to bring about a formal peace in Korea, but only a conference to discuss plans for the political conference.

The U. N. and the Communist negotiators had met on October 26. Almost immediately the talks were deadlocked over the Red demand that "neutral nations" be invited to the eventual political conference. The same issue was plaguing the discussions when they were broken off, but some progress had been made.

The immediate cause of Dean's walk-out had been a prepared statement by Chinese Communist delegate Huang Ha accusing the United States of "perfidy" in "conniving" with South Korea in the release of 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean POW's in June. The Reds also had complained of U. S. treatment of their negotiators as "Russian stooges."

The U. N. representatives had wanted to begin the preliminary talks by setting a time and place for the political conference. By November 6 the Chinese had agreed to a series of meetings of deputies to discuss time and place. These talks were described as "businesslike." The U. S. State Department representative was Kenneth T. Young, who is now negotiating for a resumption of the discussions.

The main delegates on November 14 began a series of talks on composition of the conference. The U. N. would accept Russia as a member of the Communist side, the Chinese wanted for Russia the status of a neutral with full discussion rights. The U. N. made the concession of accepting neutrals as non-talking observers. This concession failed to satisfy the Chinese, and here was the crux of the impasse as talks were broken off.

The armistice agreement signed July 26 had recommended that:

"Within three months after the agreement is signed and becomes effective, a political conference of a higher level of both sides be held by representatives appointed respectively to settle through negotiation the questions of the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea, the peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc."

The main truce teams had met for exactly four months to reach this agreement. They had resumed talks on April 26, after an "indefinite" secession of conversations that dated back to October 8, 1952. The preliminaries of the initial talks had begun on July 8, 1951, as the outgrowth of overtures made by the United Nations in January of that year.

The way was paved for the resumption of formal negotiations this year by a letter from U. N. Commander Mark Clark to the Reds suggesting negotiations looking to exchange of sick and wounded prisoners. The Chinese Reds accepted Clark's proposal on March 28, and on April 11 an agreement for exchange of sick and wounded was signed.

Exchange began on April 20, and was completed on May 3. The ceasefire came on July 26, U. S. time. President Eisenhower told the nation, "We have won an armistice on a single battleground, not peace in the world. We may not now relax our guard or cease our quest."

Where Sheiks Roam

Saudi Arabia is not well known to Americans in general, and with reason. Its hot deserts offer little to attract tourists, and only after World War I did it even begin to shape up as a nation.

Before that it was a neglected, almost ungoverned corner of the Ottoman Empire, the size of Montana, inhabited by scattered nomadic tribes with their sheep and camels and horses. The late King Ibn Saud organized the scattered tribes into something loosely resembling a nation, which he ruled from 1926 until his recent death, reveling in luxury as royalties poured in from American oil companies.

Even today Saudi Arabia isn't much, but the late king's son, 51-year-old King Saud Ibn Abdul Aziz, has big ideas. His country includes Mecca, the lodestar of all Moslems. With proper management it might become the head of an Arab federation or a united Pan-Arabia.

It has been making progress since the American Oil Company raised its royalties in 1947, but a great deal remains to be done. The new king wants to rebuild the abandoned Damascus-Medina Railroad, expand education, build roads, establish modern telephone and radio communications, start fertilizer plants, iron mines and irrigation projects.

First, he must reorganize his government and curb profligate spending. His own retinue, including members of the royal family, wives, concubines and servants, numbers almost 10,000 and has been spending $26,000,000 a year, or approximately 15 per cent of annual government revenue.

If his reform efforts raise a storm, he will add to the turmoil of the Middle East. American oil interests may be expropriated. If he is more successful, Saudi Arabia will stay out of the headlines (no news is good news, and vice versa), and most Americans will hardly know it exists.

Strange Inertia

Washington has long watched the incursion of Communist activity in the Caribbean area, but it has been strangely passive in framing counter measures.

Whatever the reason, the report is that the period of inertia is past. State Department officials are at last getting together with a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee to map policy to thwart further Red infiltration. A resolution condemning Communist influences in Guatemala and British Guiana is being drawn up for presentation to the Organization of American States at Caracas in March.

But it is reported that U. S. diplomats are reluctant to introduce the motion and may ask a friendly Latin nation to do so.

Something seems to be seriously amiss when in the face of the spreading cancer of communism Washington is content to debate the niceties of conference protocol. The day of the "big stick" may have passed, but couldn't there be a new era symbolized at least by the warning finger?

How To Keep Well

Painful Shoulder And Hand

The shoulder-hand syndrome follows in the wake of a heart attack, apoplexy, or an injury to the upper extremity. It is not a frequent complication but occasionally is more troublesome and disabling than the original disturbance.

The condition is recognized easily four weeks after a heart attack. The victim develops an aching sensation in the shoulder and hand. Pain increases and the involved parts become stiff, swollen, and tender to the touch. The distress varies from mild pain to complete inability to move the shoulder and arm (frozen shoulder). This part of the syndrome resembles bursitis. The shoulder is difficult to raise and the arm to rotate because of stiffness and discomfort. The hand becomes puffy, smooth, taut, and glossy. At first the skin is dusty pink or red but in time the color fades and the tissues become pale and pasty looking. Finger movement is limited because of rigidity and pain; the grip is weak.

What relationship does this condition have to the heart? No one knows. The left shoulder is involved so often that there may be a casual relation between the nerve distribution and heart pain. In angina pectoris and coronary trombosis the distress in the chest radiates to the left shoulder and down the arm to the hand. In shoulder-hand syndrome the same areas are affected. The few times that aching and stiffness develop in the right extremity, the individual recalls that the heart pain also was on that side. These observations have led many authorities to attribute the complication to a reflex nerve spasm of the ligaments and muscles around the shoulder. It is initiated by the pain impulses coming from the heart.

There also is a possibility that the syndrome comes from disuse. Following the heart attack it is natural to avoid movements of the shoulder for fear of aggravating the heart pain. While the arm is favored or not used, the muscles and ligaments undergo the changes that lead ultimately to the complication.

When untreated, the disturbance may last from six months to two years. Gradual relief is the rule. The pain and stiffness in the shoulder subside more rapidly than the distress in the hand. The puffiness and tenderness of the hand may give way to numbness, tingling, and burning sensations. The fingers may become overly sensitive and are cold to the touch. Should the disorder progress, contractures develop especially in the ring and little fingers. The digits draw up like claws and cannot be straightened (Dupuytren's contracture).

The injection treatment is based upon the belief that the nervous system is at fault. An anesthetic solution is injected into a nerve center in the neck and many instances complete or partial relief in the shoulder and hand have been recorded. ACTH and cortisone are rival remedies. Use of these hormones stems from their value in a variety of rheumatic conditions. A group of New York physicians who compared the effects of the two methods on 91 persons concluded: "Spectacular successes and unaccountable failures occurred with all methods." They believed, however, that the nerve injection gave somewhat better results.

HONEYCOMBED BONES

Mrs. T. writes: Our doctor told my mother her bones are becoming like a honeycomb. What does this mean?

REPLY

Your mother's bony framework is losing calcium because of a parathyroid gland disturbance, lack of calcium absorption, or inactivity. We have a leaflet on osteoporosis and osteomalacia that may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TOO MUCH DIGITALIS

P. S. writes: Will you please tell something about digitalis poisoning.

REPLY

This is a temporary condition that subsides as soon as digitalis is withheld. The initial effect is slowing of the heart, followed by nausea and vomiting.

Mamie Monitored Ike's Speech From Congressional Gallery; Nixon Still Has Great Confidence In Chiang Kai-Shek; Vice President Gives Travelogue

WASHINGTON — Right after President Eisenhower finished his State of the Union speech to the joint session of Congress he was greeted by Mamie, who had watched him from the House gallery.

"What have you got there?" queried Ike, pointing to some papers in Mamie's hand.

"Oh, it's just a copy of your speech. Everyone in the gallery was given a copy," she replied.

"Golly," said the President, "If I'd known that they already had my speech up here on the hill, I wouldn't have bothered to come up here to read it."

"Burton Holmes" Nixon

Vice President Nixon assured Democratic senators in an off-the-record meeting the other evening that South Korean President Syngman Rhee will not start war again in Korea.

"I am not worried about Rhee using aggressive tactics," the vice president said, commenting upon Rhee's threat to renew the Korean War on January 27. "He will make a lot of fuss, but he will cooperate with the United States."

Nixon spoke affectionately of the wrinkled, little South Korean leader with the apple-seed eyes, and poohpoohed the notion that Rhee isn't strong in his own country.

"Syngman Rhee is South Korea," he declared. "Don't think for a moment that Rhee doesn't have those people behind him."

The vice president was the only Republican at a private Democratic gathering held at the home of his neighbor, Senator Estes Kefauver. The get-together was arranged, explained the Tennessee crimebuster, as the outgrowth of a neighborly chat about a Christmas motor bike that the Kefauver kids had let the Nixon youngsters ride.

"Kefauver is the most popular papa in the neighborhood," acknowledged Nixon, "because he bought his kids a bike with a motor on it.

Standing in front of the Kefauver fireplace, Nixon pointed out his travels on a map of Asia and gave a detailed, country-by-country report. He warned in advance, however, that he would present no conclusions.

"If I express any conclusions," he explained, "it is always attributed to the President."

Strong For Chiang

At one point, when he was giving a flattering report on another Asiatic strong man, Chiang Kai-shek, the vice president was challenged by Senator Russ Long of Louisiana.

"A miracle has been performed in Formosa," Nixon claimed. "Chiang Kai-shek has 600,000 well-equipped, ready-to-go troops."

"Are you sure of that 600,000 figure?" interrupted Long. "I am a member of the Armed Services Committee. At the last briefing I attended, the figure was given as less than 300,000 troops, and some of them didn't even have shoes."

"That's the figure that is batted around. I didn't count them," Nixon replied impatiently.

He acknowledged that Chiang Kai-shek could not invade the Chinese mainland without U. S. sea and air support. However, he claimed that Formosa has been transformed into a model government, which he described as "sort of a world capital to the millions of Chinese outside of China."

Nixon was slightly less flattering in his opinion of India's leader, Pandit Nehru, though the vice president acknowledged he was impressed with Nehru's ability and "satisfied" Nehru is anti-Communist.

"The trouble," observed Nixon, "is that Nehru isn't realistic in his policy of neutralism. There isn't anything in India that can stop communism from taking over."

Nixon's most optimistic report was on Turkey, which he described as the "strongest link" in our Eastern defense chain.

However, big Ed Johnson of Colorado blurted out: "Mr. Vice President, which ones of all those countries are potential Turkeys?"

Crucial Indo-China

Nixon replied that the other countries "don't have the resources," and acknowledged that they are a long way from measuring up to Turkey in strength. Probably the biggest drawback, he suggested, was the lack of native leaders. For example, he praised Prime Minister Sastroamidjojo of Indonesia as a "great leader," but complained that he stood alone.

"After my conference with him," reported Nixon, "I asked, 'who else should I talk to?' He said, 'Just me.'"

Nixon blamed the Dutch and French for not training native leaders in their former colonies.

"The British trained natives for civil leadership, but unfortunately, the Dutch and the French did not," he said.

Of all the Far Eastern countries, the vice president laid most stress on Indo-China and indicated that the Eisenhower administration considers Indo-China the key to our Asiatic policy, because of its strategic rubber and tin.

This led West Virginia's Senator Harley Kilgore to suggest that we bring pressure on the European nations to curb the international cartels and fix a fair policy, so Indo-China will get some of the profit and benefit from its rubber and tin production.

"I am not qualified to go into that," Nixon brushed aside the suggestion.

On the whole, the Democrats came away favorably impressed with the vice president's mission. One senator described him as a "mental blotter" who sopped up everything he saw and heard.

Washington Pipeline

The most powerful U. S. senator, Democrat Dick Russell of Georgia, told friends last week: "I didn't like Attorney General Brownell's remarks about President Truman, though I knew he was just playing politics. But Governor Dewey's speech in Hartford really got under my skin. Why, that little —— —— isn't even fit to shine the shoes of a Democrat."... Idaho's Republican Senator Herman Welker has never spoken to Montana's Democratic Senator Mike Mansfield since he came to Washington. From Mansfield's viewpoint the feeling is mutual..... Democrat Sam Rayburn's only regret during his 72nd birthday party was that he couldn't find room for an old-fashioned dance, with his shoes off.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Treadmill Of Politics

I listened to the President's enormous speech, unrelieved by humor, as state papers usually are. It was not quite as stilted as a speech from the Throne is in England, when the king or queen, whichever it may be at the moment, reads what a prime minister hands up for the purpose.

These state documents are really very important and all the chancelleries in Europe and Asia must read every word of the Eisenhower speech to determine how their own interests are affected. The Kremlin must have noticed the tough accent on everything that related to Russia and Russian intercourse with the world. In former years, such a speech would have been tantampunt to a declaration of war, but the world has become so accustomed to strong language that no country will any longer go to war over words. Maybe that is all to the good. Maybe it is a product of maturity or even senility.

The American Communists and their numerous protectors and defenders did not expect the "Wild Bill Hickok" stab in the front that they got from President Eisenhower. Actually, the President was tougher than Joe McCarthy. He would deprive them of citizenship. He would, in effect, outlaw them, not as a party but as individuals. That seems to be an excellent idea because these fellows act as American citizens and claim the protection of the Constitution, which they despise and which they seek, not only to violate, but to destroy.

We have in Ike Eisenhower a phenomenon heretofore non-existent in the presidency and should his administration prove to be successful for him and advantageous to the American people, it may do much to bring a new element into American political life. Here is a man who consciously and by decision miffed all his opportunities in the first year of his administration and at the peak of his popularity. He admitted by word and deed that he was unfamiliar with the task he had undertaken and for which he had been chosen by the people.

After the glamorous Roosevelt and the omniscient Truman, this came as a shock even to Republicans. They wondered how long it would take Eisenhower to learn how to be a President of the United States. Then they watched him appoint committees and commissions to work on all sorts of problems and they wondered what confusion would be brewed out of this mass-meeting of cooks.

Then his press-agents tried to "humanize" him. It was like getting publicity for an actress by bathing her in milk. The result was that the people got the impression of a golf-player rather than a hard-working executive. There is no crime in playing golf if you like it, although I always have thought it was a device for staying away from church on Sunday.

After the businesslike, straight-to-the-point State of the Union speech, the country is going to take a new look at Ike. It recited what can be done, what might be done, what cannot possibly be done this year. There were no apologies and no evidences of fear. The man actually has a program.

There will, I understand, be seven more messages to implement this speech. Congress has a clear program of legislation for debate and decision. There may be an advantage in the thumbnail briefing method, after all. The Army has won wars that way; maybe, it will work in the presidency.

Eisenhower is not an orator and his speech-writers must be simple men who do not go in for the telling phrases that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Robert Sherwood, and Sam Rosenman revelled in. Eisenhower apparently likes the plain and simple statement unlarded by cleverness. He prefers to make himself understood rather than to amuse his listeners. He does not end with a peroration that lifts an audience out of their seats, only to wonder what the speaker said. This State of the Union speech was so simple in thought and phrase that it was possible to mark off the sections for reference without interfering wordage.

It is refreshing to have it that way in these days when all of us are so weary of so much talk about great affairs. Maybe, Eisenhower will return us to the simple life for which we all yearn.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

A Strange Phenomenon

WASHINGTON

If the signs are being read aright by some of the shrewdest observers on Capitol Hill, the country is now witnessing an extraordinary political phenomenon. The Republican President is rapidly gaining in prestige and popularity. But so is the Democratic party.

On the first point there is virtually no dispute. There was a time, as the polls indicated and the politicians reported, when the public image of the President was beginning to fade badly. But this fading process was sharply reversed by the President's speech to the United Nations. Everything that has happened since, culminating in the State of the Union message, has helped to give the country the welcome impression that Eisenhower has finally made up his mind what he wants, and that he is determined to get it.

The second point will certainly be disputed by many Republicans. For the Democrats, while freely acknowledging that the President has lately been gaining ground, claim that the Democratic party has been gaining ground just as rapidly—or more so. And although this is certainly a partisan claim, there is a good deal of evidence to support it.

For example, the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, after a careful analysis of each close district, has informally estimated that the Democrats would gain more than 40 seats in the House if the elections were now. This estimate might be dismissed as mere partisan wishful thinking, if it had been made for publicity purposes. But it was made, instead, for the private information of the committee, and the estimate almost leans over backwards in allowing for Democratic losses in Chicago, Philadelphia, and other places where Democratic prospects are shaky.

See Democratic Trend

What is more, after the committee estimate had been made, the Crossley poll for the "Boston Post" indicated almost precisely the same Democratic gain — and this close on the heels of another national poll showing a heavy gain in President Eisenhower's popularity. Moreover, this curious phenomenon — the simultaneous strengthening of the Republican President and his opposition party —is further confirmed by politicians who have returned from the hustings.

The case of Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois is perhaps the most striking. His term ends this year. He spent a long time wrestling with his soul (rather after the manner of his fellow Illinoisian, Adlai Stevenson) trying to decide whether to run again. He is in many ways not a natural-born politician—he is more sensitive than most to the slings and arrows of outrageous political fortune. Moreover, there were troublesome questions of finance.

Yet Douglas decided to run again. The basic reason for this decision was very simple. He thought he could win.

Before coming to this conclusion, he traveled by car for almost 13,000 miles in Illinois. He made 290 speeches in 150 towns, visited 88 counties and talked to literally thousands of people. As a result of all this he concluded that a very strong Democratic trend — stronger than he remembered since he entered politics—had set in.

Even allowing for party spirit, this conclusion is interesting, coming from the highly intelligent and normally rather pessimistic Douglas. Others from the same area—like Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who claims to have shaken 250,000 hands this autumn —have come to this same conclusion, and for the same reasons.

Cites Farmers' Complaints

The reasons, of course, are essentially economic. Douglas was in the down-state Illinois farm area during the Wisconsin election, and the upset came as no surprise at all to him. Because of lack of storage space, the farmers are not getting anything like parity prices even for price-supported commodities. Many of them blame the lack of storage space on Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson in particular and the Republicans in general—and one recalls that many observers believed that this same issue defeated Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

Nor are only the farmers discontented. In Western Illinois, heart of the country's farm implement industry, Douglas found near-depression conditions, coupled with a strong swing to the Democrats. According to Douglas and others, the Democrats have even made real inroads in the new suburban districts, the great strongholds of Republicanism in the 1952 election. Yet even among the embittered farmers and industrial workers, the President himself, all agree, is still remarkably popular.

The explanation of this phenomenon seems to be that most voters simply do not think of Eisenhower as a Republican. Thus Eisenhower's great personal popularity, which logically should be the Republican party's most important asset, is nothing of the sort. Nor is the Republican party likely to realize this asset, as long as the loudest and bitterest opposition to Eisenhower comes from within its ranks.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — In President Eisenhower's "something-for-everybody" message to Congress, there's one proposal which certainly on second thought will not look as good to some people as it did at first. That's the recommendation for a constitutional amendment which will permit 18 year olds to vote.

Few people who read it probably realized that it meant the vote for 18-year-old girls as well as boys. Also if the controlling argument is that a boy 18 years old is not too young to fight for his country he ought to be considered old enough to vote, the reverse is also true—an 18-year-old girl would likewise be eligible for military service.

Women have never been drafted for war but many of them have volunteered in the last two wars. It is obvious that many millions of young men could be used in the front lines and in the heavier duties of supply units if girls could be used for the clerical and desk jobs and even for the domestic service in the kitchens for which able-bodied men now are utilized.

But the whole subject of voting age has not been thought through by those who for political or sentimental reasons want to lower the voting age to 18. What exactly should be the criterion for voting in a democracy? Is calendar age the only real basis for measurement? Or is it mental age?

Thus if girls are to vote it may well be argued that the voting age should be reduced to 16 because experts say the girl of 16 is as matured if not more so than the boy of 18. Judging from the letters on public affairs received by this correspondent there are many girls and boys aged 16 and even lower who seem to know more about what's happening to their country and the problems of the day than those who are far above the present voting age. Former President Truman gave a hint on the latter point when he said that instead of reducing the voting age to 18, it might better be considered whether the voting age should be advanced to 24. Many politicians will disagree with him but anybody who has studied the interest in campaigns taken by persons below 30 will discover that it doesn't begin to compare with the interest manifested by those above 30. Not that there aren't many in the lower age groups who don't take an interest in public affairs and reading above the issues. But the proportion is much smaller as the age bracket moves down.

While on the subject of amending the Constitution to fix the proper voting age it might be worth while to consider adding a section on compulsory voting. Other countries such as Australia have adopted that practice. It might be stipulated that anyone who other than because of illness or disability didn't vote might lose his vote for three successive elections.

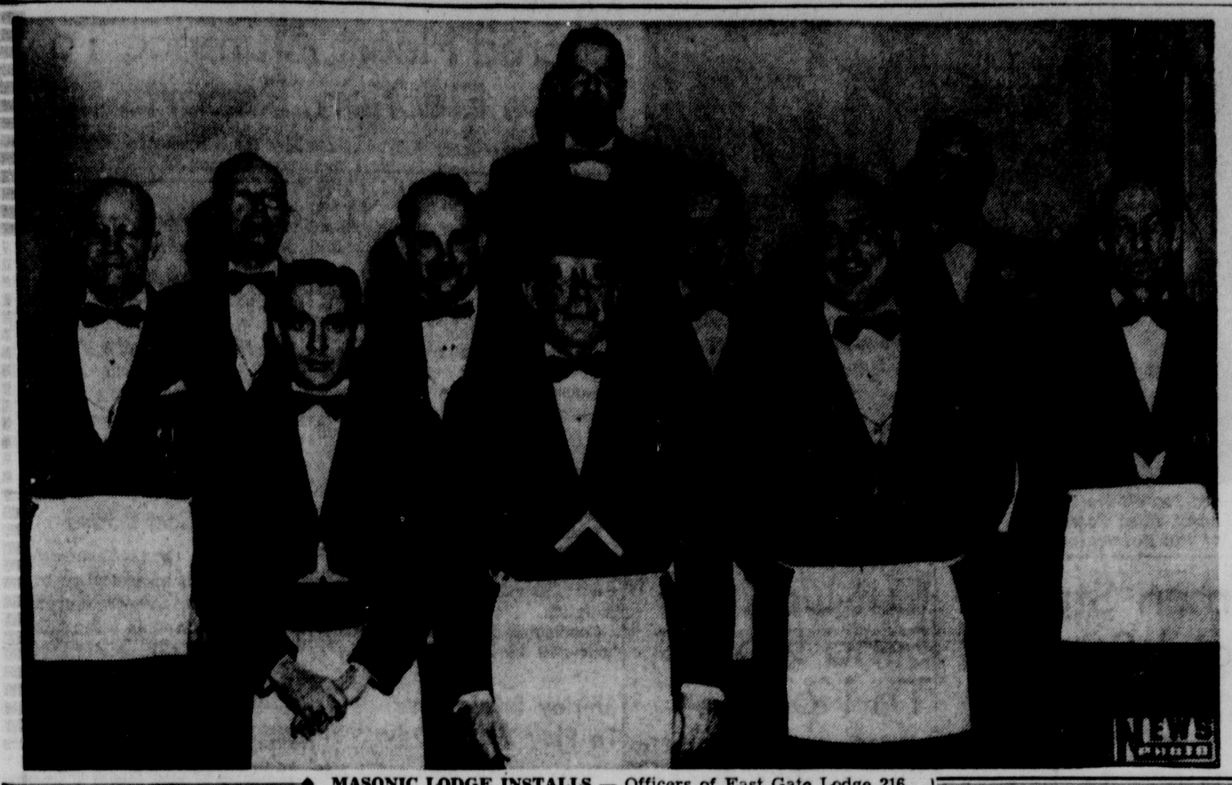

Provisions have been made nowadays for absentee voting so that this is no longer an excuse when business or other urgent reasons for travel take the citizen away from his home on election day.

But nothwithstanding all this the proportion of citizens who vote as related to the total number of citizens over 21 now eligible to vote has been steadily going down in the last 50 years. One reason advanced is that women do not vote in as big numbers as men and that this brings the total percentage down. Whatever the reason the fact is that a little more than half of those eligible to vote do so in presidential elections and as for congressional and local elections the percentages are even smaller.

Reasons for not voting have never been accurately measured though some research has been done along that line. It would seem logical that many persons who do not vote frankly do not know what the shouting is all about and have never related public questions directly to their own lives. Others are well aware of the meaning of the issues but see little choice between present day parties or candidates and hence do not bother to vote—they don't think it makes much difference anyhow.

By adding several more million voters in the teen-age bracket the percentage of those who go to the polls probably would go down still further. But in answer to this it might be argued that a substantial amount of intelligence would nevertheless be added to the total judgment of the electorate—and that is always worth while

E. L. Ginevan Becomes Cresap Society Member

E. L. Ginevan of Paw Paw, W. Va., a native of Oldtown, has become a member of the Cresap Society, according to Ross F. Shaw, a member of the advisory board.

Ginevan was born and raised on the old Cresap plantation where Col. Thomas Cresap established and built the first home at Oldtown in Allegany County about 1740.

Recalling his boyhood in the Oldtown area, he talks avidly of the boats running on the old C & O Canal, the old Grist Mill where wheat and corn were ground into flour and meal. He says the old mill was operated by L. M. Cresap.

He recalls that leather was tanned and shoes made by the Shaware Brothers, and that a busy spot in the county was the old general store operated by the late John W. Carder at the middle lock of the canal in Oldtown. The store building was destroyed by fire in 1907.

Ginevan was at one time superintendent of the old Paw Paw Tannery. He has been retired a number of years. He and Mrs. Ginevan reside in the old historic home of the late Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Kirk at Paw Paw. He is one of the oldest residents of the area.

65 County Farmers Slow In Reporting

Some 65 Allegany County farmers who failed to report on their use of lime and fertilizer by New Year's Eve were mailed notices over the weekend that they must submit reports not later than Friday, January 15, to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in order to be eligible for bonuses, termed small payment increases.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, manager of the ASC office, said three of the tardy farmers came to her office yesterday despite the heavy snowfall which blanketed the area. Nearly 225 farmers reported on lime and fertilizer use by New Year's Eve.

Man Is Hospitalized, Another Jailed In Fight

A fight early Sunday in a vacant lot on West Oldtown Road landed one man in Memorial Hospital with serious injuries and another in the city lockup.

Donald Paugh, 24, of 125 Oldtown Road, was admitted to the hospital with a fractured nose, laceration below the left eye and facial bruises. Two front teeth were missing.

Charged with disorderly conduct were Paugh and William Popp, RD 2, Williams Road, who denied using a brick on the injured man. Bond for the latter was set at $50.

Father Was Miner

Miss Myers qualified because her father had mined coal in the George's Creek region for 61 years.

The operation, performed in December 1952, gave the Eckhart woman vision for the first time since she was 12 years old.

In speaking of the recovery of her sight, Miss Myers said the most wonderful part of it all was the opening of a world of color to her. The beauty of the sky and of such mundane things as vegetables fascinated her. With her vision restored in one eye, the Eckhart woman took interest in keeping abreast of the news and she has been buying a Cumberland newspaper each day.

One odd note about Miss Myers' cross-country trip is that she has been away from Eckhart only twice before in her life. Her first train trip occurred in 1952 when she went to Baltimore for her operation. The second was Saturday night when she and Miss Caudill headed for Chicago and their television appearance.

HAVE YOU TRIED THIS DOCTOR'S GREAT '3 IN 1' LAXATIVE

Always take a mild pure-vegetable laxative rather than harsh, jolting ones. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets combine three of the most effective yet gentle vegetable laxatives in one tiny tablet—ingredients praised for years by highest medical authorities for constipation.

One of the laxatives in Olive Tablets activates the small intestine. The other two stimulate the large intestine. In this way Olive Tablets clean out poisonous waste and gassy bloat from entire intestinal tract to help you feel just fine. Olive Tablets give more 'natural-like' movements, too! No purging! E. L. Ginevan Becomes Cresap Society Member

E. L. Ginevan of Paw Paw, W. Va., a native of Oldtown, has become a member of the Cresap Society, according to Ross F. Shaw, a member of the advisory board.

Ginevan was born and raised on the old Cresap plantation where Col. Thomas Cresap established and built the first home at Oldtown in Allegany County about 1740.

Recalling his boyhood in the Oldtown area, he talks avidly of the boats running on the old C & O Canal, the old Grist Mill where wheat and corn were ground into flour and meal. He says the old mill was operated by L. M. Cresap.

Young Business Women To Observe 7th Anniversary

A combined business meeting and anniversary party will be held by the Young Business Women's Club tomorrow evening.

It is being held at Central YMCA, beginning at 7:45 o'clock, and the installation of officers for 1954 will feature the business session.

Mrs. Barbara Merritt will be installed as president; Miss Ellen Newnam, vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Shroyer, secretary; Miss Beatrice Parks, treasurer, and Mrs. Mary Frye, chaplain.

Serving as officers last year were Mrs. Frye, president; Mrs. Merritt, vice president; Miss Joan Nichols, secretary; Miss Naomi Parks, treasurer, and Miss Mary Ellen Helmick, chaplain.

The seventh anniversary of the organization of the club will be observed with an informal get-together, following the business session.

Committees are to be named and a program outlined at the next business meeting February 10.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Frye, Mrs. Merritt and Miss Nichols.

Patricia Ann Lindsay Celebrates Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lindsay, 137 Main Street, Ridgeley, held a party in honor of their daughter, Patricia Ann Lindsay, celebrating her ninth birthday, Saturday night.

Miss Sandy McFarland and Miss Nancy Hershberger assisted with the program.

Attending were Sandra Magruder, Shirley Riggs, Greg Bosley, William Lindsay, John Rowe, Edward Litton, Linda Sue Edenhart, Sherry Zirk, Josephine Derosa, Marjorie Tabler, John McFarland.

Rebecca McFarland, Ann McCullough, Linda Lindsay, Janice Twigg, Delford Schoonover, Robert Hershberger, George Ott, John Barncord, James Rowelson, Reginia Shaffer, Sandra Ball, Jo Ann Cowan, Paula Lindsay and Thomas Lindsay.

County Girl Receives Award

Eleanor Smith of Allegany County was one of eight girls to receive a national award at the annual conference of the Maryland 4-H Senior Youth Group held in Baltimore, January 7. A member of the Flintstone Club, Miss Smith received her national health award red ribbon. The girls' awards were made by Miss Dorothy Emerson, and the boys', by Mylo Downey.

The conference was held in the Lord Baltimore Hotel and began with the 4-H'ers being divided into groups to pick out the highlights of their projects during the last year, which later were broken down to a special outstanding meeting. These notes were given to a panel to be discussed and made in outline form to assist other clubs in organization and programs. The panel also accepted questions to be discussed and answered.

Henry Holloway Darlington, was elected president. Mrs. Polly Hanst, Oakland, spoke on "Attitudes of Happiness in Dating and Marriage," and the five Maryland International Farm Youth Exchangees held a panel on "Home and Family Life in Our Host Country." Featured were Eleanor Pearce, Baltimore County; Henry Magness, Harford County, and Thomas Giddings, Anne Arundel County, who were IFYEs in 1953. Amy Fry, Howard county and Stewart Young, Carroll county, 1952 IFYEs, served as moderators.

In the evening the 4-H group attended a vesper service directed by the Associated Women of the Maryland Farm Bureau, after which there was a dance.

Thinking Day Plans Are Discussed

Ways of collecting Juliette Low World Friendship fund contributions were discussed and flags of member countries of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts selected by the troops at the meeting of the Juliette Low representatives Saturday. The meeting was at the Girl Scout house with Mrs. Paul Umberger chairman.

Mrs. Umberger led the discussion on ways of securing and presenting the money for the Juliette Low World Friendship fund. She pointed out that contributions are made to this fund each year by the various Girl Scout troops throughout the United States. The fund was established in memory of Juliette Gordon Low, the founder of Girl Scouting in this country, to carry on one phase of scouting in which she was most interested, that of promoting better understanding among the people of the world, through "conferences, gifts and acts of friendship."

Members of some troops reported collection of pennies or nickels, which the girls have saved or earned, has already begun. Others will make their collections during February. At the next meeting, February 6, members of this group will rehearse the ceremony for the in-gathering of the contributions from all the troops, to be held on "Thinking Day."

Twenty-three member countries of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts have been selected for the troops to make small flags of each country. Three countries, Canada, Haiti and Suomi-Finland are the only remaining countries of the association among which troops not having received a flag may choose.

Mary Jane Howell, a member of Troop 13, at Johnson Heights School, who corresponds regularly with pen pals in England, France, Chile and China, told about each. Her English pen pal will represent her country at an international conference of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides at the Girl Scout Chalet in Adelbader, Switzerland, next summer. A coronation souvenir book and scrapbook which Mary Jane received from England were exhibited. Her English friend was also a flag-bearer at a ceremony conducted by Princess Margaret Rose. Girl Guide and Brownie badges and pins and other small souvenirs were also shown. Concluding her talk, Mary Jane offered to help other scouts find pen pals.

University Women Study Yugoslavia, Social Studies

Three state officers were nominated and a United Nations workshop held at the meeting of the Maryland State American Association of University Women, held Saturday in Baltimore. Mrs. Aden Everstine, president of the Cumberland Branch AAUW attended.

Dr. Ann Matthews, Salisbury, was nominated second vice president; Mrs. Roger Thomas, Annapolis, treasurer; and Mrs. John Dietz, Silver Spring, recording secretary. The election is to be held at the state meeting which will be held April 9, 10 at Hood College, Frederick.

The workshop consisted of a panel discussion, "Young People Look at the United Nations." The panel was composed of college students and included two Fulbright winners, who now are political science instructors at Johns Hopkins.

Progress reports of state chairmen comprised the third part of the program.

The International Relations group of the Cumberland Branch is to meet tomorrow at the home of Miss Adele Malcolm, Washington Street. Miss Margaret Baker is to lead a discussion on Yugoslavia, using material from a similar discussion on the "Meet the Press" program.

4-H Trail Committees, Programs Are Announced

Eleanor Smith announced her project chairmen for the year, the dates and programs of meetings at the 4-H Trail business session, Saturday. It was held at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The chairmen are Publicity, Sonja Hounshell; pianist, Wanita Heavner; song leader, Elizabeth Murray; Recreation, Shirley Schaidt, Lucille Aaron; Camp Algawa, Nancy McGill, Marie Manley; Fair and Exhibits, Ann Riggleman; Reading, Mary Ann Painter; Club Week, Sandra Hatfield; Clothing, Virginia Shipway, Dessie Mae Buser, Julia Hendricks.

Home Furnishing, Alice Fisher, Joann Kizer; Food and Nutrition, Romona Mauzy, Nancy Vandevort; Health and Safety, Marlene Brings; Public Speaking, Colleen Nelson; Junior Extension Representative, Wilma Vandevort.

Miss Joann Reitz, home demonstration agent, explained the program for the year will be stressing foods, nutrition, clothing, crafts and home management.

She also reported that the county contests include public speaking, a dress review and demonstration contests. They are all to be held in July, which is later than usual. Also in July will be a county campfire.

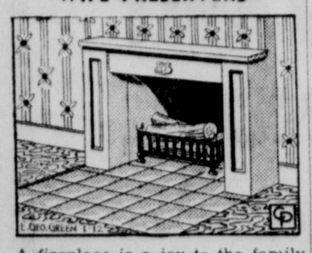

Trail dates and programs for the year are February 6, when plans will be formulated for the observance of National 4-H Week in March; April 3, plans for Camp Algawa; September 6, county achievement program; and November 6, 1955 program.

Members were reminded of the Junior Extension skating party, January 28 at Crystal Park.

After the business session Shirley Schaidt of the Lonaconing club reported on the New Windsor recreation laboratory, November 28 to December 3. She talked of the two particular study groups in which she enrolled, crafts and personality development.

There were 28 girls and leaders at the meeting.

WIFE PRESERVERS

A fireplace is a joy to the family but only if it is safe. Be sure your chimney is well insulated from wood supports of the house; that the hearth is of fireproof clay pile and extends far enough into the room to protect furnishings from sparks, and that there is a shield over the chimney to prevent the roof from igniting.

Auxiliary To Sponsor Suppers

Plans for monthly suppers were formulated and committee reports given at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department, Friday evening at the fire hall. Mrs. Flo Alexander presided.

Members suggested to have afternoon game parties, but it was decided to continue plans for monthly suppers. They will be held the second Thursday of each month, beginning January 14, with a roast beef dinner and dessert, a bake sale also will be held in connection with the supper. The suppers will be from 5 until 7:30 o'clock.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Elizabeth Moody, chaplain; reports were given by Mrs. Leola Knierium, secretary; Mrs. Gladys Burkey, financial; Mrs. Elda Schell, treasurer, and routine business was transacted.

Reporting for the Sick committee, Mrs. Fannie Kemp said that Mrs. Pearl Kotchenreuther is improving; flowers were sent to Mrs. Zellah Habel, who has returned home from Memorial Hospital; Mrs. Sally Ort, Mrs. Emma Youngblood and Mrs. Bessie Shank are ill and Mrs. Agnes Baker hurt her leg in a fall. A collection was taken for flowers for Mrs. Susan Dick.

The Auditing committee report was given by Mrs. Audrie Tase and Mrs. Kemp. The auxiliary authorized placing three pictures taken at the annual dinner in the historian's book. Proceeds from the birthday bank were voted to be used for bus transportation for those going to the state convention in Ocean City this summer.

A prize for the evening was awarded to Mrs. Kemp.

The next meeting will be January 22 with Mrs. Dick and Mrs. Eleanor Bynor as hostesses.

County Girl Receives Award

Eleanor Smith of Allegany County was one of eight girls to receive a national award at the annual conference of the Maryland 4-H Senior Youth Group held in Baltimore, January 7. A member of the Flintstone Club, Miss Smith received her national health award red ribbon. The girls' awards were made by Miss Dorothy Emerson, and the boys', by Mylo Downey.

The conference was held in the Lord Baltimore Hotel and began with the 4-H'ers being divided into groups to pick out the highlights of their projects during the last year, which later were broken down to a special outstanding meeting. These notes were given to a panel to be discussed and made in outline form to assist other clubs in organization and programs. The panel also accepted questions to be discussed and answered.

Henry Holloway Darlington, was elected president. Mrs. Polly Hanst, Oakland, spoke on "Attitudes of Happiness in Dating and Marriage," and the five Maryland International Farm Youth Exchangees held a panel on "Home and Family Life in Our Host Country." Featured were Eleanor Pearce, Baltimore County; Henry Magness, Harford County, and Thomas Giddings, Anne Arundel County, who were IFYEs in 1953. Amy Fry, Howard county and Stewart Young, Carroll county, 1952 IFYEs, served as moderators.

In the evening the 4-H group attended a vesper service directed by the Associated Women of the Maryland Farm Bureau, after which there was a dance.

Thinking Day Plans Are Discussed

Ways of collecting Juliette Low World Friendship fund contributions were discussed and flags of member countries of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts selected by the troops at the meeting of the Juliette Low representatives Saturday. The meeting was at the Girl Scout house with Mrs. Paul Umberger chairman.

Mrs. Umberger led the discussion on ways of securing and presenting the money for the Juliette Low World Friendship fund. She pointed out that contributions are made to this fund each year by the various Girl Scout troops throughout the United States. The fund was established in memory of Juliette Gordon Low, the founder of Girl Scouting in this country, to carry on one phase of scouting in which she was most interested, that of promoting better understanding among the people of the world, through "conferences, gifts and acts of friendship."

Members of some troops reported collection of pennies or nickels, which the girls have saved or earned, has already begun. Others will make their collections during February. At the next meeting, February 6, members of this group will rehearse the ceremony for the in-gathering of the contributions from all the troops, to be held on "Thinking Day."

Twenty-three member countries of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts have been selected for the troops to make small flags of each country. Three countries, Canada, Haiti and Suomi-Finland are the only remaining countries of the association among which troops not having received a flag may choose.

Mary Jane Howell, a member of Troop 13, at Johnson Heights School, who corresponds regularly with pen pals in England, France, Chile and China, told about each. Her English pen pal will represent her country at an international conference of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides at the Girl Scout Chalet in Adelbader, Switzerland, next summer. A coronation souvenir book and scrapbook which Mary Jane received from England were exhibited. Her English friend was also a flag-bearer at a ceremony conducted by Princess Margaret Rose. Girl Guide and Brownie badges and pins and other small souvenirs were also shown. Concluding her talk, Mary Jane offered to help other scouts find pen pals.

A collection was taken for flowers for Mrs. Susan Dick.

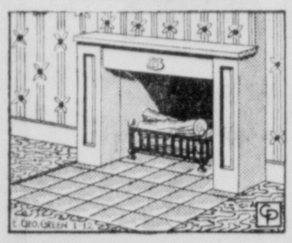

The Auditing committee report was given by Mrs. Audrie Tase and Mrs. Kemp. The auxiliary authorized placing three pictures taken at the annual dinner in the historian's book. Proceeds from the birthday bank were voted to be used for bus transportation for those going to the state convention in Ocean City this summer.

A prize for the evening was awarded to Mrs. Kemp.

The next meeting will be January 22 with Mrs. Dick and Mrs. Eleanor Bynor as hostesses.

Fourteen members attended.

WIFE PRESERVERS

A fireplace is a joy to the family but only if it is safe. Be sure your chimney is well insulated from wood supports of the house; that the hearth is of fireproof clay pile and extends far enough into the room to protect furnishings from sparks, and that there is a shield over the chimney to prevent the roof from igniting.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Distributed By INS)

Applications for Grover Whalen's greeting sinecure form on the right. Grover held the job down for 35 years. The job did the same for him.

There is no salary implicated with the job. Grover came through all investigations with flying vacuums.

There are some emoluments and appurtenances. The official greeter is permitted to keep all the links he can shake out of other fellow's cuffs.

Spats and cane are optional but the gardenia in the lapel is a must. The smile cannot be acquired. You must be born with a silver glove-stretcher in your mouth.

Some of Grover's greatest triumphs were on the spur of the invitation. Gertrude Ederlie, Lindbergh, Rickenbaker, Pershing, MacArthur, Eisenhower, the Dukathlon for Windsor, Churchill and a guy who just happened to be walking by on rainy day.

The postion entails great responsibility as far as the wrist. The guest of the flashlight is given the freedom of the city. Subject to no parking signs, white lines, traffic lights, rent laws, impairing the drinking habits of committees, 3 o'clock closing violations, building restrictions, no pets in elevators, televisions and radios tuned down low, keyhole astronomers, no loitering, the velvet rope, long waiting lists, no ladies served at the bar, this space reserved for bus lines, you're only 19 feet from the fireplug, face the front of the car, sorry, but we're doing this alphabetically, no more than two to a customer, no jaywalking, don't you see that on smoking sign, that's a likely story and that's where you came in.

Secrets For Two

Congress is going to take the atom-mutuality as slow as a bad curve.

Most of the stuff has been stolen anyway so we might as well give 'em the coat-hangers too.

But there are still some secrets we would like to share with the copyright owners.

Not since the event occurred in an 1876 Baltimore election have we discovered who struck Billy Patterson. It was a dirty blow delivered with the back of the hand over a glass of beer. Who knows how old is Anne? Did Grover Whalen wear a homburg before Anthony Eden? And why? What happened to the side-cars that used to kill all the motorcyclists' wives?

What was the name of the middleweight champion who used to fight with a quid of tobacco in his kisser? He was smacked on the chin and swallowed it. The next punch was in the stomach and brought it up again.

What was the percentage of alky in the nerve tonics bought by Kansas gals during prohibition? What's the final status of Christine? Yes or no? What would a scrabble player do if he had to spell a word on the diagonal?

What famous Quaker said, "When about to trade a lame horse wear the broadest hat"? Did you ever stop to figure how much gasoline was left in the hose?

Who knows who makes the clothes that tailors put in their windows? Or the name of the man who ate the first tomato? Did nature ever make a mistake a woman couldn't powder over? Is it against the law to rob a gambling machine that is illegal in the first place?

Who did throw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder? Was Man-O-War pulled in the only race he ever blew? What did Eddie Collins say to Heinie Zimmerman that made Zimm chase him home with the winning run?

What makes a woman buy a hat because it looks good on somebody else?

And last but not final. If we give the Russians the atom secrets will they tell us what makes the commissars confess?

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Distributed By INS)

Applications for Grover Whalen's greeting sinecure form on the right. Grover held the job down for 35 years. The job did the same for him.

There is no salary implicated with the job. Grover came through all investigations with flying vacuums.

There are some emoluments and appurtenances. The official greeter is permitted to keep all the links he can shake out of other fellow's cuffs.

Spats and cane are optional but the gardenia in the lapel is a must. The smile cannot be acquired. You must be born with a silver glove-stretcher in your mouth.

Some of Grover's greatest triumphs were on the spur of the invitation. Gertrude Ederlie, Lindbergh, Rickenbaker, Pershing, MacArthur, Eisenhower, the Dukathlon for Windsor, Churchill and a guy who just happened to be walking by on rainy day.

The postion entails great responsibility as far as the wrist. The guest of the flashlight is given the freedom of the city. Subject to no parking signs, white lines, traffic lights, rent laws, impairing the drinking habits of committees, 3 o'clock closing violations, building restrictions, no pets in elevators, televisions and radios tuned down low, keyhole astronomers, no loitering, the velvet rope, long waiting lists, no ladies served at the bar, this space reserved for bus lines, you're only 19 feet from the fireplug, face the front of the car, sorry, but we're doing this alphabetically, no more than two to a customer, no jaywalking, don't you see that on smoking sign, that's a likely story and that's where you came in.

Secrets For Two

Congress is going to take the atom-mutuality as slow as a bad curve.

Most of the stuff has been stolen anyway so we might as well give 'em the coat-hangers too.

But there are still some secrets we would like to share with the copyright owners.

Not since the event occurred in an 1876 Baltimore election have we discovered who struck Billy Patterson. It was a dirty blow delivered with the back of the hand over a glass of beer. Who knows how old is Anne? Did Grover Whalen wear a homburg before Anthony Eden? And why? What happened to the side-cars that used to kill all the motorcyclists' wives?

What was the name of the middleweight champion who used to fight with a quid of tobacco in his kisser? He was smacked on the chin and swallowed it. The next punch was in the stomach and brought it up again.

What was the percentage of alky in the nerve tonics bought by Kansas gals during prohibition? What's the final status of Christine? Yes or no? What would a scrabble player do if he had to spell a word on the diagonal?

What famous Quaker said, "When about to trade a lame horse wear the broadest hat"? Did you ever stop to figure how much gasoline was left in the hose?

Who knows who makes the clothes that tailors put in their windows? Or the name of the man who ate the first tomato? Did nature ever make a mistake a woman couldn't powder over? Is it against the law to rob a gambling machine that is illegal in the first place?

Who did throw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder? Was Man-O-War pulled in the only race he ever blew? What did Eddie Collins say to Heinie Zimmerman that made Zimm chase him home with the winning run?

What makes a woman buy a hat because it looks good on somebody else?

And last but not final. If we give the Russians the atom secrets will they tell us what makes the commissars confess?

Mrs. Roeder Hits Change Of Phone

Commissioner Lucile Roeder says she cannot approve bills resulting from recent changes in the telephone setup at City Hall.

Mrs. Roeder, under whose departments of streets and public property the bills are paid, said at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council that the bills had not been "authorized or OKd by my department, which must pay the bills, therefore, I cannot O K these bills."

She added she could not approve them because "I do not feel the changes are necessary; one of the changes very definitely impairs the efficiency of the Street Department and Engineering Department and slows down service to citizens."

Mrs. Roeder continued that City Hall budget was trimmed from $9,900 to $6,000 this year and the city engineer's from $45,709 to $37,200. She said both the Mayor and city attorney have no phone expense so both must come from the City Hall budget.

Amounts listed are $19.25 in April, 1952; $69.80 in November, 1953; and $131.92 in December, 1953.

Council Gets Door Bid; Accepts Bid For Pipe

George Construction Company bid $2,793 to repair overhead doors at the Public Safety Building before the Mayor and Council yesterday morning.

As an alternate, the firm submitted a bid of $2,980 for new doors complete with operator and pass door. The bid was referred to Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder for report.

Council accepted the bid of Cumberland Cement and Supply Company of $1,404 for 700 feet of 15 inch terra cotta pipe.

C. W. Welsh Appointed Acting Humane Officer

The Mayor and Council yesterday appointed Charles W. Welsh, 116 Valley Street, as acting humane officer for the city.

Nuzum Hopes To Conserve Park Area

As much of Riverside Park on Greene Street will be conserved as possible during flood control work, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said yesterday.

Nuzum made the statement before the Mayor and Council after submitting a report on progress of the new Johnson Street bridge, bids for the structural steel superstructure of which will be opened by the State Roads Commission on January 19.

Since part of the park is being used for the approaches, Nuzum recommended that city forces, instead of the contractor or others, be used to reset the Cresap monument and remove circular flower beds.

The city has been requested to have the roadway fill in place by June 1 and he has contracted the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractors, on a plan to solve the problem and save the city money. If Albrecht agrees, he added, the area should be ready and cleared by March 1.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said it would take a little time to plan what to do at Riverside and said she would confer with Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, a member of the Park Board. In addition to the physical changes, the project would involve relocation of wiring and lighting, she said.

Nuzum said the SRC expects actual steel erection to begin as soon as Albrecht completes the Industrial Dam and bridge substructure. The contract completion date is October 1 but Albrecht is ahead of schedule and may be finished by late spring, he said.

The State Roads Commission, Nuzum added, expects to have the bridge in place before fall in recognition of the contractor's accelerated progress.

Industrial Promotion Group Reports Balance

The Allegany County Industrial Promotion Committee is closing out its account and turning the balance over to the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Promotion Fund Committee.

Francis A. Kenney, chairman, wrote the Mayor and Council yesterday that the balance in its account is $46.08. The city and county had each contributed $5,000 and the Celanese Corporation of America $200.

Council accepted the report and thanked the committee for its work.

Change In Flood Walls Urged By Planning Unit

The city engineer is seeking information on a proposal to modify plans for flood walls along the Maryland side Potomac river in connection with the flood control project.

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission has asked the change which would substitute a concrete wall for an earthen levee which, it said, would save 12 homes.

Council accepted the report and asked City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum to obtain the information. Nuzum said he had already been in touch with the Corps of Engineers and that a reply is awaited.

The Planning group said according to appraisals made by James A. Perrin, acquisition costs would amount to between $75,000 and $85,000. Even more important than that saving, would be retaining these properties on the tax books, the report said, adding that where municipal improvement can be made without destroying property such a plan should be followed.

The report said as a result of the study it recommended that the flood wall be extended along Water Street to the Kelly Boulevard wall.

The letter of recommendation was signed by Anthony Saeli, secretary.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 99,700,000 gallons compared to 88,760,000 the same period a year ago. The water level at Lake Gordon is three feet nine inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon 35 feet 10 inches below, a drop of about two feet since last week.

George E. Davis, collector, reported tax collections last month totaled $154,721.67 including $109,334.36 in taxes and $43,692.43 in water rents.

The Health Department reported eight communicable diseases, 136 births and 57 deaths last month, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said in his report.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property said the department repaired 24 streets with blacktop; 23 with concrete and made numerous other repairs; and the cleaning department cleared 814 paved streets; 112 paved alleys, 28 catch basins and seven manholes.

Employes will receive checks for the first two-weeks period of the year on Friday.

Rev. C. L. Beard, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, gave the council invocation.

Mrs. Roeder Hits Change Of Phone

Commissioner Lucile Roeder says she cannot approve bills resulting from recent changes in the telephone setup at City Hall.

Mrs. Roeder, under whose departments of streets and public property the bills are paid, said at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council that the bills had not been "authorized or OKd by my department, which must pay the bills, therefore, I cannot O K these bills."

She added she could not approve them because "I do not feel the changes are necessary; one of the changes very definitely impairs the efficiency of the Street Department and Engineering Department and slows down service to citizens."

Mrs. Roeder continued that City Hall budget was trimmed from $9,900 to $6,000 this year and the city engineer's from $45,709 to $37,200. She said both the Mayor and city attorney have no phone expense so both must come from the City Hall budget.

Amounts listed are $19.25 in April, 1952; $69.80 in November, 1953; and $131.92 in December, 1953.

Council Gets Door Bid; Accepts Bid For Pipe

George Construction Company bid $2,793 to repair overhead doors at the Public Safety Building before the Mayor and Council yesterday morning.

As an alternate, the firm submitted a bid of $2,980 for new doors complete with operator and pass door. The bid was referred to Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder for report.

Council accepted the bid of Cumberland Cement and Supply Company of $1,404 for 700 feet of 15 inch terra cotta pipe.

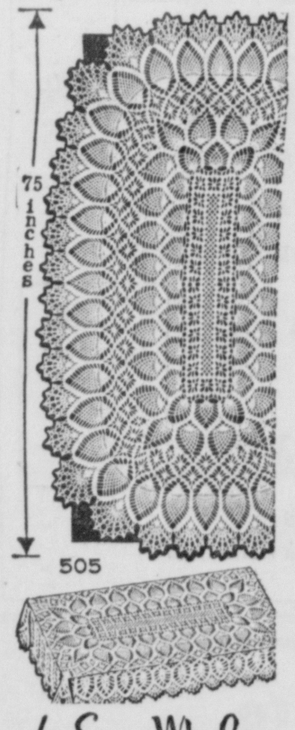

C. W. Welsh Appointed Acting Humane Officer

The Mayor and Council yesterday appointed Charles W. Welsh, 116 Valley Street, as acting humane officer for the city.

Nuzum Hopes To Conserve Park Area

As much of Riverside Park on Greene Street will be conserved as possible during flood control work, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said yesterday.

Nuzum made the statement before the Mayor and Council after submitting a report on progress of the new Johnson Street bridge, bids for the structural steel superstructure of which will be opened by the State Roads Commission on January 19.

Since part of the park is being used for the approaches, Nuzum recommended that city forces, instead of the contractor or others, be used to reset the Cresap monument and remove circular flower beds.

The city has been requested to have the roadway fill in place by June 1 and he has contracted the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractors, on a plan to solve the problem and save the city money. If Albrecht agrees, he added, the area should be ready and cleared by March 1.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said it would take a little time to plan what to do at Riverside and said she would confer with Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, a member of the Park Board. In addition to the physical changes, the project would involve relocation of wiring and lighting, she said.

Nuzum said the SRC expects actual steel erection to begin as soon as Albrecht completes the Industrial Dam and bridge substructure. The contract completion date is October 1 but Albrecht is ahead of schedule and may be finished by late spring, he said.

The State Roads Commission, Nuzum added, expects to have the bridge in place before fall in recognition of the contractor's accelerated progress.

Industrial Promotion Group Reports Balance

The Allegany County Industrial Promotion Committee is closing out its account and turning the balance over to the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Promotion Fund Committee.

Francis A. Kenney, chairman, wrote the Mayor and Council yesterday that the balance in its account is $46.08. The city and county had each contributed $5,000 and the Celanese Corporation of America $200.

Council accepted the report and thanked the committee for its work.

Change In Flood Walls Urged By Planning Unit

The city engineer is seeking information on a proposal to modify plans for flood walls along the Maryland side Potomac river in connection with the flood control project.

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission has asked the change which would substitute a concrete wall for an earthen levee which, it said, would save 12 homes.

Council accepted the report and asked City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum to obtain the information. Nuzum said he had already been in touch with the Corps of Engineers and that a reply is awaited.

The Planning group said according to appraisals made by James A. Perrin, acquisition costs would amount to between $75,000 and $85,000. Even more important than that saving, would be retaining these properties on the tax books, the report said, adding that where municipal improvement can be made without destroying property such a plan should be followed.

The report said as a result of the study it recommended that the flood wall be extended along Water Street to the Kelly Boulevard wall.

The letter of recommendation was signed by Anthony Saeli, secretary.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 99,700,000 gallons compared to 88,760,000 the same period a year ago. The water level at Lake Gordon is three feet nine inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon 35 feet 10 inches below, a drop of about two feet since last week.

George E. Davis, collector, reported tax collections last month totaled $154,721.67 including $109,334.36 in taxes and $43,692.43 in water rents.

The Health Department reported eight communicable diseases, 136 births and 57 deaths last month. Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said in his report.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property said the department repaired 24 streets with blacktop; 23 with concrete and made numerous other repairs; and the cleaning department cleared 814 paved streets; 112 paved alleys, 28 catch basins and seven manholes.

Employes will receive checks for the first two-weeks period of the year on Friday.

Rev. C. L. Beard, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, gave the council invocation.

Piedmont Tops Vikings, 68-43; Frostburg State Wins, 58-50

Lions Capture Fourth In Row, Grab PVC Lead

Glenn Smith Sparks Offensive With 17; Kessel Losers' Ace

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 11 — Coach William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High School Lions roared into sole possession of first place in the Potomac Valley Conference by defeating Petersburg High School Vikings here tonight by the score of 68-43.

The triumph gave the locals a 4-0 record in the 14-school conference while the defeat dropped Petersburg into fourth place with a 4-1 record back of Moorefield and Fort Ashby, tied at 5-1, for the runner-up spot. Piedmont's season record now is 8-1.

The P.V.C. defending champions got off to a flying start and led by the score of 20-6 as the first quarter ended. The Lions were on top 39-15 at the halfway mark and held a 20-point lead at the close of the third stanza, 55-35.

Glenn Smith, son of Evers Smith, one-time Piedmont High and Westvaco ace, sparked the Piedmont attack with 17 points on seven baskets and 3-3 fouls. Bobby Niland and Johnny Jackson had eleven points each, Tommy Miller garnered 10 and George Campbell eight.

Jimmy Kessel, Petersburg guard, amassed a total of 16 points on the second half.

The loss was Petersburg's first in eight field goals, all coming in the conference. The Vikings or Coach Jesse Riggleman now own an overall record of 6 wins and two defeats.

Piedmont won the P.V.C. title last season with a 12-1 record.

The Lions play two more conference games this week, visiting Fort Ashby Wednesday night and playing the Moorefield Yellow Jackets here Friday. Lienups:

Geo. Washington Cops 10th In Row

LEXINGTON, Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—George Washington's seventh-ranked Colonials romped all over Washington and Lee here tonight, 84-53, for their 10th consecutive basketball victory without defeat. It was the sixth Southern Conference triumph for the Colonials.

The Colonials wasted little time in taking the upper hand in the game, and held it throughout. W. & L.'s Generals got only one field goal in the opening period as they fell behind 22 to 4. They did a little better the second quarter, but not nearly enough as G.W. rolled up a 41 to 16 halftime lead and coasted home.

Washington and Lee scored 25 points in the fourth period against G.W's subs, but still couldn't make the score close.

Forward Elliott Karver stole the scoring spotlight from the famed Holup brothers—John and Joe—by dumping in 21 points for G.W.

Grid Rules Body Rejects 22 Ideas

No Major Alterations Expected For 1954

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP) — Twenty-five ideas for changing college football's one-platoon system were considered today by the NCAA Football Rules Committee and 22 were immediately rejected.

The action strengthened a general belief that the committee is in no mood for major alterations in the limited substitution rule adopted last year at St. Petersburg, Fla.

"We took up 25 suggestions for changes in the rules," reported Committee Secretary E.E. Wieman of Denver University.

"There was no support for 22 of the ideas. The others were given to committees for further study."

The committee noted that there was no increase and may have been a decline in player injuries during the 1953 football campaign.

The committee spent most of today's meeting in a review of the one-platoon system. While most members declined comment, they seemed to be generally satisfied with it.

No announcement of rules changes, if any, will be made until after Wednesday's final session of the committee.

Terps Lose, 73-71

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Richmond's Spiders handed Maryland's basketball forces their second straight loss tonight when they pulled away from a 66-66 deadlock to win, 73-71.

With guard Ed Harrison pacing the victory with 18 points, the Spiders won the ballgame at the foul line, where they made good on 23 out of 29 attempts. The Terps hit on 15 out of 19 from the free throw line. In field goals Maryland held a 28-25 edge.

Maryland's Gene Shue turned in another sparkling exhibition. He had 10 field goals and three free throws for 23 points, for individual scoring honors.

To Question Cager

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — Jack Molinas, former Columbia basketball captain and Fort Wayne rookie pro star, today faced further questioning about his betting on Fort Wayne games that resulted in his suspension by the National Basketball Association.

Bronx District Attorney George De Luca said today Molinas will be questioned "Later in the week." He did not elaborate.

Bobcats Hand Potomac State Eighth Defeat

Tommy Kelly Scores 20 As Babcock's Club Bags Second In Row

FROSTBURG, Jan. 11 — Frostburg State Teachers College handed winless Potomac State College of Keyser its eighth defeat tonight on the Beall High School floor by the score of 58-50 in the opening game of the annual series between the schools.

The victory was the second in three days for Coach Kenneth Babcock's Bobcats who defeated Gallaudet College in Washington on Saturday. The Teachers have won two and lost five.

Tommy Kelly, formerly of Central High, Lonaconing, scored 11 points in the first period to help stake the Bobcats to 15-point lead at 22-7 while Bobby Wilson, former Bruce High star, broke the game wide open with four baskets late in the third period and early in the final stanza. Potomac State pulled within three points of the local at 40-37 when Wilson meshed two shots and followed up with two more double-deckers after the fourth quarter got under way.

Kelly was Frostburg's top point-maker with a total of 20 to his credit. He banged in seven fielders and converted six of 15 free throws. Wilson was the runner-up with 11 tallies.

Marvin Kessler, of Brooklyn, N. Y., paced the Potomac scorers with 14 points while Lee Sissleberger of Alexandria, Va. racked up 13.

Orioles' Advance Sale Is 280,594

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles turned the heat on big industry this wintry night and obtained pledges to buy 73,407 admissions for next baseball season.

This brought the advance total in the Orioles' drive to outsell the Milwaukee Braves to 280,594. The Braves in their first season in Milwaukee last year played before 1,826,396, a new National League record.

Clarence W. Miles, president of the Orioles which are replacing the St. Louis Browns in the American League, told representatives of 109 industries at a dinner that his goal is to sell 625,000 admissions by opening day, April 15.

Indiana Wins, 73-67

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 11 (AP) —Indiana University, rated No. 3 nationally in the Associated Press basketball poll, won the 90th game of its traditional intrastate series with Purdue's Boilermakers tonight, 73-67, in easier fashion than the score indicated.

Dick Groat Gets 37 Points As Jets Take Series, 92-66

320 See Old Germans Lose To Washington

By TED TROXELL

Led by the brilliant shooting of All-American Dick Groat, and the great playmaking of "Buddy" Donnelly, the Washington Jets walked over the Cumberland Old Germans, 92-66, last night on the SS. Peter and Paul floor.

The Jets, who also topped the Hermans on Sunday night, then agreed to play them again, as an unfortunate accident caused them to arrive late, showed no effects of the Sunday night ordeal, as the smooth working five steadily increased their lead.

A crowd of 320 paying patrons, 209 adults and 111 students, made their way into the Fayette street gym, and were treated to one of the best basketball attractions ever offered Cumberland cage fans.

Groat Gets 37 Points

Groat, who won All-America honors while performing for Duke University, and who is currently stationed with the Army at Fort Belvoir, Va., scored 14 points in the first half, matched that effort in the third period, then added nine more markers in the final stanza, to finish with a total of 37 tallies, his last field goal coming on a hook shot, just as the final buzzer was sounding.

Tom "Buddy" Donnelly, player-coach of the star-studded Fort Belvoir post five, time and again set up the plays that enabled his "student," Groat, to score, with his well-timed, lightning fast passes catching the outclassed Old Gees off guard.

All but Donnelly, who served as the playmaker of the club, hit in double figures. Leroy Ishman, former Washington Cap cager, and Tom O'Keefe, who also performed with the old Caps of the NBA, scored 19 and 17 points respectively, while 6'8" center Hughie Beins, who took everything off the backboard but the basket, scored 12, most of his field goals bordering on the sensational side.

Bob Pence, after being held to two points in the first half, broke loose in the second half, to wind up as the locals' leading scorer, with seven field goals, and two fouls, for a total of 16 points. John Fox, Roy Lester, and Jim Fahey followed with 15, 10 and 12 tallies, respectively.

Al Andrews Wins Over Joey Klein

Wisconsin Battler Gets 3-0 Decision

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS)—Hard-punching Al Andrews of Superior Wis., won a unanimous ten-round decision over New York's Joey Klein in a fast, cleanly-fought match tonight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena.

Andrews, who owns two upset victories over Chuck Davey, easily outclassed his younger opponent in the bout televised to parts of the nation by Dumont. It was Andrew's 25th victory in 30 professional fights and pushed him farther along toward gaining rank in the top ten welterweights.

Both men usually fight as welterweights, but weighed in over the limit for tonight's battle, Andrews at 150½ pounds and Klein at 149½.

Kentucky Is Victor

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 11 (AP)—Kentucky defeated DePaul, 81-63, tonight to run its unbroken string of basketball victories to ten and strengthen its standing as the nation's No. 1 collegiate power.

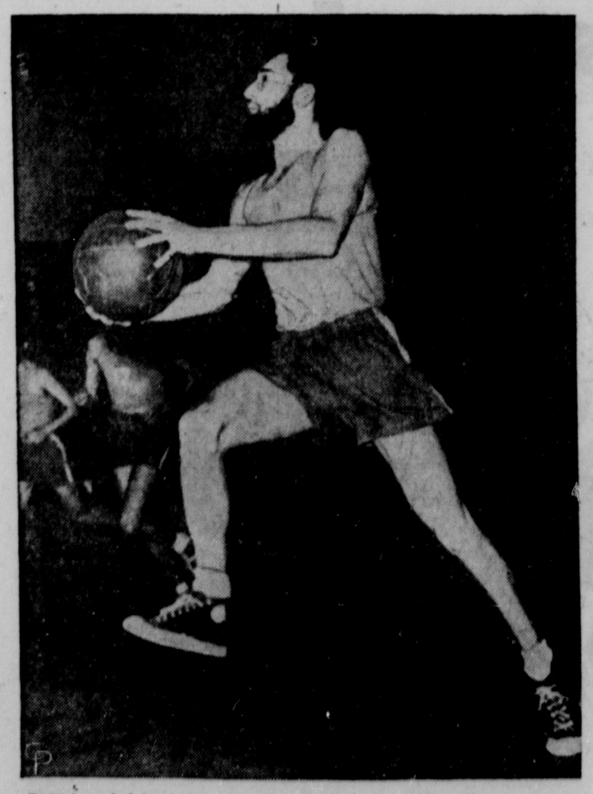

The Demons cut into Kentucky's 16 point lead in the fourth quarter, reducing it to 10 and fighting for an upset, but lacked the weapons to keep moving, even after All-America Cliff Hagan fouled out with about six minutes to play.

Hagan and Frank Ramsey led Kentucky scoring with 22 points apiece.

Lions Capture Fourth In Row, Grab PVC Lead

Glenn Smith Sparks Offensive With 17; Kessel Losers' Ace

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 11 — Coach William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High School Lions roared into sole possession of first place in the Potomac Valley Conference by defeating Petersburg High School Vikings here tonight by the score of 68-43.

The triumph gave the locals a 4-0 record in the 14-school conference while the defeat dropped Petersburg into fourth place with a 4-1 record back of Moorefield and Fort Ashby, tied at 5-1, for the runner-up spot. Piedmont's season record now is 8-1.

The P.V.C. defending champions got off to a flying start and led by the score of 20-6 as the first quarter ended. The Lions were on top 39-15 at the halfway mark and held a 20-point lead at the close of the third stanza, 55-35.

Glenn Smith, son of Evers Smith, one-time Piedmont High and Westvaco ace, sparked the Piedmont attack with 17 points on seven baskets and 3-3 fouls. Bobby Niland and Johnny Jackson had eleven points each, Tommy Miller garnered 10 and George Campbell eight.

Jimmy Kessel, Petersburg guard, amassed a total of 16 points on the second half.

The loss was Petersburg's first in eight field goals, all coming in the conference. The Vikings or Coach Jesse Riggleman now own an overall record of 6 wins and two defeats.

Piedmont won the P.V.C. title last season with a 12-1 record.

The Lions play two more conference games this week, visiting Fort Ashby Wednesday night and playing the Moorefield Yellow Jackets here Friday. Lienups:

Geo. Washington Cops 10th In Row

LEXINGTON, Va., Jan. 11 — George Washington's seventh-ranked Colonials romped all over Washington and Lee here tonight, 84-53, for their 10th consecutive basketball victory without defeat. It was the sixth Southern Conference triumph for the Colonials.

The Colonials wasted little time in taking the upper hand in the game, and held it throughout. W. & L.'s Generals got only one field goal in the opening period as they fell behind 22 to 4. They did a little better the second quarter, but not nearly enough as G.W. rolled up a 41 to 16 halftime lead and coasted home.

Washington and Lee scored 25 points in the fourth period against G.W's subs, but still couldn't make the score close.

Forward Elliott Karver stole the scoring spotlight from the famed Holup brothers—John and Joe—by dumping in 21 points for G.W.

No Major Alterations Expected For 1954

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 11 — Twenty-five ideas for changing college football's one-platoon system were considered today by the NCAA Football Rules Committee and 22 were immediately rejected.

The action strengthened a general belief that the committee is in no mood for major alterations in the limited substitution rule adopted last year at St. Petersburg, Fla.

"We took up 25 suggestions for changes in the rules," reported Committee Secretary E.E. Wieman of Denver University.

"There was no support for 22 of the ideas. The others were given to committees for further study."

The committee noted that there was no increase and may have been a decline in player injuries during the 1953 football campaign.

The committee spent most of today's meeting in a review of the one-platoon system. While most members declined comment, they seemed to be generally satisfied with it.

Terps Lose, 73-71

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 11 —Richmond's Spiders handed Maryland's basketball forces their second straight loss tonight when they pulled away from a 66-66 deadlock to win, 73-71.

With guard Ed Harrison pacing the victory with 18 points, the Spiders won the ballgame at the foul line, where they made good on 23 out of 29 attempts. The Terps hit on 15 out of 19 from the free throw line. In field goals Maryland held a 28-25 edge.

Maryland's Gene Shue turned in another sparkling exhibition. He had 10 field goals and three free throws for 23 points, for individual scoring honors.

To Question Cager

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 — Jack Molinas, former Columbia basketball captain and Fort Wayne rookie pro star, today faced further questioning about his betting on Fort Wayne games that resulted in his suspension by the National Basketball Association.

Bronx District Attorney George De Luca said today Molinas will be questioned "Later in the week." He did not elaborate.

Bobcats Hand Potomac State Eighth Defeat

Tommy Kelly Scores 20 As Babcock's Club Bags Second In Row

FROSTBURG, Jan. 11 — Frostburg State Teachers College handed winless Potomac State College of Keyser its eighth defeat tonight on the Beall High School floor by the score of 58-50 in the opening game of the annual series between the schools.

The victory was the second in three days for Coach Kenneth Babcock's Bobcats who defeated Gallaudet College in Washington on Saturday. The Teachers have won two and lost five.

Tommy Kelly, formerly of Central High, Lonaconing, scored 11 points in the first period to help stake the Bobcats to 15-point lead at 22-7 while Bobby Wilson, former Bruce High star, broke the game wide open with four baskets late in the third period and early in the final stanza. Potomac State pulled within three points of the local at 40-37 when Wilson meshed two shots and followed up with two more double-deckers after the fourth quarter got under way.

Kelly was Frostburg's top point-maker with a total of 20 to his credit. He banged in seven fielders and converted six of 15 free throws. Wilson was the runner-up with 11 tallies.

Marvin Kessler, of Brooklyn, N. Y., paced the Potomac scorers with 14 points while Lee Sissleberger of Alexandria, Va. racked up 13.

Orioles' Advance Sale Is 280,594

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 — The Baltimore Orioles turned the heat on big industry this wintry night and obtained pledges to buy 73,407 admissions for next baseball season.

This brought the advance total in the Orioles' drive to outsell the Milwaukee Braves to 280,594. The Braves in their first season in Milwaukee last year played before 1,826,396, a new National League record.

Clarence W. Miles, president of the Orioles which are replacing the St. Louis Browns in the American League, told representatives of 109 industries at a dinner that his goal is to sell 625,000 admissions by opening day, April 15.

Indiana Wins, 73-67

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 11 —Indiana University, rated No. 3 nationally in the Associated Press basketball poll, won the 90th game of its traditional intrastate series with Purdue's Boilermakers tonight, 73-67, in easier fashion than the score indicated.

Dick Groat Gets 37 Points As Jets Take Series, 92-66

By TED TROXELL

Led by the brilliant shooting of All-American Dick Groat, and the great playmaking of "Buddy" Donnelly, the Washington Jets walked over the Cumberland Old Germans, 92-66, last night on the SS. Peter and Paul floor.

The Jets, who also topped the Hermans on Sunday night, then agreed to play them again, as an unfortunate accident caused them to arrive late, showed no effects of the Sunday night ordeal, as the smooth working five steadily increased their lead.

Groat Gets 37 Points

Groat, who won All-America honors while performing for Duke University, and who is currently stationed with the Army at Fort Belvoir, Va., scored 14 points in the first half, matched that effort in the third period, then added nine more markers in the final stanza, to finish with a total of 37 tallies, his last field goal coming on a hook shot, just as the final buzzer was sounding.

Tom "Buddy" Donnelly, player-coach of the star-studded Fort Belvoir post five, time and again set up the plays that enabled his "student," Groat, to score, with his well-timed, lightning fast passes catching the outclassed Old Gees off guard.

All but Donnelly, who served as the playmaker of the club, hit in double figures. Leroy Ishman, former Washington Cap cager, and Tom O'Keefe, who also performed with the old Caps of the NBA, scored 19 and 17 points respectively, while 6'8" center Hughie Beins, who took everything off the backboard but the basket, scored 12, most of his field goals bordering on the sensational side.

Bob Pence, after being held to two points in the first half, broke loose in the second half, to wind up as the locals' leading scorer, with seven field goals, and two fouls, for a total of 16 points. John Fox, Roy Lester, and Jim Fahey followed with 15, 10 and 12 tallies, respectively.

Wisconsin Battler Gets 3-0 Decision

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS)—Hard-punching Al Andrews of Superior Wis., won a unanimous ten-round decision over New York's Joey Klein in a fast, cleanly-fought match tonight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena.

Andrews, who owns two upset victories over Chuck Davey, easily outclassed his younger opponent in the bout televised to parts of the nation by Dumont. It was Andrew's 25th victory in 30 professional fights and pushed him farther along toward gaining rank in the top ten welterweights.

Both men usually fight as welterweights, but weighed in over the limit for tonight's battle, Andrews at 150½ pounds and Klein at 149½.

Kentucky Is Victor

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 11 — Kentucky defeated DePaul, 81-63, tonight to run its unbroken string of basketball victories to ten and strengthen its standing as the nation's No. 1 collegiate power.

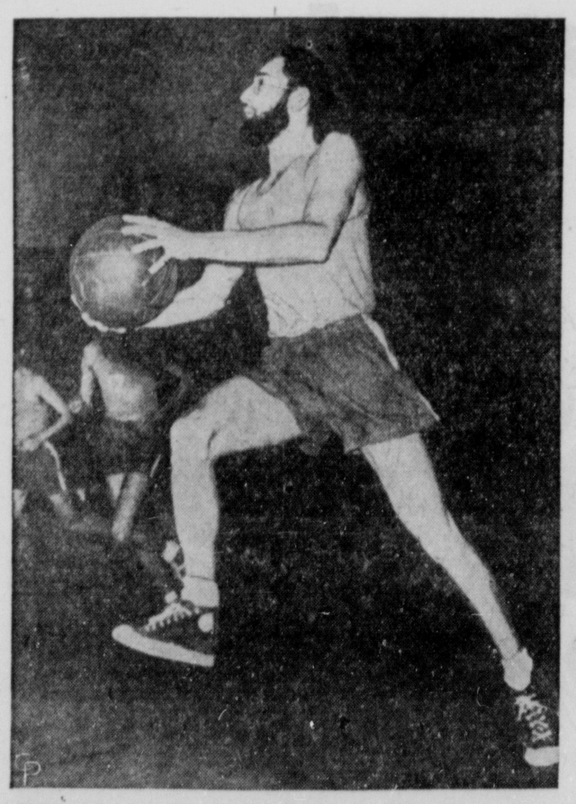

The Demons cut into Kentucky's 16 point lead in the fourth quarter, reducing it to 10 and fighting for an upset, but lacked the weapons to keep moving, even after All-America Cliff Hagan fouled out with about six minutes to play.

Bruce Invades Fort Hill, Allegany Engages Beall In Frostburg

LaSalle Plays Bedford Quint Here Tonight

Valley High Visits Mt. Savage; Ridgeley Hosts Keyser Cagers

Two of the three undefeated basketball teams in the tri-state area will face important tests tonight when Bruce High's Bulldogs invade Fort Hill to tackle the Sentinels and Allegany High's Campers do battle with Beall High's Mountaineers at Frostburg.

Both Bruce and Allegany will be putting 8-0 records on the line in these contests. Both games are set for 8 o'clock.

Allegany's defending champions launched their W.M.I. League campaign Friday with a 67-29 romp over Mt. Savage while Bruce took the measure of Beall in Westernport, 72-49.

Bruce Conceded Edge

Fort Hill, defeated by Valley on Friday at Lonaconing, 51-45, battled Bruce's powerful team of last season on even terms by winning the contest here but whether the Sentinels can stop the current Bulldogs who have averaged 73.6 points a game remains to be seen. LaSalle beat Fort Hill on the latter's court, 42-31, after absorbing 73-40 and 71-48 beatings at the hands of Bruce and Allegany. These results would tend to give Coach Augie Eichhorn's club the edge in tonight's encounter. The Sentinels have won five and lost three.

Allegany is conceded the edge over Beall (5-2) which owns a 5-2 record, including a W.M.I. defeat at the hands of Bruce.

Officials for tonight's games are: Bob Pence and "Tack" Clark at Fort Hill; Joe Stanislawczyk and Bill Hahn at Frostburg and Eddie Diehl and Joe Wagner at Mt. Savage.

Parsons High, the third unbeaten team in the area, will be shooting for its seventh consecutive win tonight when it opposes Philippi High on the latter's court.

Bedford At La Salle

The second game scheduled for a local court tonight brings together Bedford High's Bisons and LaSalle's Explorers on SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock.

Coach Norman Geatz's quint has won its last two games from Fort Hill and Ridgeley, now owns a 6-2 record and looms as the favorite over the Pennsylvanians tonight.

Brother Thomas, director of athletics at LaSalle, last night announced that Jim Roby and Lou Baker will officiate. LaSalle's Jayvees will play Bedford's junior varsity team in the prelim at 7 o'clock.

Bedford, coached by Bob Andrews, has lost its first six games of the season.

Action in the Potomac Valley Conference finds Keyser High's Golden Tornado engaging the Blackhawks at Ridgeley, Franklin at Moorefield and Capon Bridge at Wardensville.

Eagles Seek 8th Win

Wayne Boor's Fort Ashby Eagles go after victory No. 8 when they collide with the Pirates at Paw Paw High School.

Odds On Charles May Soar To 5-1

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, grooming for a heavyweight title bout with champion Rocky Marciano, was a 3-1 favorite today to whip Bob Satterfield in their Chicago Stadium 10-rounder Wednesday night.

Both fighters have completed heavy drills for the nationally televised scrap.

The odds on Charles may go as high as 5-1, although some strategists believe these are out of line since Satterfield is recognized as one of the hardest punchers in the business.

Satterfield has won his last four fights by knockouts, three of them within the first two rounds. In 32 victories he has scored 25 kayoes. In 14 defeats he has been knocked out nine times.

Miller Makes Reply To Wiener's Blast

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The National Boxing Association said today it withdrew its proposed suspension of light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore because Moore proved he had not violated NBA rules.

Col. Harvey L. Miller, the NBA's executive secretary, said that "if anyone can prove Moore has violated the rules, we certainly will suspend him."

Miller was replying to a blast from Frank Wiener of the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission who threatened to recommend that Pennsylvania quit the NBA unless Moore is suspended and his title vacated.

The NBA official explained that Moore and his manager, Charley Johnston, pointed out at a meeting in Miami recently that the NBA regulations provide that a title be vacated if the champ does not defend it within six months but only if "a suitable opponent, promoter and purse can be found."

And, Miller added, "Moore said that no promoter for a Johnson-Moore fight has been found."

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS) — Idle thoughts on a cold day . . . that new business machine which can translate Russian into English in a few seconds is wonderful . . . but we are not going to go overboard on it until we hear it translate a Branch Rickey effusion . . . or put Mushky Jackson's pure Bronxese into English . . . those will be real tests. . .

Pancho Segura . . . the little Ecuadorian tennis pro . . . never had it so good . . . $2,500 for two nights' play in New York . . . and $4,000 more for two nights in Philadelphia . . . that's far more than he ever made as an amateur.

And we like tennis promoter-player Jack Kramer's remark that teaching tennis is a racket . . . because "there are only a few things you can teach anybody about tennis . . . the rest the player must learn for himself . . ."

Steeplechasing will get much-needed shot in the arm from international event to be staged at Belmont Park this year with three entries each from Ireland, England and France . . . but punters wouldn't care if there never was another jumping event . . .

Rocky Marciano's manager . . . Al Weill . . . will make decision about Rocky's next fight after Ezzard Charles-Bob Satterfield battle tomorrow . . . Weill would like to see Charles score a convincing knockout to fatten a summer gate with the champ . . .

We almost broke down and wept when we read the mournful plaint of Howard Cann . . . New York University's basketball coach . . . that the cage game's class has deteriorated in this area because the new Eastern Collegiate Conference code has made it too tough on students . . .

Brother Cann further avers basketball scholarships have been cut down . . . what this means is that the cage goons from this area now will follow their football brethren south and west . . . where they may find a college more "reasonable" and "liberal."

We note that there are 2,500 pure bred dogs entered for the annual Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show at Madison Square Garden next month . . . and you may expect the usual number of squawks from owners of non-prize winners . . . the dogs themselves never seem to mind missing a blue ribbon.

Reminds us of the time a New York sports editor entered a Great Dane Max Schmeling had given him . . . he was just another mutt . . . but to the sports editor's amused surprise the dog won a ribbon . . .

And, of course, there was the famous occasion when a wealthy joker polished up an old street car horse . . . by Trolley Car out of Car Barn . . . which also won a ribbon . . . selah . . .

John W. Farrell, Former Bowie Track President, Dies

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — John W. Farrell, controversial figure in a squabble that led to sale of Bowie race track, died today in Mercy Hospital after collapsing on a downtown street corner near his law office. He was 57.

Farrell was elected president of Bowie in 1948 after the death of his uncle, Joseph, who was one of the investors who built the Southern Maryland track in 1914.

Mrs. Josephine O'Hara led a group of stockholders in voting Farrell out of office in 1951. Farrell retaliated by forcing the track into receivership and the argument was settled by selling the track to a syndicate headed by Donald Lillis of New York.

The Farrell and O'Hara families were principal owners of Marlboro, a Maryland half mile track, and Thorncliffe in Canada, in addition to Bowie.

Ints Will Accept Richmond, Havana

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (AP)—The International League will meet in New York tomorrow to accept officially Richmond and Havana as new members of the eight-club circuit.

Havana's acceptance hinged on the Richmond situation that was clarified last week when the Richmond City Council approved leasing the ball park to owner Harry Seibold and a group of men who pledged $200,000 to assure park improvements.

Havana and Richmond replace Springfield, Mass., and Baltimore. Baltimore moved into the American League.

Kentucky Leads Basketball Poll For Third Week

Dukes Trail By 34, Hoosiers Are Third

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — The nation's basketball experts are pretty well agreed on the first five teams in the collegiate rankings—but from there on anything, or anyone, goes.

For the third straight week Kentucky earned the No. 1 slot today in the weekly Associated Press basketball ranking poll of sports writers and broadcasters. The next four in line were Duquesne, Indiana, Oklahoma A. and M., and Western Kentucky. That's exactly the way they were rated a week ago, and the top three have held their places even longer.

Further down in the listings, the order again was reshuffled as a couple of well-regarded teams — Minnesota, for instance — were knocked off and some others earned support as they kept on winning.

Dukes Trail By 34

Kentucky's Wildcats, who have won nine straight games, were listed first on 25 of the 90 votes cast and second on 29, polled a total of 734 points on the 10-9-8-etc. scoring system. Duquesne, with only 17 first place votes but a heavy count for second and third, trailed by only 34 points in the closest vote so far between them.

In its only game last week, Kentucky racked up Georgia Tech by a 105-53 score.

Duquesne whipped St. Francis (Pa.) 94-64 for its 13th straight victory while once-beaten Indiana belted Minnesota temporarily out of the Big Ten race with a 71-63 decision. The result dropped Minnesota's Gophers from sixth to tenth in the national rankings.

Like Kentucky and Duquesne, three other teams in the first ten this week enjoy unbeaten records. Western Kentucky has won 14 games and Holy Cross and George Washington nine each.

Colonials Are Seventh

Holy Cross moved up one notch to take over sixth place from Minnesota and George Washington jumped from a 12th place tie into seventh as the Colonials won impressively from Georgetown and Virginia Tech. Oklahoma City and Duke exchanged eighth and ninth places, with the Oklahomans moving just a few points ahead.

Wampler Is Los Angeles Open Victor

Indianapolis Golfer Has 281, Cops $4,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP) — Newcomer Fred Wampler of Indianapolis fought off a case of nerves and mounting challenges today and won the $20,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament, shooting a last round 75 for a 72 hole score of 281.

The victory for the 30-year-old golfer was worth $4,000 and marked his first triumph since turning professional in 1950.

Wampler, who won the national collegiate championship in 1950 as a student at Purdue University, gave his backers a scare but mustered his nerves to win the rich event by one stroke with a 72 hole score that was three strokes under par.

Harbert, Barber Tied

Tied for second at 282 were Chick Harbert, the old pro from Northville, Mich., who forged up from the rear in the final round with a 69, and little Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., who cashed into the runner up money with a dramatic birdie four on the 18th green.

Tied at third place at 283 were Peter Thomson, Australian Open champion, with a 66; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., 72; Ed (Porky) Oliver of Palm Springs, 71; Young Bud Holscher, Santa Monica, Cal., 71, and Bruce Cudd, of Portland, low amateur in the field with a brilliant 67.

Barber and Harbert collected $2,050 apiece.

Wampler, a young man with a frame and a game that reminds you of Ben Hogan, started offf with a five stroke lead over Hawkins, Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., and Bill Nary of Tucson, Ariz., the leader through the first two rounds.

Wampler was paired with Hawkins and with Barber, who was six shots off the pace.

Reds Sign Hurlers

CINCINNATI, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs today put the signed contracts of two right-handed pitchers into the files with 10 previously returned 1954 agreements.

Howie Judson, 27, and Bob Kelly, 26, will attempt to give Manager Birdie Tebbetts much-needed mound support.

BASEBALL RUNS IN THE FAMILY

Day To Address Brunswick High Soccer Champs

Rotary Club Is Host At Dinner Jan. 14

Roger X. Day, a member of the Beall High School faculty of Frostburg, will be guest speaker to the members of the Brunswick High soccer team Thursday evening, January 14th, in Brunswick, Md.

The Rotary Club of Brunswick will be host to the members of the soccer team at a dinner meeting to be held in the B. & O. Y.M.C.A. The occasion is in celebration of the Brunswick High team winning the county championship, their first county triumph in the last twenty years.

Day was assistant principal at Brunswick High from 1914 to 1917 and during this time coached both soccer and baseball at the high school. He was the coach of the first soccer team organized in the school there and the soccer boys copped the county championship for the first three consecutive years.

In 1923, while Day was principal of the Brunswick school, he was also coach of the team that played Barton High of Allegany County at Hancock for the State championship. This game is remembered by all participants and spectators as the game that ended in a 2-2 tie at regular time and then went on for 58 minutes overtime, with Barton finally winning, 3-2.

Day, in speaking to the Rotarians and the soccer player, will use as his theme, "Soccer—Past and Present". Harwood Watson, president of the Brunswick Rotary Club and a member of one of the early champion teams coached by Day, will preside at the regular meeting of the Club and introduce the speaker.

College Cager Injured, Falls Down Icy Steps

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Jan. 11 (AP) — Western Kentucky College's basketball ace, Tom Marshall, suffered severe back and leg bruises when he slipped and fell down a flight of 15 icy steps last night.

The team physician said there is a fair chance the All-America candidate will be in condition to play against Dayton University Wednesday night.

Marshall has averaged 25 points a game for Western's Hilltoppers, ranked fifth nationally and winner of 14 straight games, currently the longest major college record of wins without a defeat.

Marshall slipped when he emerged from a dormitory. He did not tell anyone of his injury until he was noticed walking with a pronounced limp.

Pennsylvania Threatens To Withdraw From N.B.A.

Frank Wiener Urges Moore's Suspension

BY RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11 (AP) — Chairman Frank Wiener of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission said today he would recommend his state quit the National Boxing Association unless light heavyweight champion Archie Moore is suspended and his title vacated.

Wiener, in addition to charging that the NBA lacked "guts" in handling Moore and his manager Charley Johnston, lashed out at unlimited boxing television as the death of the sport. He urged the NBA to sit down with sponsors and work out a program for televised boxing as the NCAA did for college football.

Says TV Kills Boxing

"We've got to convert the fireside seat back to the ringside seat or we'll dry up our talent, kill the small promoter and ruin boxing," Wiener said. He contended that one or at most, two TV-boxing shows a week were plenty.

Wiener said he and his fellow commissioners, George Jones of Williamsport, Pa., and John Holihan of McKeesport, Pa., would meet Jan. 26, the day before the scheduled Moore-Maxim title fight in Miami.

"At that time, I'll present a resolution recommending that Pennsylvania withdraw from the NBA and operate as an independent in boxing as it did years ago. New York operates alone and may be they're pretty smart at that. Jones and Holihan feel the same way I do about the situation."

Refers To Ultimatum

The commissioner referred to the NBA's ultimatum to Moore and his manager, Charley Johnston, to sign for a bout with the number one contender, Harold Johnson of Philadelphia by Dec. 24, or be suspended and have the title vacated.

"Moore and Johnston did not do as they were ordered to do. The NBA should have the guts to carry out its threat. Johnston's lame excuse that he couldn't get any promoter to put up $100,000 for a Moore-Johnson fight is ridiculous. I don't believe, and I doubt if anyone in boxing believes, Moore is getting that kind of money for the Maxim fight," Wiener said.

Hogan Award Winner To Be Named Jan. 21

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A new golf trophy, to be known as the Ben Hogan award, will be presented for the first time at the Metropolitan Golf Writers dinner in New York, Jan. 21.

The award will be given to "a person who has overcome a handicap in order to play golf and thus has proved an inspiration to others."

In future years it is planned to conduct a poll of the golf writers of the United States to determine the winner.

Hogan, recently named athlete of the year for 1953 in the Associated Press poll, recovered from a near-fatal automobile accident in 1949 and made an amazing comeback by winning the National Open title three of the next four years.

Ben Hogan Earns $10,000 Belt As Top Pro Athlete

Roy Campanella 2nd, Ted Williams Third

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP) —Ben Hogan, Texas golfer who swept the U.S. and British Open championships and the Augusta Masters in 1953, today won the Ray Hickok $10,000 belt as "professional athlete of the year."

Hogan's decisive triumph in the casters was announced at tonight's annual Rochester Press-Radio Club dinner for the infantile paralysis fund. Hogan was not present to accept the award.

The 41-year-old golf wizard won three monthly ballots in '53, April, June and July to coincide with his important triumphs. He received 51 first place votes among the 93 ballots and a total of 201 points on a 3-2-1 point basis.

Hogan became the fourth winner of the award, first given to Phil Rizzuto for 1950. Allie Reynolds, also of the New York Yankees was honored in 1951 and heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano took the '52 prize.

Roy Campanella, Brooklyn catcher who was voted most valuable player in the National League for the second time in three years, finished second to Hogan with 21 firsts and 102 points.

Ted Williams' brilliant performance for the Boston Red Sox after his return from Korea won third place with seven firsts and 53 points.

John Buckley, Fight Manager, Collapses

BOSTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Johnny Buckley, veteran boxing manager who handled such fighters as Jack Sharkey, Ernie Schaaf, Andy Callahan and Johnny Vacca, collapsed from exhaustion in today's storm and is in a critical condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Buckley is currently managing Joe Rindone, Norman Hayes and Paul Pender.

Bruce Invades Fort Hill, Allegany Engages Beall In Frostburg

LaSalle Plays Bedford Quint Here Tonight

Valley High Visits Mt. Savage; Ridgeley Hosts Keyser Cagers

Two of the three undefeated basketball teams in the tri-state area will face important tests tonight when Bruce High's Bulldogs invade Fort Hill to tackle the Sentinels and Allegany High's Campers do battle with Beall High's Mountaineers at Frostburg.

Both Bruce and Allegany will be putting 8-0 records on the line in these contests. Both games are set for 8 o'clock.

Allegany's defending champions launched their W.M.I. League campaign Friday with a 67-29 romp over Mt. Savage while Bruce took the measure of Beall in Westernport, 72-49.

Bruce Conceded Edge

Fort Hill, defeated by Valley on Friday at Lonaconing, 51-45, battled Bruce's powerful team of last season on even terms by winning the contest here but whether the Sentinels can stop the current Bulldogs who have averaged 73.6 points a game remains to be seen. LaSalle beat Fort Hill on the latter's court, 42-31, after absorbing 73-40 and 71-48 beatings at the hands of Bruce and Allegany. These results would tend to give Coach Augie Eichhorn's club the edge in tonight's encounter. The Sentinels have won five and lost three.

Allegany is conceded the edge over Beall (5-2) which owns a 5-2 record, including a W.M.I. defeat at the hands of Bruce.

Officials for tonight's games are: Bob Pence and "Tack" Clark at Fort Hill; Joe Stanislawczyk and Bill Hahn at Frostburg and Eddie Diehl and Joe Wagner at Mt. Savage.

Parsons High, the third unbeaten team in the area, will be shooting for its seventh consecutive win tonight when it opposes Philippi High on the latter's court.

Bedford At La Salle

The second game scheduled for a local court tonight brings together Bedford High's Bisons and LaSalle's Explorers on SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock.

Coach Norman Geatz's quint has won its last two games from Fort Hill and Ridgeley, now owns a 6-2 record and looms as the favorite over the Pennsylvanians tonight.

Brother Thomas, director of athletics at LaSalle, last night announced that Jim Roby and Lou Baker will officiate. LaSalle's Jayvees will play Bedford's junior varsity team in the prelim at 7 o'clock.

Bedford, coached by Bob Andrews, has lost its first six games of the season.

Action in the Potomac Valley Conference finds Keyser High's Golden Tornado engaging the Blackhawks at Ridgeley, Franklin at Moorefield and Capon Bridge at Wardensville.

Eagles Seek 8th Win

Wayne Boor's Fort Ashby Eagles go after victory No. 8 when they collide with the Pirates at Paw Paw High School.

Odds On Charles May Soar To 5-1

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, grooming for a heavyweight title bout with champion Rocky Marciano, was a 3-1 favorite today to whip Bob Satterfield in their Chicago Stadium 10-rounder Wednesday night.

Both fighters have completed heavy drills for the nationally televised scrap.

The odds on Charles may go as high as 5-1, although some strategists believe these are out of line since Satterfield is recognized as one of the hardest punchers in the business.

Satterfield has won his last four fights by knockouts, three of them within the first two rounds. In 32 victories he has scored 25 kayoes. In 14 defeats he has been knocked out nine times.

Miller Makes Reply To Wiener's Blast

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The National Boxing Association said today it withdrew its proposed suspension of light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore because Moore proved he had not violated NBA rules.

Col. Harvey L. Miller, the NBA's executive secretary, said that "if anyone can prove Moore has violated the rules, we certainly will suspend him."

Miller was replying to a blast from Frank Wiener of the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission who threatened to recommend that Pennsylvania quit the NBA unless Moore is suspended and his title vacated.

The NBA official explained that Moore and his manager, Charley Johnston, pointed out at a meeting in Miami recently that the NBA regulations provide that a title be vacated if the champ does not defend it within six months but only if "a suitable opponent, promoter and purse can be found."

And, Miller added, "Moore said that no promoter for a Johnson-Moore fight has been found."

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS) — Idle thoughts on a cold day . . . that new business machine which can translate Russian into English in a few seconds is wonderful . . . but we are not going to go overboard on it until we hear it translate a Branch Rickey effusion . . . or put Mushky Jackson's pure Bronxese into English . . . those will be real tests. . .

Pancho Segura . . . the little Ecuadorian tennis pro . . . never had it so good . . . $2,500 for two nights' play in New York . . . and $4,000 more for two nights in Philadelphia . . . that's far more than he ever made as an amateur.

And we like tennis promoter-player Jack Kramer's remark that teaching tennis is a racket . . . because "there are only a few things you can teach anybody about tennis . . . the rest the player must learn for himself . . ."

Steeplechasing will get much-needed shot in the arm from international event to be staged at Belmont Park this year with three entries each from Ireland, England and France . . . but punters wouldn't care if there never was another jumping event . . .

Rocky Marciano's manager . . . Al Weill . . . will make decision about Rocky's next fight after Ezzard Charles-Bob Satterfield battle tomorrow . . . Weill would like to see Charles score a convincing knockout to fatten a summer gate with the champ . . .

We almost broke down and wept when we read the mournful plaint of Howard Cann . . . New York University's basketball coach . . . that the cage game's class has deteriorated in this area because the new Eastern Collegiate Conference code has made it too tough on students . . .

Brother Cann further avers basketball scholarships have been cut down . . . what this means is that the cage goons from this area now will follow their football brethren south and west . . . where they may find a college more "reasonable" and "liberal."

We note that there are 2,500 pure bred dogs entered for the annual Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show at Madison Square Garden next month . . . and you may expect the usual number of squawks from owners of non-prize winners . . . the dogs themselves never seem to mind missing a blue ribbon.

Reminds us of the time a New York sports editor entered a Great Dane Max Schmeling had given him . . . he was just another mutt . . . but to the sports editor's amused surprise the dog won a ribbon . . .

And, of course, there was the famous occasion when a wealthy joker polished up an old street car horse . . . by Trolley Car out of Car Barn . . . which also won a ribbon . . . selah . . .

John W. Farrell, Former Bowie Track President, Dies

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — John W. Farrell, controversial figure in a squabble that led to sale of Bowie race track, died today in Mercy Hospital after collapsing on a downtown street corner near his law office. He was 57.

Farrell was elected president of Bowie in 1948 after the death of his uncle, Joseph, who was one of the investors who built the Southern Maryland track in 1914.

Mrs. Josephine O'Hara led a group of stockholders in voting Farrell out of office in 1951. Farrell retaliated by forcing the track into receivership and the argument was settled by selling the track to a syndicate headed by Donald Lillis of New York.

The Farrell and O'Hara families were principal owners of Marlboro, a Maryland half mile track, and Thorncliffe in Canada, in addition to Bowie.

Ints Will Accept Richmond, Havana

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (AP)—The International League will meet in New York tomorrow to accept officially Richmond and Havana as new members of the eight-club circuit.

Havana's acceptance hinged on the Richmond situation that was clarified last week when the Richmond City Council approved leasing the ball park to owner Harry Seibold and a group of men who pledged $200,000 to assure park improvements.

Havana and Richmond replace Springfield, Mass., and Baltimore. Baltimore moved into the American League.

Kentucky Leads Basketball Poll For Third Week

Dukes Trail By 34, Hoosiers Are Third

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — The nation's basketball experts are pretty well agreed on the first five teams in the collegiate rankings—but from there on anything, or anyone, goes.

For the third straight week Kentucky earned the No. 1 slot today in the weekly Associated Press basketball ranking poll of sports writers and broadcasters. The next four in line were Duquesne, Indiana, Oklahoma A. and M., and Western Kentucky. That's exactly the way they were rated a week ago, and the top three have held their places even longer.

Further down in the listings, the order again was reshuffled as a couple of well-regarded teams — Minnesota, for instance — were knocked off and some others earned support as they kept on winning.

Dukes Trail By 34

Kentucky's Wildcats, who have won nine straight games, were listed first on 25 of the 90 votes cast and second on 29, polled a total of 734 points on the 10-9-8-etc. scoring system. Duquesne, with only 17 first place votes but a heavy count for second and third, trailed by only 34 points in the closest vote so far between them.

In its only game last week, Kentucky racked up Georgia Tech by a 105-53 score.

Duquesne whipped St. Francis (Pa.) 94-64 for its 13th straight victory while once-beaten Indiana belted Minnesota temporarily out of the Big Ten race with a 71-63 decision. The result dropped Minnesota's Gophers from sixth to tenth in the national rankings.

Like Kentucky and Duquesne, three other teams in the first ten this week enjoy unbeaten records. Western Kentucky has won 14 games and Holy Cross and George Washington nine each.

Colonials Are Seventh

Holy Cross moved up one notch to take over sixth place from Minnesota and George Washington jumped from a 12th place tie into seventh as the Colonials won impressively from Georgetown and Virginia Tech. Oklahoma City and Duke exchanged eighth and ninth places, with the Oklahomans moving just a few points ahead.

Wampler Is Los Angeles Open Victor

Indianapolis Golfer Has 281, Cops $4,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP) — Newcomer Fred Wampler of Indianapolis fought off a case of nerves and mounting challenges today and won the $20,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament, shooting a fast round 75 for a 72 hole score of 281.

The victory for the 30-year-old golfer was worth $4,000 and marked his first triumph since turning professional in 1950.

Wampler, who won the national collegiate championship in 1950 as a student at Purdue University, gave his backers a scare but mustered his nerves to win the rich event by one stroke with a 72 hole score that was three strokes under par.

Harbert, Barber Tied

Tied for second at 282 were Chick Harbert, the old pro from Northville, Mich., who forged up from the rear in the final round with a 69, and little Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., who cashed into the runner up money with a dramatic birdie four on the 18th green.

Tied at third place at 283 were Peter Thomson, Australian Open champion, with a 66; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., 72; Ed (Porky) Oliver of Palm Springs, 71; Young Bud Holscher, Santa Monica, Cal., 71, and Bruce Cudd, of Portland, low amateur in the field with a brilliant 67.

Barber and Harbert collected $2,050 apiece.

Wampler, a young man with a frame and a game that reminds you of Ben Hogan, started offf with a five stroke lead over Hawkins, Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., and Bill Nary of Tucson, Ariz., the leader through the first two rounds.

Wampler was paired with Hawkins and with Barber, who was six shots off the pace.

Reds Sign Hurlers

CINCINNATI, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs today put the signed contracts of two right-handed pitchers into the files with 10 previously returned 1954 agreements.

Howie Judson, 27, and Bob Kelly, 26, will attempt to give Manager Birdie Tebbetts much-needed mound support.

BASEBALL RUNS IN THE FAMILY

Day To Address Brunswick High Soccer Champs

Rotary Club Is Host At Dinner Jan. 14

Roger X. Day, a member of the Beall High School faculty of Frostburg, will be guest speaker to the members of the Brunswick High soccer team Thursday evening, January 14th, in Brunswick, Md.

The Rotary Club of Brunswick will be host to the members of the soccer team at a dinner meeting to be held in the B. & O. Y.M.C.A. The occasion is in celebration of the Brunswick High team winning the county championship, their first county triumph in the last twenty years.

Day was assistant principal at Brunswick High from 1914 to 1917 and during this time coached both soccer and baseball at the high school. He was the coach of the first soccer team organized in the school there and the soccer boys copped the county championship for the first three consecutive years.

In 1923, while Day was principal of the Brunswick school, he was also coach of the team that played Barton High of Allegany County at Hancock for the State championship. This game is remembered by all participants and spectators as the game that ended in a 2-2 tie at regular time and then went on for 58 minutes overtime, with Barton finally winning, 3-2.

Day, in speaking to the Rotarians and the soccer player, will use as his theme, "Soccer—Past and Present". Harwood Watson, president of the Brunswick Rotary Club and a member of one of the early champion teams coached by Day, will preside at the regular meeting of the Club and introduce the speaker.

College Cager Injured, Falls Down Icy Steps

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Jan. 11 (AP) — Western Kentucky College's basketball ace, Tom Marshall, suffered severe back and leg bruises when he slipped and fell down a flight of 15 icy steps last night.

The team physician said there is a fair chance the All-America candidate will be in condition to play against Dayton University Wednesday night.

Marshall has averaged 25 points a game for Western's Hilltoppers, ranked fifth nationally and winner of 14 straight games, currently the longest major college record of wins without a defeat.

Marshall slipped when he emerged from a dormitory. He did not tell anyone of his injury until he was noticed walking with a pronounced limp.

Pennsylvania Threatens To Withdraw From N.B.A.

BY RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11 (AP) — Chairman Frank Wiener of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission said today he would recommend his state quit the National Boxing Association unless light heavyweight champion Archie Moore is suspended and his title vacated.

Wiener, in addition to charging that the NBA lacked "guts" in handling Moore and his manager Charley Johnston, lashed out at unlimited boxing television as the death of the sport. He urged the NBA to sit down with sponsors and work out a program for televised boxing as the NCAA did for college football.

Says TV Kills Boxing

"We've got to convert the fireside seat back to the ringside seat or we'll dry up our talent, kill the small promoter and ruin boxing," Wiener said. He contended that one or at most, two TV-boxing shows a week were plenty.

Wiener said he and his fellow commissioners, George Jones of Williamsport, Pa., and John Holihan of McKeesport, Pa., would meet Jan. 26, the day before the scheduled Moore-Maxim title fight in Miami.

"At that time, I'll present a resolution recommending that Pennsylvania withdraw from the NBA and operate as an independent in boxing as it did years ago. New York operates alone and may be they're pretty smart at that. Jones and Holihan feel the same way I do about the situation."

Refers To Ultimatum

The commissioner referred to the NBA's ultimatum to Moore and his manager, Charley Johnston, to sign for a bout with the number one contender, Harold Johnson of Philadelphia by Dec. 24, or be suspended and have the title vacated.

"Moore and Johnston did not do as they were ordered to do. The NBA should have the guts to carry out its threat. Johnston's lame excuse that he couldn't get any promoter to put up $100,000 for a Moore-Johnson fight is ridiculous. I don't believe, and I doubt if anyone in boxing believes, Moore is getting that kind of money for the Maxim fight," Wiener said.

Hogan Award Winner To Be Named Jan. 21

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A new golf trophy, to be known as the Ben Hogan award, will be presented for the first time at the Metropolitan Golf Writers dinner in New York, Jan. 21.

The award will be given to "a person who has overcome a handicap in order to play golf and thus has proved an inspiration to others."

In future years it is planned to conduct a poll of the golf writers of the United States to determine the winner.

Hogan, recently named athlete of the year for 1953 in the Associated Press poll, recovered from a near-fatal automobile accident in 1949 and made an amazing comeback by winning the National Open title three of the next four years.

Ben Hogan Earns $10,000 Belt As Top Pro Athlete

Roy Campanella 2nd, Ted Williams Third

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP) —Ben Hogan, Texas golfer who swept the U.S. and British Open championships and the Augusta Masters in 1953, today won the Ray Hickok $10,000 belt as "professional athlete of the year."

Hogan's decisive triumph in the casters was announced at tonight's annual Rochester Press-Radio Club dinner for the infantile paralysis fund. Hogan was not present to accept the award.

The 41-year-old golf wizard won three monthly ballots in '53, April, June and July to coincide with his important triumphs. He received 51 first place votes among the 93 ballots and a total of 201 points on a 3-2-1 point basis.

Hogan became the fourth winner of the award, first given to Phil Rizzuto for 1950. Allie Reynolds, also of the New York Yankees was honored in 1951 and heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano took the '52 prize.

Roy Campanella, Brooklyn catcher who was voted most valuable player in the National League for the second time in three years, finished second to Hogan with 21 firsts and 102 points.

John Buckley, Fight Manager, Collapses

BOSTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Johnny Buckley, veteran boxing manager who handled such fighters as Jack Sharkey, Ernie Schaaf, Andy Callahan and Johnny Vacca, collapsed from exhaustion in today's storm and is in a critical condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Buckley is currently managing Joe Rindone, Norman Hayes and Paul Pender.

Johnny Buckley managed Wolf Larsen, the "Durable Dane," when the latter boxed Fay Keiser at the Maryland Theatre about 1924. Buckley was accompanied here by Harry Lenny, noted trainer of fighters in those days.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 (INS) — The dashing Mario Cabre, who came into the public eye when he wrote poems to Ava Gardner, is scheduled to make his American debut as a bullfighter in Tijuana. Gilbert Roland, who is a close friend of Manuel Jorda, owner of the Tijuana bull ring, has made all the arrangements.

It was rather difficult getting Cabre, who much prefers to be an actor and to write poetry than to fight the bulls. In Mexico, however, he's close enough to Hollywood to come here, and that's what has always been in his mind.

Film producing in Europe is reaching an all-time high. I just heard that Paul Henreid is in Munich, to star in a German movie called "Cabaret," which is a cavalcade of European night club entertainment.

But, what really surprised me is that Willy Forst, whom I met in Germany many years ago, is still going strong and is the producer. He's an actor and was one of the tops for the old UFA company.

Mrs. Henreid and the two children leave Hollywood next month to join Paul in Munich.

Jess Barker is apparently trying to make it just as difficult as he can for Susan Hayward. His attorney, S. S. Hahn, is insisting that the divorce case be heard Jan. 15, even though Susie is in Mexico City on location for "Garden of Evil" and can't possibly be back until Jan. 21.

Attorney Rudin, of the Martin Gang office, said that when the court issued a restraining order to prevent Jess from moving into the house, he kept coming back on the plea of getting his clothes. Finally, Susan's mother was told by the attorney to send Jess' clothes to the Bekins Storage Company where he could pick them up.

Susie is trying to do everything to protect the children, but the thing that seems to be worrying Jess more than anything else is his community interest in the money Susie earned.

Kathryn Grayson is no longer under contract to MGM, but her ex-studio is behaving like an indulgent uncle, or a sugar daddy, going all out to make her nightclub debut at the Sahara a whopper.

Helen Rose, MGM designer, is doing all of Katie's gowns. George Sidney is directing her act. Andre Previn will accompany her at the piano and to top it off, Boss L. K. Sidney is going over the contracts to see that Las Vegas does all right by their gal.

Kathryn says that with all this help from her MGM teammates, "All I have to do is sing!"

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Cy Howard loves blondes. He was devoting himself in Las Vegas to Eva Gabor the last few nights before the Gabors close. Wait until Gloria Graham hears this.

Bob Hope wants to fly to Korea after his TV show on January 26 to again put on a show for the servicemen.

Judy Garland and Sid Luft have become very friendly with Lauren Bacall and Humphrey Bogart. Since Bogey has been away, Mrs. B. has been with them on a number of parties. All of them were at Ciro's.

Sitting close by was Groucho Marx with his usual date.

Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond will be in the merry throng traveling to Rio for the film festival.

Eric Johnston, filmdom's chief who has been in town for a week, leaves next month again for another foreign trip. He traveled 136,000 miles last year in the interest of our industry.

Farley Granger cables a big "no" to the queries that he has any intention of playing a part with Shelley Winters and Vittorio Gassman in "Mamba." Says he wants to come home.

The Beverly Hills fathers booked to appear in a parent-teacher association play at Hawthorne School are Gene Kelly, Van Johnson, Robert Cummings, Robert Young, Harpo Marx, Ralph Edwards, Irving Fein, George Seaton, Jerry Wald and John Guedel.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, (INS)—Lt. Col. Richard Cella, USAF (Res.) runs one of New York's most esteemed restaurants. Of late, also, he has been conducting what amounts to a 1-man effort to re-introduce the American 'teen-ager to the airplane. In this crusade he seems to be opposed indirectly by the air force, for which he flew several hundred missions in P-38s, P-47s and P-51s in the South Pacific.

1941 it was natural for them to

The rugged-looking flier's complaint runs along these lines:

The air force has forgotten how that generation of flight-minded young men who won the great air battles of World War II was created. It was a generation, he said, that grew up near a cow-pasture landing strip, that had a chance to meet and talk to a barnstormer, could scramble into a plane's cockpit and wiggle the controls, could take flying lessons at 13 or 14, as did he. When the big bell rang in response—to volunteer to fly the planes then a'building.

The closest the modern kid gets to an air force plane is the sight of a vapor trail creasing the utmost dome of the sky, or an occasional "phut-t-t-t!" as a low-flying jet goes by in the newsreel.

Result: When the Korean War came along there were no apple-cheeked young men clamoring to get into the air force, as there had been at the start of World War II. The Korean War had to be fought with veterans of World War II, and "all it proved," in the air, was that well-trained old gaffers in their 30's could still win, in a pinch. In a few years they'll definitely be too old, and in an emergency the nation might even have to "draft" an air force.

The barnstormers, early airmail pilots, and ocean fliers who set a whole nation of youths aflame with a desire to be a part of flying are 99 per cent gone, and inadequate praise is given them for inspiring the manpower of the greatest air force in history. Cella "reacted instinctively" when Pearl Harbor was bombed Today a young man is inclined to ask "me—fly?"

It will be worse in five years, the beribboned fighter-pilot and aeronautical engineer feels. Unless. The "unless" won't cost the air force much. It has countless B-29s and other obsolete types rotting away in plane graveyards. Spread them around the country; put them in the public squares and let the kids swarm through them.

Distribute kits of modern and bygone planes and offer prizes for those that paste them together correctly. Give model plane makers and fliers more encouragement. Send aces and instructors on tours to schools, clubs, church meetings. How did the Luftwaffe get started? Good, sponsor more gliding events. It could be done for peanuts.

Introduce a new kind of barnstorming, done with light air force reconnaissance planes . . . planes that can fly low enough and slow enough to enable a boy to follow them and understand the principal of navigating the aerial ocean above us. Let the kids see the latest AF jets stuff on the ground and let them climb over it. What do a few scratches matter when you're avoiding the creation of an aeronautical vacuum?"

Air force budgets do not seem to be able to provide for such a program, he laments. Yet the Navy has spaced schools and encouragement centers across the land, he adds with the indignation that only an old air force man can generate when the talk turns to naval aviation.

Give up trying to make top fliers out of the 24 and 25 year olds, Cella suggests. They came to age during a time when security restrictions and a change in the nature and philosophy of flying ruled out the wide-eyed disciple. Start all over again with the youngest of the 'teen-agers. Get him into the air as soon as possible in something that he can quickly understand and soon can fly himself. Then, in time, show him—up close—that a jet isn't something for interplanetary travel, or a diabolical device that will kill him in the flash of an eye if something goes wrong, but just another tool crying for the sure hand of a young man.

Only the air force is properly equipped to do a job of this titantic nature, Cella concludes. And it had better do it soon if we're going to have a first line air force five years hence.

Write just as you talk and your thank-you notes will be easier to finish and a pleasure to receive.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

With an eye to the calendar, I am sure you are aware that you have but a few days of grace in which to finish your Christmas thank-you notes. If you are finding them difficult to write, perhaps some of these suggestions will serve as an inspiration:

The gift of something to wear: You will be showing your appreciation in a sincere, enthusiastic manner if you describe how and when you first wore it or plan to wear it. If it's an accessory, describe what you wear it with, emphasizing, of course, how much it adds to the costume. Perhaps some compliment it evoked can be related.

Simple and Natural

The gift of something to use: The ease and convenience it adds to your life is the essential factor in this case. Maybe the surprise element in finding yourself the owner of such an item can be stressed.

Something for the house: Describe how it looks in its new niche and comment on the beauty and attractiveness of the selection as well as your pride in displaying it.

Keep your letters as simple and natural as you can. Pretentiousness adds nothing at all and merely arouses some questions as to sincerity. Let your letter be as free of self-consciousness and as nearly like your conversation would be if you were thanking the person in spoken words.

How long should your letter be? As long or as short as you wish. For some people, words flow from the pen faster and easier than in conversation. Certainly it is a warm and friendly gesture to include some thoughts of the person who has remembered you with a gift. Naturally, the person will be interested in hearing what you are doing and how things are with you.

Now Is The Time!

But whether the person is near or far, someone you see frequently or infrequently, the most important concern is to get an expression of your appreciation into the mail within the next few days!

Even the shortest of letters, neatly arranged with the words spaced evenly so that they make a pleasing picture on a page of well-chosen paper can mirror you as a person of discriminating taste, warmth and character.

A longer letter — posted far too late — may not erase the twinge of hurt that your neglect has caused. Better send even the shortest think-you note now than risk being unappreciative!

Shere North, blonde dancer, who can sure fill a dress, came aboard on the arm of Mr. Benny. After a bit of not terribly funny palaver between Crosby and Mr. Benny, Miss North tore off her dress—she had something on under it but not much—and did the closest thing to a bump and grind I've seen since they closed Minsky's. Something for everyone in this show—the kiddies, the bald-headed row, everybody.

Crosby did sing two very good songs—"It Had To Be You" and "I Love Paris"—but without any special distinction. I'm afraid I can say nothing good about this show. There will be more Crosby shows in the future but just when they'll come along CBS has no idea. I suggest they drop this film into the Pacific Ocean and start all over again, live.

Incidentally, every entertainer including Crosby who has succumbed to television, has on his first appearance spoken of "this new medium." Listen, kids, it isn't so new any more. In fact, already it's got a few gray hairs.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 (INS) — The dashing Mario Cabre, who came into the public eye when he wrote poems to Ava Gardner, is scheduled to make his American debut as a bullfighter in Tijuana. Gilbert Roland, who is a close friend of Manuel Jorda, owner of the Tijuana bull ring, has made all the arrangements.

It was rather difficult getting Cabre, who much prefers to be an actor and to write poetry than to fight the bulls. In Mexico, however, he's close enough to Hollywood to come here, and that's what has always been in his mind.

Film producing in Europe is reaching an all-time high. I just heard that Paul Henreid is in Munich, to star in a German movie called "Cabaret," which is a cavalcade of European night club entertainment.

But, what really surprised me is that Willy Forst, whom I met in Germany many years ago, is still going strong and is the producer. He's an actor and was one of the tops for the old UFA company.

Mrs. Henreid and the two children leave Hollywood next month to join Paul in Munich.

Jess Barker is apparently trying to make it just as difficult as he can for Susan Hayward. His attorney, S. S. Hahn, is insisting that the divorce case be heard Jan. 15, even though Susie is in Mexico City on location for "Garden of Evil" and can't possibly be back until Jan. 21.

Attorney Rudin, of the Martin Gang office, said that when the court issued a restraining order to prevent Jess from moving into the house, he kept coming back on the plea of getting his clothes. Finally, Susan's mother was told by the attorney to send Jess' clothes to the Bekins Storage Company where he could pick them up.

Susie is trying to do everything to protect the children, but the thing that seems to be worrying Jess more than anything else is his community interest in the money Susie earned.

Kathryn Grayson is no longer under contract to MGM, but her ex-studio is behaving like an indulgent uncle, or a sugar daddy, going all out to make her nightclub debut at the Sahara a whopper.

Helen Rose, MGM designer, is doing all of Katie's gowns. George Sidney is directing her act. Andre Previn will accompany her at the piano and to top it off, Boss L. K. Sidney is going over the contracts to see that Las Vegas does all right by their gal.

Kathryn says that with all this help from her MGM teammates, "All I have to do is sing!"

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Cy Howard loves blondes. He was devoting himself in Las Vegas to Eva Gabor the last few nights before the Gabors close. Wait until Gloria Graham hears this.

Bob Hope wants to fly to Korea after his TV show on January 26 to again put on a show for the servicemen.

Judy Garland and Sid Luft have become very friendly with Lauren Bacall and Humphrey Bogart. Since Bogey has been away, Mrs. B. has been with them on a number of parties. All of them were at Ciro's.

Sitting close by was Groucho Marx with his usual date.

Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond will be in the merry throng traveling to Rio for the film festival.

Eric Johnston, filmdom's chief who has been in town for a week, leaves next month again for another foreign trip. He traveled 136,000 miles last year in the interest of our industry.

Farley Granger cables a big "no" to the queries that he has any intention of playing a part with Shelley Winters and Vittorio Gassman in "Mamba." Says he wants to come home.

The Beverly Hills fathers booked to appear in a parent-teacher association play at Hawthorne School are Gene Kelly, Van Johnson, Robert Cummings, Robert Young, Harpo Marx, Ralph Edwards, Irving Fein, George Seaton, Jerry Wald and John Guedel.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, (INS)—Lt. Col. Richard Cella, USAF (Res.) runs one of New York's most esteemed restaurants. Of late, also, he has been conducting what amounts to a 1-man effort to re-introduce the American 'teen-ager to the airplane. In this crusade he seems to be opposed indirectly by the air force, for which he flew several hundred missions in P-38s, P-47s and P-51s in the South Pacific.

1941 it was natural for them to

The rugged-looking flier's complaint runs along these lines:

The air force has forgotten how that generation of flight-minded young men who won the great air battles of World War II was created. It was a generation, he said, that grew up near a cow-pasture landing strip, that had a chance to meet and talk to a barnstormer, could scramble into a plane's cockpit and wiggle the controls, could take flying lessons at 13 or 14, as did he. Tucker County Events Of 1953 As Reviewed By News Correspondent

Editor's Note: The following is a digest of important news events during 1953 in Tucker County, as compiled by the Cumberland News correspondent for that county, Mrs. Helen Collette.

BY MRS. HELEN COLLETT
Cumberland News Correspondent

PARSONS — Tucker County had many tragedies, important events and happenings durinng the 1953 year now closed.

The most fatalities on highways was reported last year for several years with three deaths from auto accidents. A record number of suicides, three men and one woman, was reported last year. One woman died from burns; one county resident was killed in Korea, and one hunting fatality was reported.

Mrs. Sarah Cline, 71 of Baltimore, was killed in an auto accident while returning from sightseeing at Blackwater Falls in September. James Alfred Hutton, 26, of Elkins met sudden death in an auto accident on State Route near Davis. John D. Nestor, 81 of Parsons, prominent retired farmer died from injuries received when hit by a truck while en route to church.

Miss Vercie Lee Propst of Thomas died as a result of burns. Pvt. Lee Elmer Barkley, 22 of Brentz was killed in Korea February 14. The body was returned to Parsons.

William Jackson Bodkins was killed instantly in an auto accident while in Randolph county on July 19. His wife died one hour later from shock. C. Burr Currence, retired cashier of First National Bank died and his wife died one month later. T. Glen Kyer, 42 of Oxford, Pa., was instantly killed when hit by a car. Robert Murphy Jr., 11-year-old son of Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Murphy was killed by car in Newfoundland on April 8 and his body was returned to Parsons for services and burial.

Norris Talmadge Wilson, 36 of Piedmont, Ohio, was killed instantly in a hunting accident during deer season, shot by Tony Tarley of Four-States.

Seven men were found dead in the county during the past year. Raymond Poling of St. George; William Shearer of Davis; Dr. O. A. Miller, veteran dentist of Parsons; Deets Kendall Floyd, 20 (found dead at home of uncle in Canton, Ohio), George Raymond Dawson of Thomas and A. Schley Nestor of Parsons (while visiting in Cumberland).

14 Heart Deaths

Fourteen men and women of Tucker county died of heart attacks. They included David Swartz, Louis Marche and Charles Edward Readd of Thomas; Mrs. Ida Phillips, David William Jolly, Jacob Davis, Everett Earl Thomas, Mrs. Ades Gainer, Mrs. Grace Bonner Bodkins all of Parsons; Jonas F. Poling and Mrs. Lena Tennant of St. George, William Kyle Brogdon and E. G. Meyer of Davis and Sayres Johnson of Hendricks.

Eight Veterans Die

Eight veterans of World War I, II and the Korean wars died last year including Pvt. Elmer Lee Barkley in Korea February 14; Deets Kendall Floyd, 20 both Korean veterans; Joseph E. Young, 33; Darwin Kisner, 22; J. Blaine Griffith, 40; Denver Strawderman, 30; Everett Earl Thomas, 44; and James Aaron Robey, 47, all veterans of World War II; and William Kyle Brogdon, 61, veteran of World War I.

Only four children died during the year. Sandra Patton, 20 months old and William Charles Pell seven years old both of Davis; Karen Diana Shannon five months old and James Robert Judy, one day old of Parsons. Among the businessmen were A. F. "Major" Phillips, veteran insurance man and real estate dealer of Parsons, and E. G. "Waxy" Meyers, also veteran insurance broker and real estate man of Davis. Dr. O. A. Miller oldest dentist in Tucker county, and Elmer Wilfong, co-owner of Wilfong's store in Parsons.

Mrs. Laverna Eerguson, 101 years old died in Montrose on February 13. Tucker county natives who died during the year included Rev. P. J. Musgrove, a former pastor of Parsons; Robert Senior, superintendent of Dorman Mills for 20 years; Samuel B. Jefferies, former chief engineer for the Davis Coal and Coke company; Alberta Dorsey Calhoun, wife of Judge Harlan Calhoun, native of Parsons; and Mrs. Kate Mateer Arthur, formerly of Hambleton.

Court Proceedings

Court proceedings also held a spotlight for the year. Boyd Wise of Davis was tried for the murder of Tony and Lucille Sowers Damiano in Davis. The trial started on a Monday. Tuesday, Wise fell down jail steps and was removed to Tucker County Hospital. On Thursday his attornies entered a plea of Nollo contendre for Wise and he was sentenced by Judge Harland Calhoun of Moorefield, filling the bench for Judge Ernest A. See, to serve from five to 18 years in the penitentary on second degree murder charges.

Ivan Gale Taylor of Grafton was sentenced to six years at Moundsville for breaking and entering and for theft while on parole.

Accidents

In January, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Carwell Harman, teacher of LaVale, was lost overnight in a snow storm en route to LaVale from visiting her mother in Hendricks. In October her husband, Stanley Harman lost both legs in a railroad accident.

KEYSER — The first week of the 1954 March of Dimes Campaign in Mineral County closed with total contributions of $719.35, representing 13 per cent of the total goal $5,586, according to H. Brown Oates, local director.

The contributions by centers, show that public school pupils contributed $175.69; adult individual cards accounted for $315.60; social organizations, $179.36; and collections by Tri-Hi-Y and FBLA clubs of Keyser High School, $48.70.

Public school pupils contributions shown above, were from the following schools: Beryl, $19.69 (24 cents per pupil); Keyser Elementary, $106.20, (13 cents per pupil); Burlington, $26, (11 cents per pupil); New Creek, $16, (nine cents per pupil); Antioch, $3.20, (nine cents per pupil); Elk Garden, $4.60, (seven cents per pupil).

Other county public schools have not filed a report to date.

Of the 7,398 adult cards mailed, four per cent have been returned for a total contribution of $315.60.

Piedmont leads with six per cent of the cards returned, followed closely by Burlington, five per cent; Fort Ashby, four per cent; Keyser, four per cent; New Creek, four per cent; Elk Garden, four per cent; Beryl, four per cent, Antioch, three per cent; Ridgeley, two per cent, and Wiley Ford, one per cent.

The average contribution per person in the county thus far is three and a quarter cents. The goal per person is 25 cents. The contribution at the end of the first week is about the same proportion as a year ago.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Bing Comes A Cropper

Bing Crosby's debut on television—long awaited, long planned, widely advertised as an event roughly comparable to the development of the hydrogen bomb — was an unqualified disappointment.

John Crosby

Why this was, I can't imagine. Crosby watched television closely for years, thought long and deeply about the format he would eventually employ and took his own sweet time about getting into it — in order, I imagine, to let the others make the early mistakes.

And in spite of all that thought and preparation, this show had nothing at all. It wasn't funny. It wasn't especially eye-filling. It wasn't very melodic. It rambled pointlessly all over the place. And what is far more serious, the Crosby charm, which can fill the Music Hall or your livingroom, was simply not there at all.

As to the absence of the latter, I have a theory. The Crosby show was on film which was a terrible mistake. Crosby has been on television only once before (excepting a brief sight gag on a Bob Hope show), on a telethon. It was a live show and Crosby was a very winning and poised performer. He is one of the quickest and most sure-footed ad libbers in the business and he proved that he can handle himself in front of a live camera with the best of them.

So why film? Well, for one thing, Crosby pioneered the development of taped radio shows. He broke the network ban against transcribed shows so thoroughly that many radio shows are now on tape. There is no doubt there was considerable improvement in the technical quality of taped shows which could eliminate fluffs, smooth out rough spots and free the performer from the terrible tyranny of the stop watch.

But tape and film are two quite different things. I hate to labor that old word spontaneity, but no filmed show yet has captured the spontaneity of live television. And Crosby, of all performers, needs that air of spontaneity and freshness and I'm-just-making-it-all-up-as-I-go-along quality which made his radio show such a joy.

The Crosby show opened with a monologue in front of a curtain and a grave mistake that was. (He should have opened singing). It wasn't a very funny monologue, but it was greeted by the most uproarious and spurious laughter I've ever heard, even in an age noted for the phoniness and meaninglessness of studio audience laughter. I can't think where they dug up this old laughter—borrowed it, maybe, from one of the old Road pictures which were pretty funny. At any rate, it was very old laughter, bearing no relationship whatsoever to what was going on on the screen, and it kept booming forth throughout the half hour, infuriating and insulting the intelligence of millions of viewers.

From there Mr. C' proceeded into a hillbilly song and dance called "Y'All Come" which was so all-fired wholesome and twangy that it made me a little ill. Wholesomeness, I figured, is going to get a big play on the Crosby shows. I couldn't have been wronger, though. A few minutes later Miss

WHY ARE YOU WAITING?

YOU see the declarer begin to run the dummy's established suit, on which he can discard losers of other suits from his own hand. Meanwhile, you sit there on the defense with the highest unplayed trump. You would like to use it, if possible, to consume two of the declarer's trumps, one in his own hand and one in the dummy. But, if you have no sure way to obtain the lead first, your wish is in vain. So what are you waiting for, if you discard on the dummy's suit instead of coming in with your trump promptly?

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South

2 ♣	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Dbl.

That thin double by East, based almost entirely on his well located Q sitting over the take-out doubler, was pardonable only in a duplicate game, in which you might thereby beat, by a small margin, the scores made on the deal at other tables by pairs playing the same direction as your own. As it happened, this could have given his pair a tie for top score, but didn't, due to a lapse in his play.

West sent the club K to the A and the spade 3 was led to the J and A. The heart J was led because of East's 3 on the club opener, the A winning. Next South sent the spade 10 through, and a kibitzer wondered why East played the 6 instead of taking his Q at once. The spade 5 to the K left the Q out as the high trump.

Beginning to operate on the diamonds, South led to his Q, sent the 6 back to the A, then led the K, on which East, for some hopeless reason, discarded the club 5 instead of ruffing. On the diamond J East discarded the club 8. Then on the final diamond, the 7, East at last ruffed with the spade Q. That was just too late, though, as South was able to discard the club 9. This made it impossible for the defenders to score more than one trick thereafter, with the heart K, so that South made his contract.

It may have been all right for East to prefer consuming two trumps with his Q, but there was no chance of that, and he should have won with the card as soon as possible.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Bing Comes A Cropper

Bing Crosby's debut on television—long awaited, long planned, widely advertised as an event roughly comparable to the development of the hydrogen bomb — was an unqualified disappointment.

Why this was, I can't imagine. Crosby watched television closely for years, thought long and deeply about the format he would eventually employ and took his own sweet time about getting into it — in order, I imagine, to let the others make the early mistakes.

John Crosby

And in spite of all that thought and preparation, this show had nothing at all. It wasn't funny. It wasn't especially eye-filling. It wasn't very melodic. It rambled pointlessly all over the place. And what is far more serious, the Crosby charm, which can fill the Music Hall or your livingroom, was simply not there at all.

As to the absence of the latter, I have a theory. The Crosby show was on film which was a terrible mistake. Crosby has been on television only once before (excepting a brief sight gag on a Bob Hope show), on a telethon. It was a live show and Crosby was a very winning and poised performer. He is one of the quickest and most sure-footed ad libbers in the business and he proved that he can handle himself in front of a live camera with the best of them.

So why film? Well, for one thing, Crosby pioneered the development of taped radio shows. He broke the network ban against transcribed shows so thoroughly that many radio shows are now on tape. There is no doubt there was considerable improvement in the technical quality of taped shows which could eliminate fluffs, smooth out rough spots and free the performer from the terrible tyranny of the stop watch.

But tape and film are two quite different things. I hate to labor that old word spontaneity, but no filmed show yet has captured the spontaneity of live television. And Crosby, of all performers, needs that air of spontaneity and freshness and I'm-just-making-it-all-up-as-I-go-along quality which made his radio show such a joy.

The Crosby show opened with a monologue in front of a curtain and a grave mistake that was. (He should have opened singing). It wasn't a very funny monologue, but it was greeted by the most uproarious and spurious laughter I've ever heard, even in an age noted for the phoniness and meaninglessness of studio audience laughter. I can't think where they dug up this old laughter—borrowed it, maybe, from one of the old Road pictures which were pretty funny. At any rate, it was very old laughter, bearing no relationship whatsoever to what was going on on the screen, and it kept booming forth throughout the half hour, infuriating and insulting the intelligence of millions of viewers.

From there Mr. C[illegible] proceeded into a hillbilly song and dance called "Y'All Come" which was so all-fired wholesome and twangy that it made me a little ill. Wholesomeness, I figured, is going to get a big play on the Crosby shows. I couldn't have been wronger, though. A few minutes later Miss

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Ira Valentine, who passed away 3 years ago today, January 12, 1951.
Your memory lingers in my heart,
Deep, Tender, Fond and True,
There is not a day, dear Vallie
That I do not think of you.
Sadly missed by his wife, IDA.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank friends, relatives and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and following the death of our daughter, Joyce Wagner. We also wish to thank those who sent beautiful floral tributes, cards and use of cars.
Mr. & Mrs. William C. Wagner

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and following the death of our husband and father, James P. Powers. We especially wish to express our sincere appreciation to the pallbearers and all those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
MRS. JAMES P. POWERS and FAMILY

DOWN GO OUR PRICES!
Do you know the difference between our prices and what others ask? Compare and you will find that it amounts to about one months wages and sometimes much more.

HOW CAN WE DO IT?
We pay no rent, have only one salesman, which adds up to very low expenses. No high pressure selling here. You look around, pick out the one you like, try it and buy it yourself. Super Market style. Remember, every car has the price marked on the windshield. We'll give a good trade allowance on your present car. Our cars are GUARANTEED. Ask us about it, it's different. Bank terms.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Ira Valentine, who passed away 3 years ago today, January 12, 1951.
Your memory lingers in my heart,
Deep, Tender, Fond and True,
There is not a day, dear Vallie
That I do not think of you.
Sadly missed by his wife, IDA.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank friends, relatives and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and following the death of our daughter, Joyce Wagner. We also wish to thank those who sent beautiful floral tributes, cards and use of cars.
Mr. & Mrs. William C. Wagner

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and following the death of our husband and father, James P. Powers. We especially wish to express our sincere appreciation to the pallbearers and all those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
MRS. JAMES P. POWERS and FAMILY

DOWN GO OUR PRICES!
Do you know the difference between our prices and what others ask? Compare and you will find that it amounts to about one months wages and sometimes much more.

HOW CAN WE DO IT?
We pay no rent, have only one salesman, which adds up to very low expenses. No high pressure selling here. You look around, pick out the one you like, try it and buy it yourself. Super Market style. Remember, every car has the price marked on the windshield. We'll give a good trade allowance on your present car. Our cars are GUARANTEED. Ask us about it, it's different. Bank terms.

Young Man, Here's Some Plain Talk!

We know there must be a number of young fellows who have finished their hitch in the service and who have not yet found a job that offers good money and a secure future.

Now don't let the word salesman throw you. Selling is easy if you have a good product and keep plugging. We have the product and we'll teach you all the tricks of the trade and furnish you with plenty of leads. The more demonstrations you make the more sales you'll make and the more money you make. If you don't think cars are selling just stand on any street corner and count them as they go by.

This is clean, interesting work in a respected profession. And remember this, there are no furloughs. A good salesman is never unemployed and always makes good money.

Give this opportunity serious consideration and then drop us a line and we'll arrange to talk it over with you. Don't put it off. Act now. Write Box 635-A c-o Times-News.

Stocks Decline Moderately For Fourth Straight Time

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Stocks declined moderately today for the fourth straight time in a quiet market.

The swing to lower prices has been underway since the market failed to surpass the early December high of the recovery movement that started in mid-September. The two presidential messages appeared to have little immediate impact on the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 60 cents at $108, and it now stands just $2.00 under the December recovery top. The industrial component of the average today fell 80 cents, the rails were down 60 cents, while the utilities remained unchanged.

There were 1,117 individual stocks traded of which 269 were higher and 578 lower with 4 new highs for 16 new lows for 1953-54 touched during the day.

Volume dwindled down as prices receded and came to 1,220,000 shares. That is the lowest since late in October. Friday's total came to 1,260,000 shares.

Willy-Overland topped the most active list unchanged at 16⅝ with 19,700 shares traded. It was followed by Niagara Mohawk Power unchanged at 27⅝, U. S. Steel off ⅜ at 39¼, American Telephone off ¼ at 156⅝, and Columbia Gas off ⅛ at 12⅞.

Young Man, Here's Some Plain Talk!

We know there must be a number of young fellows who have finished their hitch in the service and who have not yet found a job that offers good money and a secure future.

Now don't let the word salesman throw you. Selling is easy if you have a good product and keep plugging. We have the product and we'll teach you all the tricks of the trade and furnish you with plenty of leads. The more demonstrations you make the more sales you'll make and the more money you make. If you don't think cars are selling just stand on any street corner and count them as they go by.

This is clean, interesting work in a respected profession. And remember this, there are no furloughs. A good salesman is never unemployed and always makes good money.

Give this opportunity serious consideration and then drop us a line and we'll arrange to talk it over with you. Don't put it off. Act now. Write Box 635-A c-o Times-News.

Stocks Decline Moderately For Fourth Straight Time

The swing to lower prices has been underway since the market failed to surpass the early December high of the recovery movement that started in mid-September. The two presidential messages appeared to have little immediate impact on the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 60 cents at $108, and it now stands just $2.00 under the December recovery top. The industrial component of the average today fell 80 cents, the rails were down 60 cents, while the utilities remained unchanged.

There were 1,117 individual stocks traded of which 269 were higher and 578 lower with 4 new highs for 16 new lows for 1953-54 touched during the day.

Volume dwindled down as prices receded and came to 1,220,000 shares. That is the lowest since late in October. Friday's total came to 1,260,000 shares.

Willy-Overland topped the most active list unchanged at 16⅝ with 19,700 shares traded. It was followed by Niagara Mohawk Power unchanged at 27⅝, U. S. Steel off ⅜ at 39¼, American Telephone off ¼ at 156⅝, and Columbia Gas off ⅛ at 12⅞.

Business Group Urges Parking Lot Support

City Seeks Options On Centre St. Site

The Better Business Men's Association yesterday praised the Mayor and Council's plan to seek options on properties opposite City Hall for an off-street parking center and urged full public support of the plan.

James T. Gaffney, president of the organization, representing some 80 business men, many of them located in the North Centre Street section, said the association "is 100 per cent behind the program."

The association urged all citizens who are interested in off-street parking to inform the Mayor and Council of their stand.

To Distribute Cards

Plans are also underway, the group said, to distribute postal cards upon which interested citizens may inform city officials of their stand on the center.

Backers cite that the center would be only a block from Baltimore Street and that the center could be used free by members of seven churches in that area on Sundays.

Option Cost Slight

Mayor Roy W. Eves made the suggestion after recalling that parking is a major problem, and that about a year ago a petition of 1,400 names had been submitted to council asking that a lot be established.

The basic area involved is 42-54 Bedford Street and 100-120 North Centre Street plus an alley. This area, according to plans, would accommodate about 75 cars.

Mayor Eves said the city will "feel out" owners of additional property in the area concerning options for more parking space. One plan would give space for 95 cars and the overall program 125 cars.

Eves emphasized that the options would be taken at the appraised value by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and the appraiser, James A. Perrin. The options would be for 90 days and require only a nominal consideration.

Council must know what the plan will cost, he added, before giving serious consideration to the center.

Winter Finally Arrives

Once-Blind Area Woman Wins Trip To Hollywood

BY ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

A 70-year-old Eckhart woman, who was blind for 57 years until undergoing a delicate cornea operation a year ago, yesterday appeared on a nationally-televised program from Chicago and was awarded a week's expense-free vacation in Hollywood, along with numerous other gifts.

Miss Kizzie Myers was one of three featured guests appearing on the Welcome Traveler program yesterday. With her on the network show was Miss Imogene Caudill, principal of Eckhart School, who had been instrumental in arranging for Miss Myers' amazing operation.

Principal Goes Too

The master of ceremonies on the program also informed Miss Caudill that Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer had given her permission to accompany Miss Myers on the trip to California without any loss in pay.

At the close of the telecast two veteran movie stars, Joe E. Brown and Pat O'Brien sent their greetings to the two Allegany County women from Hollywood. The man who made his big mouth famous said that he would be at the airport today to greet the travelers when they reach movieland.

Besides the flight and vacation in California, Miss Myers and Miss Caudill were presented new luggage, dresses, coats, and each got a watch. Eckhart School was not forgotten either. A 30-volume set of the latest encyclopedia and a globe of the world for use in geography and history classes were presented to the school.

Explains Case

Miss Caudill did nost of the talking in the final 10 minutes of the half-hour program as she explained some of the background which led up to the successful operation which gave Miss Myers her sight.

The Eckhart School principal, who has taught in the county school system for 35 years, told her nationwide audience that she had known Miss Myers all of her life and often wished she could find a way to help her have her sight restored.

Several years ago she heard about the successful transplanting of the cornea from a healthy eye to the eye of a blind person, thereby restoring sight to the blind eye. Such an operation had been performed at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Finally persuading Miss Myers that she should undergo the operation, Miss Caudill then sought to get the hospital in Baltimore to perform it. They agreed but the $1,000 cost of the operation seemed prohibitive.

The school principal subsequently learned that the operation might be financed from a trust fund lett by the late H. Crawford Black. An industrialist who was connected with coal mining operations around Mt. Savage, Black later moved to Baltimore. At his death he left a

Sale Of Watch Leads To Arrest In Burglaries

The sale of a watch for $5 to a Keyser, W. Va., city patrolman resulted in the arrest of two men, suspected of burglarizing two Piedmont establishments early Friday morning.

The watch was sold to Officer J. R. Haines Friday afternoon and the policeman immediately contacted Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the local West Virginia State Police detachment. The two officers then arrester Cecil A. Schriver, 24, of Moscow.

This arrest then led to the arrest of James Alexander Grady, 26, of Piedmont.

The two men are suspected by police as being accomplices in the breaking and entering of two business places at Piedmont, W. Va., the Evans Jewelry Store and the Firemen's Club, both on Second Street in that community.

Watches and novelty jewelry were taken at the Evans Store and at the club a small amount of money, chewing gum and crackers were reported missing.

Grady, who was arrested in the woods near Moscow Sunday by Maryland State Trooper Harry S. Bosley, yesterday waived extradition before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court and was returned to Keyser for arraignment.

Cpl. Tribett said two plate glass windows were broken at the Evans Store. These were valued at $86 each. Missing jewelry was catalogued at a worth of between $75 and $100.

Cpl. Tribett said Schriver claimed he had received the watch from Grady early Friday morning when the latter came to his home. Schriver told police Grady had cuts on his hands at the time.

Cpl. Tribett lauded Police Chief James Harrison of Piedmont, Maryland State Police Troopers Milton Hart and Bosley, City Patrolman Haines, who bought the watch, and other area officers for their cooperation in the case.

Most of the loot was reported to have been recovered from a hiding place in the woods near where Grady was arrested.

Crash Victim Is Released

Russell Iser, Pleasant Dale, W. Va., who was critically injured in a two-truck accident December 18 on Coopers Mountain near Romney in which two other men died, has been released from Winchester, Va., Memorial Hospital, authorities said.

Iser, the only occupant of one truck to survive the collision with another truck, driven by Joseph Hollingsworth, 19, of Keyser, suffered a severe brain concussion and skull fracture. His two companions, Hollie Tucker Shanholtz, 39, of Pleasant Dale, and Isaac W. Bowen, 19, of Points, W. Va., were killed in the mishap.

State Police, who said the vehicle in which the three men were travelling was on the wrong side of the road, questioned Iser upon his recovery to determine the driver of the truck.

However, authorities said Iser was unable to recall the accident or events leading to the mishap because of his injuries. He told police Bowen was the driver when the truck left Winchester, Va., the last he remembers.

Hollingsworth, who was riding with a brother, William, was not held, police said. Both the Hollingsworth were slightly hurt in the collision.

The delegation will include Neil Toey, president; Melvin Harris, business manager; Vito Dormio, Spinning Department chairman, and James Summers, chairman of the Down Twist unit of the Textile Department.

Wesley Cook, the union's Synthetic Yarn directors, will be in charge of the meeting called to set up policy in the division.

Board Of Education Meeting Deferred

The January meeting of the Allegany County Board of Education, originally scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed until Tuesday, January 19.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster returned to his office yesterday with a coat of Florida tan after an extended Christmas holiday during which he and Mrs. Webster attended the Orange Bowl game and saw other festivities in and around Miami.

Returning well rested from his vacation, Webster observed that he had been unable to take a summer holiday because of the county's school building program.

Civic Theatre Begins Work On 'Boy Meets Girl'

Dramatic Workshop Will Be Organized

The Cumberland Civic Theatre last night announced plans for its second production, "Boy Meets Girl," which will be presented February 12 at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School Auditorium.

The play is a three-act comedy written by Bella and Samuel Spewack. It will be directed by Harold C. Wickard and presented under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department.

The cast will include Ed Meyer, playing the part of Richard Law; Thomas Hutcheson, Larry Toms; Leonard Schwab, J. Carlisle Benson, William Criswell, Rosetti.

Cast Is Selected

Catherine O. Fiora will play the part of Peggy; Mrs. Rosalyn Pliner, Miss Crews; Richard Jameson, Rodney Beven; Virginia Borgman, Susie; Mrs. Colleen Lapp, nurse; Kenneth Hopwood, Mr. Friday, and Chad Riley, Major Thompson.

Members of the production staff are Norman S. Pliner, stage manager; Oscar Lashley, assistant stage manager and electrician; Lenore Lazarus, Marilyn Heiskell and Louise Rosenbaum, properties; Ruth Ann Richards, wardrobe mistress; Robert J. Boniece, publicity, and William Hope, business manager.

The cast is practicing Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, and the final three rehearsals will be held at Allegany High School.

Workshop Planned

Mrs. Jane Schwab, president, announced that the dramatic group plans to hold regular meetings at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall on the second Wednesday of each month.

Plans are also underway, officials said, to hold a dramatic workshop.

Boniece will be manager of the workshop. Present plans call for the group to present one-act plays, skits and scenes from plays as a means of increasing the dramatic technique of those who are interested in amateur dramatics.

Present plans call for the workshop to meet on Monday nights. All those interested are asked to contact the City Recreation Department.

Snider To Head Police, Firemen

Elected were Officers Charles E. Snider, president, unopposed; Chauffeur John N. Morrissey, Central, vice president, unopposed; Assistant Fire Chief Robert C. Long, secretary, unopposed, and Capt. Vincent H. Wegman, Central, treasurer. Wegman defeated two other nominees for the treasurer's post.

Trustees selected from six candidates were Lt. Virgil V. McClure, Central; John J. Carney, chauffeur, East Side; and William T. Shuck, pipeman, West Side.

Approximately 20 members attended the session while those on duty voted by proxy.

Two Men Indicted For Sunday Sale

An indictment charging Roy Minke and Donald Minke with illegal sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday, October 18, has been placed on the open docket in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The sales at the Cottage Inn on Christie Road allegedly were made to Roy Shipley and Wood Smith.

Ridgeley Lions Club Will Meet Tonight

The Ridgeley Lions Club will hold a dinner meeting tonight at 6:45 at the Perabee Lounge.

Business will include a report on the Christmas tree sale and the outdoor lighting contest sponsored by the club.

TWUA Meeting Set

The General Committee of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m., according to Neil Toey, president.

Barter Play Slated Here January 28

"Two On An Island," a pleasant fable about life in Manhattan, will be staged at 8:30 p. m. January 28 in the auditorium of Allegany High School by the Barter Players.

The program is one of three plays being sponsored here by the Junior Association of Commerce. Committee members are Herman J. Grabenstein, Robert Mathews and Howard Buchanan.

Tickets to the production will be available on Monday at the S. T. Little Jewelry Company, Baltimore Street, or may be purchased at the door on the evening of the performance.

The play was written by Elmer Rice. Taking an attractive girl from New England and a likely lad from the Middle West, Rice conducts them on a personal tour of the gilt and grubbiness of Cosmopolis.

Cleon W. Raese Of Tucker Co. Dies At Age 65

Cleon W. Raese, 65, former member of the West Virginia Legislature and the last living member of the first two classes at Davis and Elkins College, died last night at his home in Davis, W. Va. following an illness of six weeks.

A native of Davis, he was born September 7, 1888, a son of the late John and Minnie (Larue) Raese. A former member of the West Virginia House of Delegates (1940 to 1948), Mr. Raese was one of the first students to enroll in the first two classes of D&E College when it opened its doors in 1904.

He graduated in 1911 with a B. S. degree. During his seven years at the school he was honored with 21 athletic letters in football, basketball and baseball.

Mr. Raese later was coach in the three sports at D&E, and he was the only coach of a D&E football team to carry his team through a season (1910) without having a single goal scored against him.

Following his graduation from D&E, he attended Potomac State College at Keyser, and Lehigh University. For two years later he worked in railroad construction.

During World War 1, he enlisted in the army field artillery and was later commissioned a second lieutenant. After returning from the service he entered business in Davis for 28 years. He was a member of the Davis City Council for three years, city recorder for one year, and was mayor of the city for eight years beginning in 1933.

He was former president of the Davis Chamber of Commerce and a lifelong member and elder of Davis Presbyterian Church.

On December 25, 1917, he was married to the former Miss Salena M. Viering.

During World War II, their son, Lt. Cleon W. Raese Jr., was killed in action on July 1, 1944 while serving with the Air Force in England. Later, another son, Lt. Donald W. Raese, was killed while flying an Air Force plane on September 15, 1946.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a son, John V. Raese, a student at West Virginia University; five brothers, Curtis Raese, Fort Myer, Fla.; Furman Raese, Pittsburgh; Walter and Richard (Dyke) Raese, Morgantown, and Robert Raese, Davis, and four sisters, Mrs. James Browning, Morgantown; Mrs. Virginia Parsons, Charleroi, Pa.; Mrs. Lela Shannon, Mt. Jackson, Va., and Mrs. Elizabeth Ridgeway, Winchester, Va.

Officer Is Injured

Scout Leaders' Advanced Course Set By Council

Sessions To Be Held Jan. 23 And Feb. 27

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold an advanced Scout Leaders Training, Course at Frostburg State Teachers College January 23 and February 27, it was announced by K. S. McKee, Council leadership training chairman, Keyser.

The course, given under the supervision of Dr. Adam Baer, Frostburg, is required by Scout leaders for earning the Scouters Key or Award.

Letters and course guide booklets have been sent out by the Council office, and leaders must complete two projects before attending the two course sessions. They include a 21-point inspection and problem evaluation.

The first session will get underway at the college at 2 p. m. with registration and opening period under the direction of Dr. Baer, general chairman, and Franklin Martens, Frostburg, course Scoutmaster.

Discussion Periods

From 2:15 p. m. to 2:45 p. m. the group will discuss "Marks of a Good Troop," under the direction of Lewis Jones, Oakland. A patrol period will be held from 2:45 to 3:15 p. m., and the second discussion will be held from 3:15 p. m. to 3:45 p. m. under the direction of William Armbruster.

From 3:45 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. the session will discuss "The Boy and Scouting" led by Lester McDowell, Keyser, followed by a patrol period from 4:15 to 4:45 p. m. The second discussion on "The Boy and Scouting" will continue from 4:45 to 5:15 p. m. under the leadership of W. E. Michaels, Keyser.

After a snack of coffee and sandwiches, the meeting will continue with a discussion of "Principles of Boy Leadership" from 5:45 to 6:10 p. m. under the direction of James Handlan, Keyser. The second meeting on the theme will follow after a patrol period from 6:30 to 7 p. m. under the leadership of John Fox, Keyser.

The closing ceremony will be held at 7:30 p. m., led by Franklin Martens.

Aims, Purposes of Scouting

The second session of the training course, February 27, will open with a ceremony led by Martens at 2 p. m. From 2:15 to 2:45 p. m. Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, will lead a discussion on "Administrative Relationships of a Good Leader."

Folliowing a patrol period at 2:45 p. m., the subject will be discussed further under the leadership of Dr. E. E. Church, Keyser. At 3:45 p. m. Henry Lowry, Cumberland, will lead a meeting on "The Aims and Purposes of Scouting and How Achieved." After a patrol period at 4:15 p, m., the theme will be continued under the leadership of Ivan Hall, Cumberland.

Following an evening snack, Noel Obenshain, Piedmont, will lead a discussion at 5:45 p. m. on "Building a Program to Achieve The Aim and Purposes of Scouting." The second discussion on the theme will be directed by Dr. Paul D. McCoy, Piedmont, at 6:30 p. m.

Closing remarks and awarding of certificates will be held at 7:30 p. m.

The Weather

The Weather Bureau predicted cloudy and cold for Cumberland today with some snow flurries. Official snowfall for the Queen City was 5.8 inches, according to Constitution Park weather station; high temperature yesterday was 26 degrees; low was 16, and at 7:30 p. m. mercury stood at 21. Precipitation from snow measured .43 inches.

Youghiogheny Fire Agreement Signed

A cooperative agreement between the State Department of Forests and Parks and the Pittsburgh District, Corps of Engineers, has been signed for the suppression of forest fires in the area in Garrett County near the Youghiogheny River Flood Control Reservoir.

Under terms of the agreement employes of the state agency will go onto federally-owned land to put out forest fires at the state agency's expense.

A similar agreement has been entered into by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters for the area within the Keystone State.

Bad Weather Drops School Attendance

Teacher Illness Closes St. Mary's

Wintry weather put something of a crimp in attendance in some representative public and parochial schools around town yesterday but a number of the school principals indicated that more pupils showed up than they had expected.

One school, St. Mary's, was closed yesterday and will be again today, but the condition is not attributed to the weather. About half of the teaching nuns are ill with a virus infection and for that reason the Oldtown Road school has remained closed.

Opening Uncertain

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, said that the school might reopen tomorrow but a decision on that matter has not yet been made.

Cumberland's two largest high schools reported sharply increased absenteeism yesterday.

Victor D. Heisey, Fort Hill High School principal, said attendance Monday was only 79 per cent, with 410 absent among a student body of 1,900. Normally, about 94 per cent are present each day.

Allegany's principal, Raymond O. McCullough, said 250 were absent there yesterday in a student body of 1,471. The absenteeism of 17 per cent was about five times normal.

While the two local high schools recorded large drops in attendance, Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, principal at Flintstone School, said that over 90 per cent of her pupils were on hand. Most of them have to travel long distances to school, some as far as 20 or 25 miles. Some six pupils in the elementary grades were out with chickenpox. Only one school bus there was late.

LaSalle High

Brother Daniel Hillary, principal at LaSalle High School, reported that 12 of the 200 boys enrolled there were absent yesterday. That represents 94 per cent attendance. Normally only about six are absent each day.

St. Patrick's School, Girls Central Catholic High School, SS. Peterand Paul School, and Ursuline Academy all reported absenteeism up somewhat yesterday but stated that between 85 and 90 per cent were present.

Two public elementary schools, Centre Street and Columbia Street, disclosed that their attendance was down measurably. At Centre Street 33 were absent in a student body of 180, placing the attendance at about 83 per cent. Columbia Street had nearly 88 per cent on hand with 53 away, from among 417 pupils.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said he expected the attendance to show an upswing today.

Burkey Elected Head Of Holy Name Group At SS. Peter & Paul

Other officers for the coming year include Norman Sell, vice president; George Carney Sr., treasurer, and John Kreidler, secretary.

Karl Grabenstein and Harry Averman were named delegates to all sectional and State meetings. Henry Dressman and Joseph Reissig were named alternates.

Plans were made for a social to be held following the installation of new officers at the next monthly meeting on February 14.

News In Brief

The meeting of the East Side Homemakers scheduled last night has been postponed to next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Melvin Methodist Church.

The Health Department will hold an immunization clinic today at 10 a. m. in Pennsylvania Avenue School.

Past Councilors Club 2, Pride of Allegany County 10, Daughters of America, will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. James Wilson, 401 Avirett Avenue. Mrs. Mae Copeland will be co-hostess.

The executive meeting of the Bedford Road Homemakers Club scheduled today at the home of Mrs. Mary Boyle has been postponed to January 26.

Permit Is Approved

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved the application of Robert E. Shrout Jr., 514 Greene Street, to operate a new and used furniture business at 313 South Mechanic Street.

Tri-State Area Digs Out From Under Huge Snow

6 To 12 Inches Fall, More Flakes Predicted

The Tri-State area, digging out from under six to 12 inches of snow that fell Sunday and yesterday, braced itself for additional snow last night, but none was evident in the district by late evening.

A misty drizzle began falling in Cumberland about 7 p. m., but it stopped about an hour later. A light powdery snow was falling in sections west of Bedford, Pa., according to Pennsylvania State Police, and a very light snow was piling on top of 12 inches of old snow at Thomas, W. Va.

Other sections in the Tri-State were still waiting for a predicted fall of up to 15 inches of snow last night, but none was reported up to 9:30 p. m.

School Buses 'Hung Up'

Meanwhile the most talked-about subject, weather, stretched out its influence over the lives of Tri-State residents and workers. A layer of ice under the snow made highways slippery, and snowplow and cinder crews were kept busy keeping main highways open.

In Frederick County, a baby was born in a car stalled in a snow drift near Frederick, and although there were no fatal accidents reported in Maryland yesterday, two men died of overexertion after shoveling snow or trudging through it.

Just 21 miles from Cumberland in Keyser, W. Va., two busloads of students from Keyser High School missed school when the bus drivers decided roads were too dangerous and returned the pupils to their homes on Waxler Road and at Burlington.

At Elk Garden, W. Va., on top of Allegheny Mountain, another busload of students missed school after the vehicle in which they were riding failed to plow through the 10 inches of snow that covered that area.

Sidewalk Sweepers

Citizens in Keyser, where nine inches of snow fell, responded well to an order of the Keyser City Police Department to clean sidewalks. Mayor John C. Freeland said the response to the order was "wonderful."

In Cumberland an official snowfall of 5.8 inches was reported by Robert R. Golden, official weather observer. City Street Department workers went into action shortly after the first snow fell Sunday, and most of the city's roads were clear yesterday.

A dim sun assisted in melting remaining snow on most of the streets yesterday afternoon, but falling temperature last night caused a layer of ice to form over roads. Additional cindering crews were called out last night.

7 To 12 Inches Noted

Yesterday's snow measured seven inches in Frostburg, 12 inches in Grantsville, 10 inches in Oakland, and nine inches at the junction of U. S. Route 50 and 220 south of Keyser, 12 inches at Thomas, and 10 inches at Elkins.

There was eight inches of snow at Hardman, eight inches at Blazer, 10 inches at Terra Alta. 10 inches at Altamont, eight inches at Orleans Road and Harpers Ferry, eight inches at Deal, Pa., and seven inches at Rockwood and Connellsville, Pa.

J. Walter Chapman, supervisor of Allegany County Roads, said there were 12 trucks and five graders plowing county roads yesterday. Also used were three trucks with salt spreaders and one truck with cinders in the eastern part of the county.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said last night highways west of Cumberland were 25 per cent bare, but that chains were recommended for vehicles. East of here, roads were icy and snow-covered.

Crews Keep Busy

SRC crews were still busy last night patrolling roads in Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties, and Chaires added some of the men were worn out from working all night and day. Roads which were covered with slush yesterday afternoon, had solid ice last night as temperature dropped.

Temperatures in the Cumberland area ranged from 18 to 34 degrees last night at 7:30 p. m., with mercury steadily falling. Forecasters said sub-freezing temperatures were in prospect through Wednesday.

Vocational Teachers To Attend Classes

A group of teachers from Allegany and Washington counties will meet in Hancock High School Saturday, January 30, to organize an in-service instruction class for vocational education teachers.

J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational education in Allegany County public schools, said that about eight teachers in this county and a like number in Washington County have expressed interest in the program.

Dr. Lee R. Hornbake, an industrial education professor at the University of Maryland, will teach the class. It is planned to have a two-and-one-half hour session each Saturday in Hancock for 12 weeks. History of vocational education and tests and measurements will be taught.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled William T. Lanam vs. Mary Lanam.

Lucas Reelected President Of Building Trades Council

George W. Lucas, business manager of Local 307, Electrical Workers Union, was reelected president of the Building and Construction Trades Council of Cumberland last night.

Other officers of the AFL craft union council are Cecil Nave, of Cement Finishers and Plasterers Local 296, vice president; Harry Hickle, business manager of Local 37-B, secretary-treasurer, and Lewis L. Kreps, business manager of Local 568, Iron Workers, sergeant-at-arms.

The Executive Board, business managers of affiliated locals, will be composed of:

Walter Riley, Laborers Local 616; Kreps, Iron Workers; Hickle, Operating Engineers; C. E. Bramble, Teamsters Local 453; Ellwood Riley, Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 489; Lucas, Electrical Workers; Charles Frost, Cement Finishers and Plasterers, and Paul Shaffer, Painters Local 947.

The new officers will be installed at Allegany Trades Council Hall January 25 at 7:30 p. m.

Business Group Urges Parking Lot Support

City Seeks Options On Centre St. Site

The Better Business Men's Association yesterday praised the Mayor and Council's plan to seek options on properties opposite City Hall for an off-street parking center and urged full public support of the plan.

James T. Gaffney, president of the organization, representing some 80 business men, many of them located in the North Centre Street section, said the association "is 100 per cent behind the program."

He said the association is urging the establishment of a city-owned and operated parking area.

The association urged all citizens who are interested in off-street parking to inform the Mayor and Council of their stand.

To Distribute Cards

Plans are also underway, the group said, to distribute postal cards upon which interested citizens may inform city officials of their stand on the center.

Backers cite that the center would be only a block from Baltimore Street and that the center could be used free by members of seven churches in that area on Sundays.

It has been estimated that meter parking could be established at the site for about $1,400 a car.

Option Cost Slight

Mayor Roy W. Eves made the suggestion after recalling that parking is a major problem, and that about a year ago a petition of 1,400 names had been submitted to council asking that a lot be established.

The basic area involved is 42-54 Bedford Street and 100-120 North Centre Street plus an alley. This area, according to plans, would accommodate about 75 cars.

Mayor Eves said the city will "feel out" owners of additional property in the area concerning options for more parking space. One plan would give space for 95 cars and the overall program 125 cars.

Eves emphasized that the options would be taken at the appraised value by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and the appraiser, James A. Perrin. The options would be for 90 days and require only a nominal consideration.

Council must know what the plan will cost, he added, before giving serious consideration to the center.

Winter Finally Arrives

Once-Blind Area Woman Wins Trip To Hollywood

BY ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

A 70-year-old Eckhart woman, who was blind for 57 years until undergoing a delicate cornea operation a year ago, yesterday appeared on a nationally-televised program from Chicago and was awarded a week's expense-free vacation in Hollywood, along with numerous other gifts.

Miss Kizzie Myers was one of three featured guests appearing on the Welcome Traveler program yesterday. With her on the network show was Miss Imogene Caudill, principal of Eckhart School, who had been instrumental in arranging for Miss Myers' amazing operation.

Principal Goes Too

The master of ceremonies on the program also informed Miss Caudill that Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer had given her permission to accompany Miss Myers on the trip to California without any loss in pay.

At the close of the telecast two veteran movie stars, Joe E. Brown and Pat O'Brien sent their greetings to the two Allegany County women from Hollywood. The man who made his big mouth famous said that he would be at the airport today to greet the travelers when they reach movieland.

Besides the flight and vacation in California, Miss Myers and Miss Caudill were presented new luggage, dresses, coats, and each got a watch. Eckhart School was not forgotten either. A 30-volume set of the latest encyclopedia and a globe of the world for use in geography and history classes were presented to the school.

Explains Case

Miss Caudill did most of the talking in the final 10 minutes of the half-hour program as she explained some of the background which led up to the successful operation which gave Miss Myers her sight.

The Eckhart School principal, who has taught in the county school system for 35 years, told her nationwide audience that she had known Miss Myers all of her life and often wished she could find a way to help her have her sight restored.

Several years ago she heard about the successful transplanting of the cornea from a healthy eye to the eye of a blind person, thereby restoring sight to the blind eye. Such an operation had been performed at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Finally persuading Miss Myers that she should undergo the operation, Miss Caudill then sought to get the hospital in Baltimore to perform it. They agreed but the $1,000 cost of the operation seemed prohibitive.

The school principal subsequently learned that the operation might be financed from a trust fund left by the late H. Crawford Black. An industrialist who was connected with coal mining operations around Mt. Savage, Black later moved to Baltimore. At his death he left a

Sale Of Watch Leads To Arrest In Burglaries

The sale of a watch for $5 to a Keyser, W. Va., city patrolman resulted in the arrest of two men, suspected of burglarizing two Piedmont establishments early Friday morning.

The watch was sold to Officer J. R. Haines Friday afternoon and the policeman immediately contacted Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the local West Virginia State Police detachment. The two officers then arrester Cecil A. Schriver, 24, of Moscow.

This arrest then led to the arrest of James Alexander Grady, 26, of Piedmont.

The two men are suspected by police as being accomplices in the breaking and entering of two business places at Piedmont, W. Va., the Evans Jewelry Store and the Firemen's Club, both on Second Street in that community.

Watches and novelty jewelry were taken at the Evans Store and at the club a small amount of money, chewing gum and crackers were reported missing.

Grady, who was arrested in the woods near Moscow Sunday by Maryland State Trooper Harry S. Bosley, yesterday waived extradition before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court and was returned to Keyser for arraignment.

Cpl. Tribett said two plate glass windows were broken at the Evans Store. These were valued at $86 each. Missing jewelry was catalogued at a worth of between $75 and $100.

Cpl. Tribett said Schriver claimed he had received the watch from Grady early Friday morning when the latter came to his home. Schriver told police Grady had cuts on his hands at the time.

Cpl. Tribett lauded Police Chief James Harrison of Piedmont, Maryland State Police Troopers Milton Hart and Bosley, City Patrolman Haines, who bought the watch, and other area officers for their cooperation in the case.

Most of the loot was reported to have been recovered from a hiding place in the woods near where Grady was arrested.

Board Of Education Meeting Deferred

The January meeting of the Allegany County Board of Education, originally scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed until Tuesday, January 19.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster returned to his office yesterday with a coat of Florida tan after an extended Christmas holiday during which he and Mrs. Webster attended the Orange Bowl game and saw other festivities in and around Miami.

Returning well rested from his vacation, Webster observed that he had been unable to take a summer holiday because of the county's school building program.

Crash Victim Is Released

Russell Iser, Pleasant Dale, W. Va., who was critically injured in a two-truck accident December 18 on Coopers Mountain near Romney in which two other men died, has been released from Winchester, Va., Memorial Hospital, authorities said.

Iser, the only occupant of one truck to survive the collision with another truck, driven by Joseph Hollingsworth, 19, of Keyser, suffered a severe brain concussion and skull fracture. His two companions, Hollie Tucker Shanholtz, 39, of Pleasant Dale, and Isaac W. Bowen, 19, of Points, W. Va., were killed in the mishap.

State Police, who said the vehicle in which the three men were travelling was on the wrong side of the road, questioned Iser upon his recovery to determine the driver of the truck.

However, authorities said Iser was unable to recall the accident or events leading to the mishap because of his injuries. He told police Bowen was the driver when the truck left Winchester, Va., the last he remembers.

Hollingsworth, who was riding with a brother, William, was not held, police said. Both the Hollingsworth were slightly hurt in the collision.

Dramatic Workshop Will Be Organized

The Cumberland Civic Theatre last night announced plans for its second production, "Boy Meets Girl," which will be presented February 12 at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School Auditorium.

The play is a three-act comedy written by Bella and Samuel Spewack. It will be directed by Harold C. Wickard and presented under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department.

The cast will include Ed Meyer, playing the part of Richard Law; Thomas Hutcheson, Larry Toms; Leonard Schwab, J. Carlisle Benson, William Criswell, Rosetti.

Cast Is Selected

Catherine O. Fiora will play the part of Peggy; Mrs. Rosalyn Pliner, Miss Crews; Richard Jameson, Rodney Beven; Virginia Borgman, Susie; Mrs. Colleen Lapp, nurse; Kenneth Hopwood, Mr. Friday, and Chad Riley, Major Thompson.

Members of the production staff are Norman S. Pliner, stage manager; Oscar Lashley, assistant stage manager and electrician; Lenore Lazarus, Marilyn Heiskell and Louise Rosenbaum, properties; Ruth Ann Richards, wardrobe mistress; Robert J. Boniece, publicity, and William Hope, business manager.

The cast is practicing Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, and the final three rehearsals will be held at Allegany High School.

Workshop Planned

Mrs. Jane Schwab, president, announced that the dramatic group plans to hold regular meetings at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall on the second Wednesday of each month.

Plans are also underway, officials said, to hold a dramatic workshop.

Boniece will be manager of the workshop. Present plans call for the group to present one-act plays, skits and scenes from plays as a means of increasing the dramatic technique of those who are interested in amateur dramatics.

Present plans call for the workshop to meet on Monday nights. All those interested are asked to contact the City Recreation Department.

Snider To Head Police, Firemen

Elected were Officers Charles E. Snider, president, unopposed; Chauffeur John N. Morrissey, Central, vice president, unopposed; Assistant Fire Chief Robert C. Long, secretary, unopposed, and Capt. Vincent H. Wegman, Central, treasurer. Wegman defeated two other nominees for the treasurer's post.

Trustees selected from six candidates were Lt. Virgil V. McClure, Central; John J. Carney, chauffeur, East Side; and William T. Shuck, pipeman, West Side.

Approximately 20 members attended the session while those on duty voted by proxy.

The local committee includes W. L. Corrick, chairman; D. L. Boyd, vice chairman; C. R. Teets, secretary, and C. C. Wolford, member.

Plans will also be made tonight's meeting for holding a grand lodge convention at Long Beach, Cal., in September.

Barter Play Slated Here January 28

"Two On An Island," a pleasant fable about life in Manhattan, will be staged at 8:30 p. m. January 28 in the auditorium of Allegany High School by the Barter Players.

The program is one of three plays being sponsored here by the Junior Association of Commerce. Committee members are Herman J. Grabenstein, Robert Mathews and Howard Buchanan.

Tickets to the production will be available on Monday at the S. T. Little Jewelry Company, Baltimore Street, or may be purchased at the door on the evening of the performance.

The play was written by Elmer Rice. Taking an attractive girl from New England and a likely lad from the Middle West, Rice conducts them on a personal tour of the gilt and grubbiness of Cosmopolis.

Cleon W. Raese Of Tucker Co. Dies At Age 65

Cleon W. Raese, 65, former member of the West Virginia Legislature and the last living member of the first two classes at Davis and Elkins College, died last night at his home in Davis, W. Va. following an illness of six weeks.

A native of Davis, he was born September 7, 1888, a son of the late John and Minnie (Larue) Raese. A former member of the West Virginia House of Delegates (1940 to 1948), Mr. Raese was one of the first students to enroll in the first two classes of D&E College when it opened its doors in 1904.

He graduated in 1911 with a B. S. degree. During his seven years at the school he was honored with 21 athletic letters in football, basketball and baseball.

Mr. Raese later was coach in the three sports at D&E, and he was the only coach of a D&E football team to carry his team through a season (1910) without having a single goal scored against him.

Following his graduation from D&E, he attended Potomac State College at Keyser, and Lehigh University. For two years later he worked in railroad construction.

During World War 1, he enlisted in the army field artillery and was later commissioned a second lieutenant. After returning from the service he entered business in Davis for 28 years. He was a member of the Davis City Council for three years, city recorder for one year, and was mayor of the city for eight years beginning in 1933.

He was former president of the Davis Chamber of Commerce and a lifelong member and elder of Davis Presbyterian Church.

On December 25, 1917, he was married to the former Miss Salena M. Viering.

During World War II, their son, Lt. Cleon W. Raese Jr., was killed in action on July 1, 1944 while serving with the Air Force in England. Later, another son, Lt. Donald W. Raese, was killed while flying an Air Force plane on September 15, 1946.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a son, John V. Raese, a student at West Virginia University; five brothers, Curtis Raese, Fort Myer, Fla.; Furman Raese, Pittsburgh; Walter and Richard (Dyke) Raese, Morgantown, and Robert Raese, Davis, and four sisters, Mrs. James Browning, Morgantown; Mrs. Virginia Parsons, Charleroi, Pa.; Mrs. Lela Shannon, Mt. Jackson, Va., and Mrs. Elizabeth Ridgeway, Winchester, Va.

Officer Is Injured

Scout Leaders' Advanced Course Set By Council

Sessions To Be Held Jan. 23 And Feb. 27

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold an advanced Scout Leaders Training, Course at Frostburg State Teachers College January 23 and February 27, it was announced by K. S. McKee, Council leadership training chairman, Keyser.

The course, given under the supervision of Dr. Adam Baer, Frostburg, is required by Scout leaders for earning the Scouters Key or Award.

Letters and course guide booklets have been sent out by the Council office, and leaders must complete two projects before attending the two course sessions. They include a 21-point inspection and problem evaluation.

The first session will get underway at the college at 2 p. m. with registration and opening period under the direction of Dr. Baer, general chairman, and Franklin Martens, Frostburg, course Scoutmaster.

Discussion Periods

From 2:15 p. m. to 2:45 p. m. the group will discuss "Marks of a Good Troop," under the direction of Lewis Jones, Oakland. A patrol period will be held from 2:45 to 3:15 p. m., and the second discussion will be held from 3:15 p. m. to 3:45 p. m. under the direction of William Armbruster.

From 3:45 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. the session will discuss "The Boy and Scouting" led by Lester McDowell, Keyser, followed by a patrol period from 4:15 to 4:45 p. m. The second discussion on "The Boy and Scouting" will continue from 4:45 to 5:15 p. m. under the leadership of W. E. Michaels, Keyser.

After a snack of coffee and sandwiches, the meeting will continue with a discussion of "Principles of Boy Leadership" from 5:45 to 6:10 p. m. under the direction of James Handlan, Keyser. The second meeting on the theme will follow after a patrol period from 6:30 to 7 p. m. under the leadership of John Fox, Keyser.

The closing ceremony will be held at 7:30 p. m., led by Franklin Martens.

Aims, Purposes of Scouting

The second session of the training course, February 27, will open with a ceremony led by Martens at 2 p. m. From 2:15 to 2:45 p. m. Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, will lead a discussion on "Administrative Relationships of a Good Leader."

Folliowing a patrol period at 2:45 p. m., the subject will be discussed further under the leadership of Dr. E. E. Church, Keyser. At 3:45 p. m. Henry Lowry, Cumberland, will lead a meeting on "The Aims and Purposes of Scouting and How Achieved." After a patrol period at 4:15 p. m., the theme will be continued under the leadership of Ivan Hall, Cumberland.

Following an evening snack, Noel Obenshain, Piedmont, will lead a discussion at 5:45 p. m. on "Building a Program to Achieve The Aim and Purposes of Scouting." The second discussion on the theme will be directed by Dr. Paul D. McCoy, Piedmont, at 6:30 p. m.

Closing remarks and awarding of certificates will be held at 7:30 p. m.

Youghiogheny Fire Agreement Signed

A cooperative agreement between the State Department of Forests and Parks and the Pittsburgh District, Corps of Engineers, has been signed for the suppression of forest fires in the area in Garrett County near the Youghiogheny River Flood Control Reservoir.

Under terms of the agreement employes of the state agency will go onto federally-owned land to put out forest fires at the state agency's expense.

A similar agreement has been entered into by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters for the area within the Keystone State.

Bad Weather Drops School Attendance

Teacher Illness Closes St. Mary's

Wintry weather put something of a crimp in attendance in some representative public and parochial schools around town yesterday but a number of the school principals indicated that more pupils showed up than they had expected.

One school, St. Mary's, was closed yesterday and will be again today, but the condition is not attributed to the weather. About half of the teaching nuns are ill with a virus infection and for that reason the Oldtown Road school has remained closed.

Opening Uncertain

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, said that the school might reopen tomorrow but a decision on that matter has not yet been made.

Cumberland's two largest high schools reported sharply increased absenteeism yesterday.

Victor D. Heisey, Fort Hill High School principal, said attendance Monday was only 79 per cent, with 410 absent among a student body of 1,900. Normally, about 94 per cent are present each day.

Allegany's principal, Raymond O. McCullough, said 250 were absent there yesterday in a student body of 1,471. The absenteeism of 17 per cent was about five times normal.

While the two local high schools recorded large drops in attendance, Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, principal at Flintstone School, said that over 90 per cent of her pupils were on hand. Most of them have to travel long distances to school, some as far as 20 or 25 miles. Some six pupils in the elementary grades were out with chickenpox. Only one school bus there was late.

LaSalle High

Brother Daniel Hillary, principal at LaSalle High School, reported that 12 of the 200 boys enrolled there were absent yesterday. That represents 94 per cent attendance. Normally only about six are absent each day.

St. Patrick's School, Girls Central Catholic High School, SS. Peter and Paul School, and Ursuline Academy all reported absenteeism up somewhat yesterday but stated that between 85 and 90 per cent were present.

Two public elementary schools, Centre Street and Columbia Street, disclosed that their attendance was down measurably. At Centre Street 33 were absent in a student body of 180, placing the attendance at about 83 per cent. Columbia Street had nearly 88 per cent on hand with 53 away, from among 417 pupils.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said he expected the attendance to show an upswing today.

Burkey Elected Head Of Holy Name Group At SS. Peter & Paul

Other officers for the coming year include Norman Sell, vice president; George Carney Sr., treasurer, and John Kreidler, secretary.

Karl Grabenstein and Harry Averman were named delegates to all sectional and State meetings. Henry Dressman and Joseph Reissig were named alternates.

Plans were made for a social to be held following the installation of new officers at the next monthly meeting on February 14.

News In Brief

The meeting of the East Side Homemakers scheduled last night has been postponed to next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Melvin Methodist Church.

The Health Department will hold an immunization clinic today at 10 a. m. in Pennsylvania Avenue School.

Past Councilors Club 2, Pride of Allegany County 10, Daughters of America, will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. James Wilson, 401 Avirett Avenue. Mrs. Mae Copeland will be co-hostess.

The executive meeting of the Bedford Road Homemakers Club scheduled today at the home of Mrs. Mary Boyle has been postponed to January 26.

Permit Is Approved

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved the application of Robert E. Shrout Jr., 514 Greene Street, to operate a new and used furniture business at 313 South Mechanic Street.

Lucas Reelected President Of Building Trades Council

George W. Lucas, business manager of Local 307, Electrical Workers Union, was reelected president of the Building and Construction Trades Council of Cumberland last night.

Other officers of the AFL craft union council are Cecil Nave, of Cement Finishers and Plasterers Local 296, vice president; Harry Hickle, business manager of Local 37-B, secretary-treasurer, and Lewis L. Kreps, business manager of Local 568, Iron Workers, sergeant-at-arms.

The Executive Board, business managers of affiliated locals, will be composed of:

Walter Riley, Laborers Local 616; Kreps, Iron Workers; Hickle, Operating Engineers; C. E. Bramble, Teamsters Local 453; Ellwood Riley, Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 489; Lucas, Electrical Workers; Charles Frost, Cement Finishers and Plasterers, and Paul Shaffer, Painters Local 947.

The new officers will be installed at Allegany Trades Council Hall January 25 at 7:30 p. m.

Tri-State Area Digs Out From Under Huge Snow

6 To 12 Inches Fall, More Flakes Predicted

The Tri-State area, digging out from under six to 12 inches of snow that fell Sunday and yesterday, braced itself for additional snow last night, but none was evident in the district by late evening.

A misty drizzle began falling in Cumberland about 7 p. m., but it stopped about an hour later. A light powdery snow was falling in sections west of Bedford, Pa., according to Pennsylvania State Police, and a very light snow was piling on top of 12 inches of old snow at Thomas, W. Va.

Other sections in the Tri-State were still waiting for a predicted fall of up to 15 inches of snow last night, but none was reported up to 9:30 p. m.

School Buses 'Hung Up'

Meanwhile the most talked-about subject, weather, stretched out its influence over the lives of Tri-State residents and workers. A layer of ice under the snow made highways slippery, and snowplow and cinder crews were kept busy keeping main highways open.

In Frederick County, a baby was born in a car stalled in a snow drift near Frederick, and although there were no fatal accidents reported in Maryland yesterday, two men died of overexertion after shoveling snow or trudging through it.

Just 21 miles from Cumberland in Keyser, W. Va., two busloads of students from Keyser High School missed school when the bus drivers decided roads were too dangerous and returned the pupils to their homes on Waxler Road and at Burlington.

At Elk Garden, W. Va., on top of Allegheny Mountain, another busload of students missed school after the vehicle in which they were riding failed to plow through the 10 inches of snow that covered that area.

Sidewalk Sweepers

Citizens in Keyser, where nine inches of snow fell, responded well to an order of the Keyser City Police Department to clean sidewalks. Mayor John C. Freeland said the response to the order was "wonderful."

In Cumberland an official snowfall of 5.8 inches was reported by Robert R. Golden, official weather observer. City Street Department workers went into action shortly after the first snow fell Sunday, and most of the city's roads were clear yesterday.

A dim sun assisted in melting remaining snow on most of the streets yesterday afternoon, but falling temperature last night caused a layer of ice to form over roads. Additional cindering crews were called out last night.

7 To 12 Inches Noted

Yesterday's snow measured seven inches in Frostburg, 12 inches in Grantsville, 10 inches in Oakland, and nine inches at the junction of U. S. Route 50 and 220 south of Keyser, 12 inches at Thomas, and 10 inches at Elkins.

There was eight inches of snow at Hardman, eight inches at Blazer, 10 inches at Terra Alta, 10 inches at Altamont, eight inches at Orleans Road and Harpers Ferry, eight inches at Deal, Pa., and seven inches at Rockwood and Connellsville, Pa.

J. Walter Chapman, supervisor of Allegany County Roads, said there were 12 trucks and five graders plowing county roads yesterday. Also used were three trucks with salt spreaders and one truck with cinders in the eastern part of the county.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said last night highways west of Cumberland were 25 per cent bare, but that chains were recommended for vehicles. East of here, roads were icy and snow-covered.

Crews Keep Busy

SRC crews were still busy last night patrolling roads in Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties, and Chaires added some of the men were worn out from working all night and day. Roads which were covered with slush yesterday afternoon, had solid ice last night as temperature dropped.

Temperatures in the Cumberland area ranged from 18 to 34 degrees last night at 7:30 p. m., with mercury steadily falling. Forecasters said sub-freezing temperatures were in prospect through Wednesday.

Vocational Teachers To Attend Classes

A group of teachers from Allegany and Washington counties will meet in Hancock High School Saturday, January 30, to organize an in-service instruction class for vocational education teachers.

J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational education in Allegany County public schools, said that about eight teachers in this county and a like number in Washington County have expressed interest in the program.

Dr. Lee R. Hornbake, an industrial education professor at the University of Maryland, will teach the class. It is planned to have a two-and-one-half hour session each Saturday in Hancock for 12 weeks. History of vocational education and tests and measurements will be taught.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled William T. Lanam vs. Mary Lanam.
